Turmoil Reigns At Simon Fraser

Gales Lash Rupert

Storm's Tail To Hit Here

Victorians late today will feel the tail of the "most violent" storm the Pacific Ocean has thrown at the B.C. coast this year, the weather office reports.

Winds gusted over 110 miles an hour as they swept through Hecate Strait and were peaking at 80 when they slammed into Prince Rupert just before daybreak.

The high winds, accompanied by heavy rain whipped through the Prince Rupert area, ripping off roofs, blowing in windows and tearing down signs.

The roof was blown off the city's B.C. Hydro building which houses office and maintenance workers. Rain added to the damage of the one-storey building.

SCHOOLS DAMAGED

B.C. Hydro's Falls River transmission line was put out of action by the storm, but power to the coast city was maintained by a line from Kitimat.

Part of the gymnasium roof was blown off the senior secondary school while at Booth Memorial School, part of the roof was blown into an unoccupied classroom.

Further north, at Ketchikan, Alaska, the storm topped three communications towers, broke windows and swamped small boats in the harbor.

Weatherman Allan McQuarrie, at Victoria airport, said the storm brewed Wednesday south of the weather-ship Vancouver some 900 miles West of here.

BLOW ITSELF OUT

It developed an "extremely low pressure centre" and became what would be called a typhoon in tropical latitudes.

Mr. McQuarrie said he expects the storm will blow itself out after moving up the Alaska panhandle.

It's effect on the capital region will be relatively mild. Winds from the southeast are expected to reach 25 miles an hour late today and rain is expected this afternoon and tonight.

The interior of the province will get cloud and some snow in the storm's wake.

Friday's weather is expected to be "on the murky side" with temperatures in the 42 to 48-degree range.

NO INJURIES

No injuries have been reported as the storm progresses northward.

Power was lost in many parts of southeast Alaska and only sporadic electric service was reported at mid-morning.

The radio-television tower for Ketchikan's station KTKN, more than 100 feet high, crashed into a house and broke into pieces. Two towers operated by the Alaska communications system also were blown down.

Ketchikan has about 6,500 residents.

STRIKE VOTE draws large number of the 6,000 students at Simon Fraser University today as controversy continues over arrest of 114 students who engaged in campus sit-in. Students said strike, if called, would last until all charges were dropped. Votes will be counted after 6 p.m. today.

2 KILLED, 7 INJURED WHEN FERRIES COLLIDE

HELSINKI (AP)—Two Finnish ferries collided in heavy fog today off the Isle of Aaland, killing two passengers and a stewardess and injuring seven passengers, the coast guard said. Another person is missing.

A spokesman said the 5,100-ton Ilmatar, carrying 150 passengers to the Port of Turku, collided with the 3,800-ton Botnia, carrying 117 passengers to Stockholm. He said the Ilmatar suffered minor damage and continued to its original destination, but a 40-yard hole was ripped in the starboard side of the Botnia above the water line.

The injured were taken by lifeboat to the village of Langnas, then ambulances took them to hospitals at Mariehamn, the capital of Aaland.

Strike Vote On; Students Remanded

Cabinet ministers, police courts, strike ballots and student rallies are all part of the scene today as the government faces fast-breaking education troubles centred on strife-torn Simon Fraser University.

The latest developments:

● Fifty-one of 114 SFU demonstrators arrested Saturday appeared in Burnaby court today and were remanded without plea for 19 days. The rest come before the magistrate Friday.

● A strike vote among students at Simon Fraser got under way at 10 a.m., will continue to 6 p.m. A show of hands at a rally Wednesday by about 2,000 of the 6,000 enrolment showed a majority favor a student strike.

● Education Minister Donald Brothers said he would do "nothing" about the strike threat but took time to rap UBC President Kenneth Hare over his accommodation "crisis" statements.

● At the University of Victoria, 500 students startled their student leaders at a rally by supporting the sit-in arrests but also asking for clemency for those charged.

Mr. Brothers, Attorney-General Leslie Peterson and Premier Bennett were asked to comment by reporters before and after a cabinet meeting this morning:

Attorney-General Peterson said that he had received no request from SFU president Dr. Kenneth Strand that the charges be dropped against the 114 students arrested on campus.

"I think this is all newspaper talk; something that the news media said yesterday the president of SFU would request," Mr. Peterson said angrily. "I haven't had any communication from him. If I receive such a communication, I'll let you know."

(In a letter to SFU student society president Rob Walsh on Tuesday night, Dr. Strand said: ". . . I shall ask the A-G to give every consideration to the requests . . ." that the charges be dropped.)

In Hands of Court, Says Peterson

Mr. Peterson was asked if the strike ballot by students today would have any influence.

"What's the strike got to do with enforcement of the law?" he demanded. Mr. Peterson repeated that he could not make any comment on the charges or his feelings about them because "it's a matter that's before the courts."

In Vancouver, a spokesman for the university said Dr. Strand was waiting to consult with faculty association representatives before getting in touch with the attorney-general. This was being done so he could pass along an expression of faculty opinion on the issue.

Education Minister Donald Brothers said he was planning to do "nothing" about the strike ballot.

He said the government would neither force students to go to university nor force them to stay away.

Mr. Brothers refused to say whether today's cabinet meeting dealt with the university situation but both before and after the cabinet meeting he swung hard at UBC president Hare's complaint that his campus was facing a crisis through lack of government financing for classrooms.

Mr. Brothers said the word "crisis" is over-used.

"I think they're in difficult circumstances at UBC and some of the areas may be crowded, but that doesn't mean the university can't continue operation."

Looking to Junior College Plan

He said UBC was crowded when he attended it after the war but he was still able to get a good education.

Mr. Brothers said the government's junior college program "will take a lot of the pressures off the universities" as time goes by.

The education minister said he supports Dr. Strand's decision to call in police to arrest the sit-in demonstrators at SFU, but he hastily added he had no part in the decision.

"I thought the president of the university took the proper action in that case," he told reporters.

Asked if he had sugested it to Dr. Strand, Mr. Brothers quickly replied:

"Oh, I had nothing to do with any of this; I was up north at the time. My opinion was not sought."

Mr. Peterson also said he had not given any advice to Dr. Strand prior to the arrests.

Premier Bennett, after the cabinet meeting, testily refused to answer any questions about the SFU turmoil and possible

Hanoi Rejects Role for Saigon

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today its representatives would not talk to South Vietnamese government representatives at the Paris peace talks.

It also declared the Vietnam war could be ended by three-sided agreement of the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Hanoi's official radio said the South Vietnamese government could send representatives to the Paris peace talks but declared that they would not be recognized and that North Vietnamese and NLF representatives would refuse to talk to them.

"In settling the Vietnam problem, we will talk only with the United States," Radio Hanoi said.

"The Saigon regime is only the puppet regime of the U.S. aggressors. It does not represent anyone. It has no right to speak on behalf of anyone. We will not talk to it on any matter."

The broadcast added:

"On any other problems of interest to South Vietnam, the United States must talk to the National Liberation Front, the only authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people, and the National Liberation Front will talk only to the United States."

The broadcast accused the U.S. government of lying in saying that the South Vietnamese government had a negotiating role in the Paris talks.

● Talks May Bog Down, U.S. Fears

PARIS (CP) — Four-party Vietnam peace talks with a Saigon delegation participating are expected to begin the week of Dec. 8, but U.S. diplomats said today the opening session probably will be bogged down by arguments about who will speak for whom.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu announced Wednesday he will end his month-long boycott of the talks "to show the goodwill of the Republic of Vietnam and test the good faith of Hanoi."

But he stressed that the Saigon group still would not recognize the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front as a separate negotiating entity. "We will regard and treat all the persons on the other side of the table as a single side, that of Hanoi," he said.

An NLF spokesman said his delegation will attend "the conference of the four on the basis of equality with the other parties." The NLF, supported by Hanoi, claims the Saigon regime is a U.S. "puppet," and therefore the Viet Cong are "authentic representatives of the population of South Vietnam."

The U.S. delegation, headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, wants to avoid a delay in opening the conference by not getting into a wrangle with the North Vietnamese on this issue.

'SETTLE IT LATER'

An American source said U.S. diplomats hope at this point for a minimal advance agreement with Hanoi only on a time and place for the first meeting. The Americans want the procedural battle to be hammered out at the conference itself, not before, the sources said.

Potential disputes involve the precise seating arrangement for delegates, the positioning of flags and name plates and even the size and shape of the negotiating table.

Officials said there were signs that Saigon might object to a square table, which would give the NLF precisely the same amount of space and appear to bestow on it equal status with the North Vietnamese, the United States and the South Vietnamese themselves.

Bennett Takes Ottawa Over Call of North

Times News Services

Premier Bennett said today he was "very pleased" to receive a telegram from the Yukon territorial council inviting him to Whitehorse for talks—but he won't be able to go.

The territorial council wants him to explain his plan for taking over all the Yukon and part of the Northwest Territories—and to listen to its plan for Yukon taking over almost half of B.C.

Grinning fixedly and moving as fast as he could through a knot of reporters to get to the cabinet room door, the premier said he was "unable to go because, as you know, I've got a meeting in Ottawa."

He was referring to the Dec. 16-18 constitutional talks at which he has indicated he will formally apply to have B.C.'s boundaries extended to the Arctic limits of Canada.

Mr. Bennett bristled momentarily when a reporter said it already appeared the federal government would try to head off his request.

"What the premier of B.C. brings up (at the conference) is the prerogative of the premier of B.C.," he snapped.

Mr. Bennett then resumed his smile and said the Pacific Great

Grandstand Yukon Bid Irks Chretien

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Development Minister Chretien said today Premier Bennett of British Columbia wants to take over only the best part of Canada's north.

Mr. Chretien told the Commons Indian affairs and northern development committee that Mr. Bennett in his takeover bid does not seem to be too concerned about the people who live there.

Wanting only the best part, Mr. Bennett seeks an extension of his borders to cover only the Yukon and Mackenzie districts of the Northwest Territories, Mr. Chretien said.

However, the development of the North must be in the interests of the native people there, he said.

Mr. Chretien was "annoyed" that Mr. Bennett was not interested in the Eskimo and Indian people of the North.

PARLIAMENT GETS HOLIDAY

OTTAWA (UPI)—In an unprecedented move, Parliament deferred meeting today to let members spend the day catching up with the work of many of the House of Commons committees.

Meanwhile, government offices were closed in the United States today for the American Thanksgiving holiday.

Heavy Viet Battle Mars Thanksgiving

SAIGON (AP) — While thousands of U.S. troops celebrated U.S. Thanksgiving, the heaviest fighting in 2½ months was reported along the Cambodian border today.

Two American helicopters were shot down and destroyed.

U.S. casualties in the five battles were put at 21 killed and 37 wounded. Ten South Vietnamese were killed and 20 wounded, spokesmen said.

North Vietnam claimed eight U.S. planes have been shot down over North Vietnam since President Johnson halted the bombing of the North Nov. 1.

The military newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan said reconnaissance flights were "very insolent challenges" which proved the United States was not serious about wanting peace in Vietnam.

'FLEW OVER HANOI'

The newspaper charged U.S. planes conducted 190 reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam in 14 days after Nov. 1. Some flights, it said, were over Hanoi and Haiphong.

Combat casualties climbed on all sides last week. The U.S. command said 160 Americans were killed last week and 1,432 were wounded. This compares with 127 killed and 1,031 wounded the week before.

The new tolls raised to 29,637 the number of Americans killed in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, while 187,065 Americans have been wounded and 1,215 are listed as missing, captured or interned.

Great PGE Train Holdup Was Tempest Over Teapot

MONTREAL (CP) — Arbitrator J. F. W. Weatherill has upheld a railway decision to discipline conductor N. Popp for delaying a train an hour and five minutes after discovering his caboose was supplied with a metal rather than an earthenware teapot.

In a judgment on the case heard in Montreal, the federal arbitrator says the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Co. "quite justifiably" assessed 10 demerit points against the record of Popp, an employee with 20 years seniority.

The teapot incident, which Mr. Weatherill called "ludicrous," occurred April 16, after Popp reported for duty at the railway's North Vancouver yard to handle a freight train, scheduled to leave at 10 p.m.

"On arrival at the caboose on Train No. 27, conductor Popp checked the supplies and made the discovery that there was no earthenware teapot in the caboose," the arbitrator says in his report.

"There was, to be sure, a teapot: but it was a metal teapot and conductor Popp was aware that the company was obliged to supply earthenware."

Under its collective agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway had undertaken to keep cabooses equipped with certain cooking and bedding supplies, including "one earthenware teapot."

"Conductor Popp discovered as well that there was no dish mop supplied, but he seems not to have made much of an issue of that; enough is enough," Mr. Weatherill says in his straight-faced summary.

The conductor reported the teapot difficulty at once but it was an hour and five minutes before railway officials eventually obtained a pot of the required earthenware type from "a private source" and the train was on its way, properly supplied.

Mr. Weatherill says in his judgment that he doesn't consider provision of the wrong type of teapot to be "such a radical change in circumstances" as to require delaying a train.

Australia Inferno Burns 150 Homes

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — With temperatures hovering around the 100-degree mark, bush fires blazed out of control on a 30-mile front today in the Blue Mountains 50 miles west of Sydney.

At least 150 homes were destroyed as blustery winds fed the bush fires west, north and south of Sydney and in the suburbs of the city itself.

In the Blue Mountains, an area of small towns for retired people and vacationers, the town of Springwood, population 2,000, apparently was the worst hit with at least 20 homes destroyed and dozens of others ablaze or menaced.

Police said they had reports of deaths and injuries but were unable to confirm them in the confused situation.

Nearer Sydney, families were evacuated fron several houses in the outer suburb of Hornsby.

Fires also extended north and south of Sydney with 12 houses reported destroyed in the Newcastle area and to the south fire for a while appeared to endanger the Australian nuclear reactor at Lucas Heights.

In Sydney, the temperature remained above 90 degrees until late into the day with a maximum of 94—22 above normal. However, there were no fears Sydney itself being engulfed.

'For Killing a What?'

MONTREAL (CP) — Romaul Delaroche, 40, pleaded not guilty in municipal court Wednesday to a charge of killing a pigeon with a broom handle.

Judge Maurice Johnson expressed surprise, saying: "He's charged with killing what?"

"A pigeon, your honor," he was told.

"That's what I heard but I couldn't believe my ears," the judge said.

The charge was laid under section 386-A1 of the Criminal Code. If convicted the accused would be liable to a sentence of six months in jail plus a fine of $500.

The accused was freed on parole pending trial.

Article 386-A of the criminal code states that everyone who wilfully kills, maims, wounds, poisons or injures dogs, birds or animals that are not cattle that are kept for a lawful purpose is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction.

government response of Dr. Hare's statements.

Rob Walsh, student society president, said this could be the "second last day" in SFU's stormy history.

Calls to have the charges dropped, or reduced, or at least to show clemency to the 114, had been mounting, with such requests made by some student groups and teachers at other schools.

Dr. Kenneth Strand, acting president of SFU, said in a letter to Mr. Walsh Tuesday that he would ask Mr. Peterson to give "every consideration" to the demands that the charges be dropped.

Said Mr. Peterson: "We make no distinctions once the charges are laid and it is not a matter for the president of Simon Fraser University once criminal proceedings are launched."

Troubles started as a student drive for sweeping reform of SFU's policies on admission and study credit. SFU's senate turned down the demand Nov. 20 and students then occupied administration offices.

Senate to Debate Admissions

Dr. Strand, although he rejected a demand for an early senate meeting, said the question of admission and credit for study done elsewhere will be discussed at a regular senate meeting Monday.

If favored, a strike would last until all charges against the 114 are dropped and SFU administrators give assurance that demands will be dealt with, student authorities said.

"Obviously some students and faculty would still come in to work," said Mr. Walsh. "It would only be total if Strand or the governors or the provincial government closed down the university."

The University of Victoria's student government narrowly survived a resolution of non-confidence at Wednesday's rally. It had criticized Dean Robert Wallace, acting president, who also had condemned the occupation.

At University of British Columbia in Vancouver, UBC president Dr. Hare was applauded by most of 500 UBC students as, at a debate, he refused to sign a petition supporting the 114.

"As long as I am president of this university . . . I cannot sign this document," he said. But he said he could "speak volumes" on the "tragic" situation at SFU if he could step out of his role.

Mr. Peterson also was asked in a television interview about suggestions from SFU that refusal to drop the charges would endanger the future of rational debate on student demands.

His answer: "I have yet to hear much rational debate.

Uvic Students Back Strand

More than 100 students at the University of Victoria signed letters of support this week to officials at Simon Fraser University and Uvic.

The letters gathered their signatures in only 15 minutes from students "who are becoming increasingly concerned with the impression the people of this community and of the province as a whole are getting of the average university student."

Alan Peterson, a third-year student and member of the students' council, said copies have been sent to Dr. Strand and Dean Wallace.

"I sincerely believe the sentiment voiced in these letters reflects the true feeling of the vast majority of students on this campus, and any campus in British Columbia," he said.

"As representatives of the sentiments of the majority of students on this campus, we would like to indicate our full support of your action," the one to Dr. Strand reads.

"We believe the mapority of students in this and any university appreciate the necessity for an ordered democracy within the university.

"We realize the 'force' used in the form of police was essentially a response to force—force intitially used by those who feel frustrated by the workings of the democratic process.

"It is unfortunate that a small handful of radicals can ruin the good name of an entire university through their irresponsible actions.

"We urge you to stand firm in your attempt to bring order to the campus. We are with you all the way."

Strand's Last Stand 'Act of Panic'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The decision of the acting president of Simon Fraser University to call in police to end a sit-in was an act of panic, the New Democratic Party parliamentary leader said Wednesday.

David Lewis (NDP—York South) said in an interview that he disagreed strongly with the action of Dr. Kenneth Strand to end the three-day occupancy of the SFU administration building Saturday.

"I think Dr. Strand acted out of panic and outside of logic," Mr. Lewis said on his arrival from Ottawa for a four-day visit to British Columbia.

Wheels-Up Landing Under Probe

Canadian Armed Forces Naval Aviation Squadron VU33 opened an inquiry today into the circumstances which led to the wheels-up landing of a $1 million Tracker aircraft Wednesday.

Officials said the cost of mounting a four-hour operation to facilitate a safe landing had not been estimated but it was believed damages to the plane are light.

The twin-engined anti-submarine patrol aircraft, weighing 24,500 pounds skidded on its fuselage along a quarter mile of asphalt runway, but shock and stress damage has not yet been fully assessed.

The port propeller will require replacement, "minimal damage" was done to the port wingtip and undercarriage.

An engagement pylon, a device employed in carrier landings, took the brunt of the landing shock and was all but demolished, but it served to protect other portions of the fuselage.

Three Truckers and two T-33 jets are operated from the Patricia Bay airbase. This was the first occasion that any service or other aireraft had made a belly landing at the airport.

Eastern Railway should go to Whitehorse and the Alaska highway should be paved and these would be some of the benefits of his plan to make "one great entity on the Pacific slope."

J. O. Livesey, speaker of the Yukon territorial council, was authorized Wednesday to send the following telegram to Mr. Bennett:

"I have the honor to bring to your attention the following motion which was passed unanimously today by the Yukon legislative council:

" 'That the premier of B.C. be invited to discuss with the . . . council details of the proposed boundary extension of his province so as to include the Yukon, and also to discuss the possible extension to the 55th parallel of latitude of the Yukon's south boundary.

" 'The council would appreciate your very kind attention at the earliest convenience and an early reply.' "

Council was called into emergency session after Mr. Bennett said Tuesday that he plans to press for northern extension of B.C.

LIVELY DEBATE

The telegram was authorized after lively debate.

Don Taylor (Watson Lake) said "the federal government keeps reminding us of the value of our resources and that's exactly what Mr. Bennett wants and is quite prepared to put up a battle for them."

Mr. Taylor urged council to send a Yukon delegation to the Ottawa conference because, "if our future is to be discussed either in jest or seriously, we must participate in those discussions." No action was taken on his suggsetion.

MINING LAWS

George Shaw (Dawson City) said Mr. Bennett's suggestion had merit. After all, the B.C. premier had restored the famous mining town of Barkerville, instituted good mining and game laws, and might even pave the gravelled Alaska Highway.

Others told Mr. Shaw that for decades the Yukon has been working for provincial status and territorial residents really are not interested in becoming British Columbians at this stage.

But Mr. Shaw shapped back: "We have a system of government controlled by Ottawa, inefficient and sometimes indifferent. In one swoop we could rid ourselves of the shackles of colonialism."

PIECES OF SILVER

John Dumas (Whitehorse West) said he was willing to listen to Mr. Bennett but unwilling to "sell out for pieces of silver." He also said the Yukon would do well to consider taking over "the forgotten country — northern B.C."

Mr. Dumas told Mr. Shaw that if he felt the Yukon was getting a bad shake from Ottawa, he should "try the Victoria carpetbaggers."

Commissioner James Smith said outside council that while Mr. Bennett is "a very able and astute politician, we need him like we need another hole in the head."

Press Salmon Ban

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will continue to press for prohibition of salmon fishing on the high seas, Deputy Fisheries Minister A. W. H. Needler told the Commons fisheries committee today.

STUDENTS PLAN SIT-IN

TORONTO (CP)—The students' administrative council of the University of Toronto Wednesday night endorsed a proposal for a sit-in to protest the refusal of university officials to disclose details of a brief to be presented next week to the committee on university affairs.

Living Cost In France To Climb

PARIS (CP) — French government leaders believe the new austerity measures to save the franc devaluation will raise the cost of living 1.5 to two per cent, but some businessmen and union leaders say it might go as high as three per cent.

The Gaullist-controlled Chamber of Deputies today approved President Charles de Gaulle's austerity program by a vote of 391 to 91.

The bill adjusts taxes and charges to favor exports and restrict domestic buying so that France can pay its way in international trade and not be forced into devaluation.

The lower house, the Senate, also will vote on the measure but its power can be overriden by the Chamber of Deputies, where the Gaullists and their allies control about 353 of the 486 seats.

Boy Brings Help for Dad, Sister After Surviving Plane Crash

EUREKA, Utah (UPI) — Bruised and half frozen, a 16-year-old boy flagged down a motorist on a snowy Utah highway Wednesday night and blurted out that his father and sister were pinned in the wreckage of an airplane three miles away.

A short time later, a posse of peace officers rescued Dr. Elmer Rigby, 53, a prominent heart surgeon from Beverly Hills, Calif., and his daughter, Nokola, 14.

Rigby's wife Penelope, 45, was found dead in the wreckage.

The doctor's son, William, who escaped major injury when the private plane crashed in a snowstorm, walked nearly two hours before reaching the highway eight miles from Eureka.

"I tried to fix the location in order to bring help but I guess I didn't do a very good job," the youth said later.

He said the father began looking for a place to make a forced landing when the engines of the twin-motor Beechcraft began failing in the near zero weather.

The boy said his father was trying to land on what he thought was a dirt road still visible in the falling snow, when the plane plunged to the ground from an altitude of about 100 feet.

"Dad said he thought his legs were broken. He was pinned by the instrument panel. My sister thought her leg was broken. She was wedged between the two seats."

"I got out of the plane. I was lucky. All I had were bruises. When I was sure there wouldn't be a fire, I knew I had to go for help. I opened some luggage and got covers for Nikki and dad. Then I started walking."

It took the youth an hour and 45 minutes to cover three miles to the highway.

Rigby and the daughter were taken to a hospital in Nephi, Utah.

The family was en route to Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Rigby's father in Salt Lake City. They started the journey in clear weather from an airport at Van Nuys, Calif.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Temperatures dropped to well below freezing in the Okanagan and the Kootenays Wednesday night under clear skies. The remainder of the province was mild as cloud and warm southerly winds spread in from the west.

A Pacific weather system is expected to move down the coast today and cross the interior early Friday. Rain and strong winds will accompany the system on the coast with rain and wet snow spreading into the interior. Behind the system fresh westerly winds and rising pressures will bring a graual clearing trend over the province on Friday.

Wheat Debate Plea Rejected

OTTAWA (CP) — The Conservative opposition tried without success Wednesday to get a full-scale Commons debate on the wet grain problem.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said damp western grain from the fall harvest was a "continuing emergency," not a "sudden emergency" as required by the rules for an emergency debate.

There was a climax of sorts as Eldon Williams (PC—Calgary) North angrily charged that Parliament had fallen to pieces.

His outburst followed unrewarding Conservative attempts to prod the government into statements on how it planned to help western farmers dry millions of bushels of damp grain on the fields and in grain elevators.

"What kind of government is this?" he shouted.

In the absence of Agriculture Minister Olson and Trade Minister Pepin, Otto Lang, a minister without portfolio, fielded many of the wheat questions in a non-committal way that angered the Conservatives.

Earlier, Richard Southam (PC—Qu'Appelle - Moose Mountain) accompanied his plea for the emergency debate with the claim that 250,000,000 bushels of damp wheat could be lost through spoilage unless properly dried. It was worth $300,000,000.

Mr. Southam charged there had been "a catastrophic failure" in government wheat policies. The government should provide grain-drying equipment to farmers on farms. In a few months the farm-stored grain would be beyond saving.

Alf Gleave (NDP-Saskatoon-Biggar) agreed the situation was desperate and the third opposition party, the Creditistes, also supported the Conservative motion which the Speaker eventually rejected.

NOBODY KNOWS ALL PROBLEMS

WINNIPEG (CP) — A shortage of driers is only half the problem facing Prairie farmers plagued with mountains of damp grain this fall after a wet harvest. Most do not know how to dry it once they get the equipment.

"About 30 per cent of all grain dried mechanically on the farms this fall was damaged in the process," says a technical specialist at United Grain Growers. "Nobody really knows what the problems are in drying grain."

There are an estimated 1,800 grain driers on the Prairies this fall and, until recently, additional units were next to impossible to get.

"You see the odd one advertised now but this just developed in the last couple of weeks," says the UGG spokesman.

Using all the available units to capacity, W. C. McNamara, chief commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, estimates only 50,000,000 bushels a month can be dried on the farms. With only three to four months before warmer weather heightens the danger of grain spoilage, farmers are expected to plunge headlong into drying operations.

That poses the possibility of a cure worse than the disease.

Wheat damaged in the drying process can only be sold as feed because it has lost its milling qualities. This represents a substantial cash loss—No. 2 northern sold at $1.96⅝ a bushel at the Lakehead Wednesday. No. 6 sold at $1.73⅝.

The board of grain commissioners recommended initially that grain be dried at a maximum temperature of 160 degrees. This has been adjusted to a range of 140 to 160 degrees and farmer Devone Clark of Landis, Sask., says there are times when that's too hot.

Mr. Clark says a host of variables—wind, humidity, degree of dampness of the wheat, amount of foreign material in the wheat and the circulation provided by the dryer—make drying complicated.

UGG and the Saskatchewan department of agriculture are both scheduling meetings to advise farmers on techniques.

A continuous drier with a rated 24-hour-a-day capacity of 5,000 bushels costs about $11,000. The UGG spokesman says, however, the high humidity this fall makes the rated capacity difficult to achieve.

Mr. Clark estimates the cost of drying a bushel of wheat at 9.9 cents although this varies with conditions. Commercial drying costs about 12 cents a bushel "and it goes up as the weather gets colder."

The wheat board knocks 16 cents off the initial payment to a farmer when he delivers damp grain although some of this may be recovered in the final payment, the amount left in the pool after the wheat board completes a given year's business.

Farmers who dry their grain—Mr. McNamara says they will have about 250,000,000 bushels to dry this year—have to inform their elevator agent that it was artificially dried when they make delivery. The agent then must store it separately until a sample is tested by the board of grain commissioners in Winnipeg.

Only then does the farmer know for sure that drying it on the farm saved him money.

FESTIVITIES CURB CALLED BY CHURCHMEN

AMMAN (AP) — Religious leaders of six Christian communities in Jordan today called off all social festivities for Christmas and the New Year because of Israeli occupation in Jordanian areas. Observance would be limited to church services only.

The leaders, who represent Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Latin, Syrian, Anglican and Armenian communities, urged people to contribute what money they could for the relief of refugees.

Denmark Urges U.S. Retain Europe Ties

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Poul Hartling, Denmark's foreign minister, voiced concern today that the United States under President-elect Richard M. Nixon might "shrink back a little from Europe."

He urged the new administration to promote trade "between the two sides of the Atlantic Ocean," and wrap up the Vietnam war quickly so the United States can continue what he called its "struggle for peace."

Contacts with Europe and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should not be weakened, said Hartling.

"We hope that America under the new president will continue to shoulder its great responsibilities as the biggest and most important member of NATO."

In line with some other NATO countries, Denmark is setting up an integrated command of its armed forces to improve combat readiness. But at the same it is lowering the period of compulsory military service to 12 from 14 months.

Glimmer in Paris

THE DECISION OF THE SOUTH Vietnamese government to send representatives to the Paris peace negotiations is an important stride forward, but it is by no means a step out of the thick woods which hamper the approach to a settlement of the war. There is still the refusal of the National Liberation Front—the political arm of the Viet Cong military forces—to attend as other than an equal participant in a four-way conference. The United States had hoped to effect a compromise by having the NLF appear merely as an adjunct to the North Vietnamese delegation. And, even with all the ruffled feathers of representation smoothed, the formidable difficulties of working out an acceptable settlement promise protracted negotiation.

There had been some hope in the United States that the prospect of a tougher line by the incoming president, Mr. Nixon, might move the North Vietnamese to seek agreement before the negotiating conditions became more difficult. This consideration no doubt aided the diplomatic break-through which followed the bombing halt and made possible the advanced stage of talks now anticipated. But other considerations must also be taken into account, and important among these is the progress of the currently restricted fighting on the South Vietnamese front.

The strict concept of the bombing halt, with its accompanying action by Hanoi—that is, to observe the neutrality of the demilitarized zone and to stop bombardment of towns in the south — has been broken on a number of occasions. American retaliation has been sharp, but has not included a resumption of bombing. No major engagements have taken place, but there has been little easing of localized skirmishes, and casualties have continued to mount. Above all, the build-up of Northern forces and supplies, aided by the cessation of bombing in the north, apparently continues on a large scale.

Expected stalling tactics by the North Vietnamese in Paris could arise from three sources: the usual Asian predilection for protracted confrontations, a deliberate tactic to wait out the patience of the Westerners, or a delay to prepare for one more test of strength in South Vietnam in an effort to improve the bargaining position. In any case, hopes for an early settlement have little encouragement from the observable facts—Washington sources do not expect really serious exchanges to develop in Paris until the end of December.

President Johnson's desire to see tangible moves toward peace before his tenure ends on January 20 is therefore not likely to be granted. But the situation has improved substantially over that which prevailed prior to his historic announcement of a bombing halt and his public abandonment of intentions to run again. The harsh verdict which depicted him as a ruthless man of war may yet make way for a more flattering picture as the man who set in motion the preliminary steps toward peace.

Call for a Friendship Centre

SUPPORT FOR AN INDIAN Friendship Centre in Victoria has been prompt from several local agencies following its advocacy by an Indian-Eskimo group at the Institute of Adult Studies. Similar centres, where Indians from remote settlements may go for companionship, for advice on problems with which they cannot cope in a city, and for other forms of assistance, have been established elsewhere in the province and apparently are filling a need.

The local response to the idea is gratifying and may be expected to become broader as more of our citizens and organizations learn the nature of the project. It is dismaying to hear from some of the Indians that the only place where those from out of town can meet to talk is a beer parlor—and then only as long as they keep buying. This is not good enough.

The need for a centre is becoming more apparent in this community. In recent years many Indians have been coming here to improve their education in various classes available to them. Too frequently they feel lost and lonely in a city far bigger than they are accustomed to. If they can be helped to make the transition from their rural living to the greater sophistication of urban life by the establishment of a friendship centre, then a moral responsibility rests upon those who are more firmly settled here to give what assistance they can.

The B.C. Bulge

THE GREATER VICTORIA School Board's effort to make schools and their facilities more available to non-pupils on a community-use basis draws support from Mr. Gary Pennington, assistant professor in UBC's faculty of education. Mr. Pennington says physical education in the province is showing its midriff bulge and he thinks the way to reduce the problem—and the evidence—is by an exercise in community co-ordination.

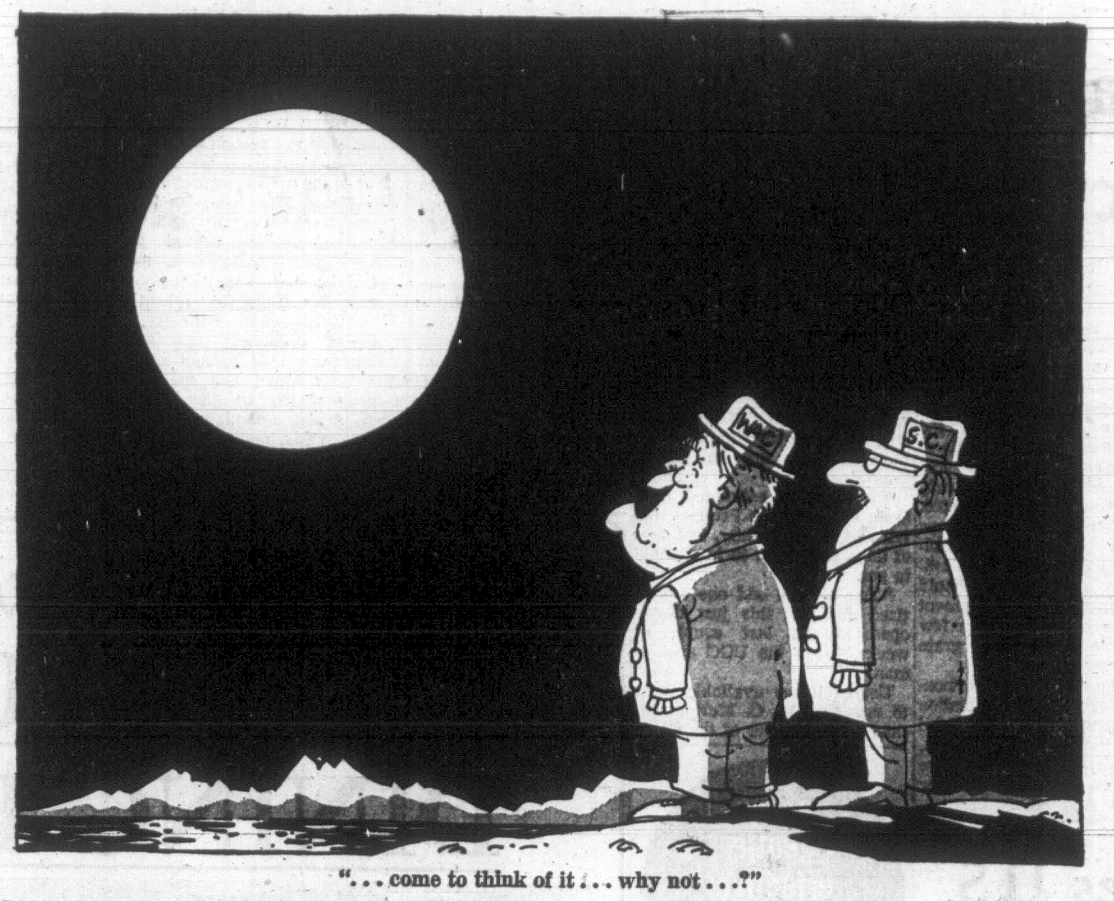

Various factors, he says, including inadequate programs, inadequate teachers and often inadequate facilities, are making physical education repugnant to many primary and secondary school pupils. They grow up with limited appreciation for physical fitness efforts that can be provided in school, but they might be won back to appreciation of the merits of physical fitness if the inadequacies were corrected and if more people outside school hours were encouraged to participate in good exercise programs.

Mr. Pennington makes a good case. Now if parents can find enough time for their own exercise after they have driven junior to the school gym for his physical exercise, they should heed Mr. Pennington's advice and seek profitable use of the school facilities provided by their taxes.

Flesh of One . . .?

MEMBERS OF MUNICIPAL councils may claim income tax exemption for part of their indemnities used to cover expenses incidental to service on the councils, Finance Minister Benson told the House of Commons the other day. Under present law, school trustees who are paid are not granted the same concession. The issue as it concerns school board members, the minister explained, is a matter of government policy and if the government intends to amend the Income Tax Act to cover trustees an announcement will be made at the appropriate time.

If the principle of tax exemption for at least part of the expenses incurred as council members is justified, why should it not apply to trustees under similar circumstances? The law, in this instance, permits an inequality in the treatment of earnings for municipal service. Can it, in all conscience, make flesh of one and fowl of another?

"... come to think of it ... why not ...?"

FROM WASHINGTON — By RICHARD PURSER

Intimations of the Nixon Policies

PRESIDENT-elect Nixon has consistently said that his top two foreign policy considerations after Vietnam are relations with the Soviet Union, and the Middle Eastern situation.

Purser

On the former point, he stresses the need for discussions between U.S. and Soviet leaders, but "only after we have had preliminary discussions with our European allies." In connection with these U.S.-European talks he lumps in the need for what he calls the "rebuilding" of NATO.

Just as the future of NATO is not a subject that can be separated from U.S.-Soviet relations, neither is the Middle East. He treats the latter separately only to draw attention to the extreme seriousness with which he views it. It is one of the first things he would like to discuss directly with Soviet leaders, because he believes that the Soviet buildup of Egypt and Syria, if long continued, must lead to a confrontation that could result in nuclear war.

Firm But Not Belligerent

He holds that under the outgoing administration of President Johnson "there seems to be no American policy at all" in the Middle East, in contrast to the long-time Soviet policy of "fishing in troubled Middle Eastern waters." He believes that the U.S. must make it clear to the Soviet Union "without belligerence but with complete firmness" that the free world has a great stake in the Middle East. Only if U.S. determination is impressed upon them will the Soviets "re-examine their own policy to avoid a collision course."

Mr. Nixon has explained that he does not mean an ultimatum-like approach along the "if you do this or that, we're going to do something" line, but only to indicate to the Soviets what the U.S. interests are so that the Soviets will not move by miscalculation. He considers that NATO should be linked to this policy — "the United States and our NATO allies must make it quite clear to the Soviet Union that we cannot tolerate activities which would risk another war in that area," he told the magazine U.S. News and World Report before his election. He said the area was of as vital importance to Western Europe as to the U.S. and called it "the anchor of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance."

The policies of a president once he faces the actual responsibilities of office can never be accurately foretold from his campaign rhetoric. The latter is invariably in general terms and avoids such specifics as exactly what is the U.S. interest in the Middle East that he would like to make so clear to the Soviets. But the campaign record is all there is against which to measure the policies of a new president, at least until his term is far enough advanced for its later stages to be measured against its earlier stages.

General View

No one expects a host of petty "campaign promises" to be fulfilled, but people develop a broad view of what they expect in various fields from the man they elected. He has to make good on these broad expectations. Lyndon Johnson won his mandate by leading the people to believe that he would not Americanize the Vietnam war, while he was privately planning the opposite policy. He paid for it, and one must assume that Mr. Nixon has taken note and does not want to so lose the trust of the people that he later has to remove himself from politics for the good of the country.

In foreign policy apart from Vietnam, Mr. Nixon is broadly expected to pursue a firm policy in favor of U.S. or "Western" interests vis-a-vis the Soviet Union, and to spread that task further among the allies so that it does not fall too heavily on the U.S. alone.

The road to implementation of this policy is filled with traps. First, there is the common American tendency to equate U.S. with "Western" interests. Without actually succumbing to this Mr. Nixon has tended to reflect the resentment-toward-allies element of American fed-upness. As he said in "Nixon on the Issues," his definitive 175-page campaign policy statement:

"For twenty years we have been furnishing most of the money and most of the arms and most of the men to help other nations defend their freedom. And now today other nations that we have helped in the past are able to do more."

The unspoken implication is that they had better. He added: "One of the major objectives of our new foreign policy will be to develop in consultation with our friends and our allies new policies so that in the future if something comes up like Vietnam, that the United States will not do as we did in Korea and in Vietnam shoulder the burden . . . we need a foreign policy where other nations in the free world bear their fair share the defence of freedom, and that's what I will work for."

Variations on such remarks were a staple of Mr. Nixon's campaign appearances, where they always drew enthusiastic response. Coupled with his oft-repeated call for reassessing the direction of U.S. foreign aid ("its primary purpose is not simply to aid other countries, but to aid the United States of America"), there is room to fear that Mr. Nixon is overexpectant of U.S. allies agreeing that what's good for the U.S. is good for the "free" (Americanese for non-Communist) world.

On such agreement depends the type of co-operation, or spreading of the burden, that he envisages.

FROM LONDON — By TIM TRAYNOR

Crises Make a New Europe

THE pace of change in Europe over the past year has been breathtaking. The devaluation of the pound has been followed in rapid succession by France's near-revolution in May, the invasion of Czechoslovakia, the revitalization of NATO and now by a currency crisis which cannot help but have profound long-term effects throughout the western part of the continent. As crisis succeeds crisis, it becomes less and less possible to take for granted what have been fixed points on the political horizon for the past decade.

Traynor

There is, first of all, a decided change in the relative position of the three leading nations. Following the rise of General de Gaulle, France outstripped Britain economically and provided the political lead for Germany. If proof were needed that this situation no longer obtains, it has been dramatically supplied over the past few days. Gaullist France finds itself afflicted with an economic virus similar to that of Britain, and is obliged to seek assistance from Germany, whose economic ascendancy has at last come to the fore.

De Gaulle Fading

Political ascendancy has passed decisively from General de Gaulle's hands. In a climate of stability and East-West realization, he could command widespread support for his policy of breaking down the division of Europe between the two great-power blocs.

There was fatalistic acceptance of his unconvincing argument that admission of Britain to the Common Market would detract from his over-all European efforts. But the Gaullist spell was broken by France's internal troubles and the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. It became obvious that the Russians have no intention of relinquishing their hold on Eastern Europe as Gen. de Gaulle hoped they would do. Gaullist downgrading of NATO had a hollow ring for the Germans in the face of Russia's new aggressiveness. By contract, Britain was in tune with German thinking with its clear call for a tightening of NATO defences and for the development of economic and political co-operation within Western Europe.

Initiative to Britain

In some measure at least, the initiative has now passed to Britain. With the active support of the four smaller Common Market countries, the British government is intensifying its campaign to overcome the obstacles to European integration which General de Gaulle has maintained so inflexibly. With the collapse of Gaullist prestige and stability, it becomes more and more difficult for France unilaterally to bar the way to integration. Nobody expects General de [illegible] opposition, but there is now a real possibility that the countries that in the past deferred to him may cease to do so. The chances of this increase as it becomes clear that the general is in a weak position economically to take drastic steps in retaliation. It will hardly be convincing now if he threatens to break up the Common Market rather than allow his partners to enter into economic and political collaboration with the British outside the ECM, as the British and their allies seek to do.

Pressure Telling

Even before the latest crisis, there were signs that the pressure on France was beginning to tell. Having rejected a plan for co-operation between countries within and without the Common Market, the French submitted an alternative scheme for cutting tariffs throughout Western Europe. Called the Debre plan, after the French foreign minister, this is now recognized as the beginning of a concession on the part of the French, even though it carefully avoids any commitment to eventual acceptance of Britain and other Common Market applicants.

Britain has reserved judgment on this plan and is keeping up pressure for further concessions. It is claimed that a by-product of the Debre plan would be to allow France to dump its agricultural surplus in Britain. The Americans have added their objections, claiming that European tariff-cutting arrangements not linked to the enlargement of the Common Market would amount to discrimination against other parts of the world.

Stripping the Beauty

It might well be advisable for viewers of Sunday night's TV showing of 'The Way It Is' to purchase back issues of 'Beautiful B.C.' These can be left as legacies to their grandchildren to show them how indeed B.C. was beautiful midway in the 20th century.

Undoubtedly strip-mining for coal and certain minerals is an economical procedure over a large area. In moderately flat terrain in the U.S.A. the resultant 'moonscape' has been reclaimed to hide some of the residual scars. This, however, cannot be effectively achieved in mountainous areas such as the Kootenays. Furthermore in order to produce fertile growth, some degree of topsoil is requisite. Over a devastated area of, say, 100,000 acres whence is that quantity of topsoil to be taken, except by a comparable rape elsewhere?

One U.S. mining representative was at least honest enough to admit that reclamation was seldom done by a mining company unless it was forced by legislation to do so. One can imagine that if the legislation was adequately tough the project would never get under way in the first place.

The profound ecological changes that occur are of little concern to the average mining company just so long as they can make a few million bucks and get out as soon as possible. — W. R. H. Curtis, P.O. Box 62.

Protective Action Now

After viewing the disastrous result of open-pit or strip mining in Kentucky on "The Way It Is", Sunday, I feel we need to take action here to ensure that the same devastation of countryside does not occur in our province.

Whole sides of mountains in British Columbia will soon be sheared off to remove coal for Japanese steel mills. It will be difficult and expensive to replace the topsoil on steep mountainsides. No matter what assurances are given by an individual company, therefore, we must be sure of land restoration by means of provincial laws.

All companies wanting to strip away the land in this manner should need government approved plans for putting it back again. This would have to be done before mining starts so immediate action is necessary. — L. Waye, 3139 Blackwood.

Paved With Gold

[illegible] We don't [illegible] for schools. We have money to build a desperately needed four-lane Pat Bay highway. But we do have $300,000,000 to build a highway through B.C.'s northern wilderness to annex people who want no part of us. Mr. Bennett, how do you do it!—M. E. Upton, 1221 Rockcrest.

Plain Joe Outside

Without any intention of showing disrespect to Governor-General and Mrs. Michener, who, I hope, will have enjoyed their visit to Victoria I feel I must comment on the subject of the lack of welcome at the airport, Monday morning.

Your reporter says "There weren't many plain joe citizens to do the cheering! . . ." Could this be taken as an indication that the "plain joes" do not really have a great deal of interest in the activities of the Governor-General of Canada, whose position and way of life is far removed from anything that most of us know? The people most involved in Governor-General Michener's visit to this city are the usual group, for whom the three days will provide the customary round of formal dinners and balls. Tell me, were many 'plain joes' invited to the state dinner at Government House?

Before closing, I must also add that I feel very strongly about the idea of taking children out of school, handing them a flag, and lining them up as a welcoming group. I would resent it greatly if my own child had missed any school time (precious enough in our present crowded and inadequate conditions) to form part of this group.—'A Disinterested Plain Joe'

St. Andrew's Society, through its secretary, G. Mowat, asked the parks board for permission to lay out a bowling green in Beacon Hill Park. It is proposed to charge each player five cents, the money to be used in the maintenance of the green.

The proposal to charge a fee did not meet with the approval of the board, but representatives of the society will be heard at the next meeting of the board.

'Two Solitudes' Joined

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL — A moment has arrived, amid the hurly-burly of events, when the English-speaking people of Quebec can assess better than before their place in the province's aspirations and examine old attitudes.

Collision of linguistic interests is expressed in the mindless "cry from the guts," as one lawyer put it, but also in the calm cadence of men deeply versed in the lore of the province and undismayed by the future.

Either way, formidable difficulties are voiced. Even such a history-seasoned Montrealer as author T. P. Slattery said the situation is "more dramatic than it's ever been."

"French-Canadian nationalism isn't new, of course, but what is new is the nationalist spirit coupled with student power."

Become Restless

"As things improve, the more restless some people become," said immigrant-lawyer Claude-Armand Sheppard, who has been a civil rights battler on both sides of the nationalist barrier.

"The problem is the tendency of the human mind to generalize too quickly," said educationist John T. McIlhorne. "To the action of a few we assign the thoughts or sentiment of a whole population."

"You know what happens in a revolt," said historian Michel Brunet. "People see a situation, they ask how it exists, how it can be changed. And you know the second stage? They ask why doesn't it change faster?"

Mobile Population

"For sale" signs in affluent English areas are a matter of gossip, but a spokesman for the Montreal Real Estate Board said departures from the province are not abnormal —many elderly couples were moving, for instance. One dealer said there may be an increase of 10 per cent in his area, but the population is traditionally mobile.

Novelist Hugh MacLennan, who coined the phrase "two solitudes," reported with obvious delight that it no longer has full validity.

"I think there's no question about it: Canada is the hope of the world now," he said, with a figurative nod to Prime Minister Trudeau. "The two solitudes are coming together at last with proper diversity."

Attitudes of French-Canadians and English-Quebecers, in the sense of the older inhabitants, have changed to a striking degree in some areas, anyway. Here is seen the shape of the future. For one thing, it allows the attitudes of so-called "ethnic groups" —who make up nearly half of Quebec's non-French population of more than 1,000,000— also to change.

Montreal's 125,000 Jews, oldest and second-largest of the ethnic groups, traditionally identified with the English Protestant side—even those French-speaking Jews who came from North Africa after the war.

But Rabbi Solomon Spiro of suburban Chomedey, an intellectual as well as spiritual figure in the community, said this does not accurately reflect the sympathetic attitude of most of his co-religionists to French-Canadian aspirations.

Turn on 'Rock'

Commercial and economic factors entered into the thinking of the Jews as well as other immigrants, but the "rock" against which they were turned to the Protestant educational system was the Roman Catholic Church's traditional attitude.

"Had the present attitude of the church prevailed 100 years ago there is a very good possibility the Jews would be closer to the French-Canadians," said the rabbi.

In Quebec nationalist eyes, the current moves to improve the French-Canadian status throughout the country count for little or nothing if the non-French element here keeps gaining greater relative weight through immigration.

This was behind the "cry from the guts" at suburban St. Leonard where English-language teaching rights were curtailed by a nationalist school board, said Mr. Sheppard.

Without Conflict

The lawyer, who drafted a law-language section for the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, summed up a consensus of many interviews when he declared:

"The goals of English-speaking Quebecers and French-Canadians are not necessarily in conflict. There's an enormous amount of understanding in the English community. The aims for strengthening the French community can be achieved without depriving the English of rights."

Why was non-French reaction so violent to the St. Leonard affair—the march to Ottawa, furious denunciations?

"It was the first time in Quebec that a constitutional issue acquired such a concrete form," said Belgium-born Mr. Sheppard, who now considers himself a French-speaking Canadian.

COPP

In other words, ordinary folk may go ho-hum over the usual constitutional rows but when the kids are affected—wow!

There doesn't seem much difference in the ultimate outlooks of historian Terry Copp of Loyola College, who denounced the action at St. Leonard, and historian Brunet of the University of Montreal, who didn't.

Names on Doors

"Quebec must become as French as Ontario is English," said Prof. Copp.

"English is a must, but French is the national language of Quebec for the French and those whose mother tongue is not English," said Mr. Brunet, in interpreting the St. Leonard controversy.

Industrialists who once figured it was only a matter of time before French vanished from the scene now sought young French-Canadians for top jobs and put their names on doors in nice gold letters.

Only about 37 per cent of Montrealers are bilingual—and of these only about 15 per cent have English as their mother tongue.

"I think if we want to stay here we ought to become full citizens and take our full share in any aspirations of the province," said Very Rev. Patrick G. Malone, president of Loyola College.

All Can Approve

Of Quebec's general picture, the Jesuit educationist declared:

"There is a certain national fervor behind change here, but the change itself is one that we all ought to be able to approve. It comes at a time when all governments are facing enormously difficult fiscal situations, with the result that sometimes we think they're denying us things which in fact they can't give anybody."

Business and educational sources said it is the older citizens, unwilling to face new or potentially new culture patterns, who tend to leave—not younger ones. "The students who are going tend to be very vocal about it, however," said Father Malone.

"We English people like myself who have lived and worked here all our lives are as much interested in the future of Quebec as anybody," said educationist David Munroe. "If the French could survive for 300 years we certainly should have the backbone to survive for another 300."

Make Cheating Legal, India Students Cry

By C. P. RAMACHANDRAN,

Poorly-paid Indian lecturers in Bihar State have long been nervous when called upon to supervise university examinations because if students are caught cribbing they lie in wait for the lecturer and beat him up. Some have been stabbed.

But a new and ludicrous phase of student anarchy seems to have been reached with a demand that cheating be legitimised. Students of the Hindi Vidyapeeth in Deoghar, Bihar, are reported to have refused to write their answer paper unless they are allowed to use unfair means.

Behind this lies a sorry tale of corruption and inefficient administration — not only in education — and a steady consequent decline in the integrity and standing of educationists.

Often students, after a brief glance at an examination question paper have simply walked out, claiming that the questions were too difficult. And almost as often, at the instance of politicians, a set of new and easier papers has been set and the examination held again.

★ ★ ★

Extending their own license beyond the school or lecture room students who travel by train deliberately avoid buying tickets, threatening with knife and stick any railway staff who detect them. The State-owned railways are estimated to be losing about 3,000,000 rupees a year from refusal to pay fares.

Respect for vice-chancellors and senior authorities diminishes because of popular belief that many of these appointments are made at the behest of politicians.

Lecturers who hold their jobs by currying favor with their superiors are held in contempt. There are constant complaints that merit ranking in examinations is juggled in favor of the children of influential parents.

Recently in the post-graduate course in science at Patna University, 18 out of 20 students were placed in the first class. Patna's English-language daily newspaper Searchlight alleged that the explanation of this uncommon brilliance was as follows:

"It is stated that the son of a Very Important Person got the eighteenth position despite every undue leniency shown to him in the examination. On merit he could not get a first class. But he had to be placed in the first class to please the VIP concerned. So, grace marks, which are generally given to students to prevent mass failure, were given in this case to upgrade the class. If the eighteenth student had to be placed in the first class, others above him had also to move up. Thus was a record created not only for Patna University, but in the whole country."

★ ★ ★

In Kerala State the names of lecturers who mark examination papers are painstakingly acquired by bribing servants and clerks. They are then approached by parents and induced, sometimes with cash, to be large-hearted in awarding marks. Some examiners are even said to have worked out a regular tariff for their favors.

These desperate efforts to acquire a degree spring from the fact that in India for any kind of white collar job, a university degree is now imperative. About 1,750,000 students cram various courses in 2,750 colleges affiliated to 70 universities.

There are no standardized textbooks. Syllabuses widely vary. The North Indian universities have changed the medium instruction to Hindi. Madras has changed to Tamil. Other universities are now teaching in one of India's 14 regional languages.

★ ★ ★

The results is that when men with college degrees appear for federal jobs before the Union Public Services Commission, many can barely understand the questions put to them in English.

Two weeks ago, the Senate of the Madras University noted that when a group of candidates from their state appeared before the Services Commission in Delhi, they were "t ongue-tied." The Senate then recommended that the next meeting of the Commission should be held in Madras where presumably pressures could be applied.

Under these conditions Indian college campuses have become seedbeds of senseless violence. Students of Amritsar in Punjab took out a procession on November 7 protesting at police brutality on some students of Ludhiana 50 miles away.

★ ★ ★

About 605 of them waving long staves and hockey sticks demonstrated before the police premises. "Then," according to one report, "they marched to DAV College where they smashed glass panes, on their way damaging private cars. Some car-owners complained that the hooligans molested women . . ."

On the same day, the students of Ludhiana, "heavily stoned the Amritsar Express proceeding towards Delhi, Punjab Roadway buses, and caused brickbat injuries to nearly 30 policemen."

The problem for India has been given additional complexity by the obvious signs that political parties see profit in manipulating student unrest and its violent potential. University campuses have been turned into party recruiting grounds.

Trudeau Adroit as Circus Master As He Dominates Question Period

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

The daily question period of the House of Commons has settled into a different pattern from that in the previous five Parliaments.

Fisher

In plain terms, it is dominated by Prime Minister Trudeau. He supplies almost all the drama, humor and savagery of it. There's an occasional sally by Mr. Diefenbaker, usually deferred for 10 or 15 minutes in order to give Mr. Stanfield his daily exposure.

The recurrent moral unction of Messrs. Lewis, Brewin and Knowles is familiar, of course; so is the bloody-minded chivvying of Eldon Woolliams and Donnie MacInnis; but all such persistency and challenge seem to miss or glance off the Prime Minister.

Crowe

The ministers seem content to have Mr. Trudeau hold the attention and deliver the boffo lines. Certainly, the roster system, and thus their excused absences, has taken the pressure off them. They rarely seem to be under fire or terribly anxious to perform.

If there is one major theme emerging in the question period it has to do with the foreign policy review and the corollary policy changes possible in defence.

The reason this is easily discernible is explained by the different positions of the Tories and the New Democrats.

The former's stance is to cry havoc and cherish the present commitments; the latter's to welcome doubtfully and fear insincerity, stressing the old Liberal bias for the status quo.

Mr. Trudeau has the aplomb of a circus-master, in silence or when engaged. A touch of the "I'm the man and this is my place."

He doesn't loll nor fade out mentally through the period. When not on his feet he's at the edge of his seat, back stiff, head erect, eyes roving, both feet on the floor, waiting with the tense, alert relish of a tennis player for the ball to come over the net.

●

And you sense his reflex is to smash the verbal ball back, except when it comes from Mr. Stanfield.

With Mr. Stanfield, there's a special form. We don't know if it's deliberate. Our temptation is to believe it is because even Mr. Trudeau's casualness seens to be imposed cerebrally.

Anyway, he gives Mr. Stanfield an extra bit of consideration, more measured replies, a hold-back on the impolite or the cutting.

Is this a gallant recognition of Mr. Stanfield's office and his special parliamentary position? Or is this a conscious parody of the slowness and lack of bite in Mr. Stanfield; in other words a satirizing of such consistent earnestness?

●

Perhaps, Mr. Trudeau is doing all these things at once, the first as a parliamentary decency, the second to satisfy his intellectual determination not to take himself or anyone else too seriously.

The question period became the "game" or "play" period of the Commons back in '55 and '56 with the emergency powers and the pipeline uproars. In the past two years it has altered, at least in consequences, in that it now sets up the instant news bobbets which are recorded on tape or film immediately afterward outside the chamber doors.

The range of questions is as wide as ever. Many are silly and badly phrased. Some are designed to needle or mock or get a quick laugh. The regional or riding crisis (e.g., layoffs in the Transcona shops or Atlantic storm-loss of lobster pots) is still the driving motive for questions.

Speaker Lamoureux is giving shorter shrift to many questions, especially from newer members. Like all Speakers we've known he tends to let the veteran stars escape the rigidity of the rules on questions.

There's no sense that we can see in this House that each or any question period may bring a ministerial gaffe or a bad-tempered uproar.

The majority position of the government may partially explain this solidity. More important, we believe, is the tight grip or what seems to be the tight grip of Mr. Trudeau on both ministers and Liberal backbenchers.

It is fair to say that this control has not yet been tested by any quick-flaring crisis or scandal and that an edginess in temper occasionally shown by Mr. Trudeau gives a hint that his wide advantage will not last forever.

●

The relative lack of personal venom in the probes at Mr. Trudeau (excepting Mr. Diefenbaker) seems to issue from a strategic appreciation that it is too soon to crucify the messiah.

The weakness of the strategy is that a pattern and a deftness develops which has a tendency to permanence.

It isn't that there isn't provocation for vitriol. There's a cat's tongue burr to Mr. Trudeau. He can inch up the nasal scale in tone to register contempt for person or topic, without using loaded words.

The Mourning Dove's Return Points Up Nature's Changes

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Change is as much a part of populations of plants and animals as it is of individuals. Groups of living things are constantly varying in number and composition because their environment is undergoing constant change.

Carl

The annual progression of the seasons, the slower cyclic changes in climate and other factors such as sun spots which are not well understood cause fluctuations in food supply and other living conditions all of which have profound influences on the survival rate. At the same time populations tend to produce far more offspring than their environment can support.

★ ★ ★

These and other forces working against each other never completely balance out; the result is that the numbers of individuals surviving from one year to the next is constantly changing.

Fluctuation in numbers is often not particularly noticeable unless special studies are made to determine such changes but shifts in the range occupied by groups of animals sometimes are very obvious.

Some years ago mourning doves were a rarity on Vancouver Island. In time more sightings were reported and nesting was observed. Now they are fairly common. Apparently numbers have built up over their entire range and natural spread into new territory has occurred.

★ ★ ★

A somewhat similar range expansion has been experienced by the house finch. Common in California where it is known as the Linnet, it was unknown in British Columbia until thirty years ago when it was discovered nesting in Victoria. During the next few years it was observed in many widely spaced areas of the province and is now quite abundant and wide spread.

The bush tit is one of our smallest birds and the only local one that builds a completely enclosed hanging nest. A little over twenty years ago the tit was of rather rare occurrence on the lower mainland of British Columbia and none was known on Vancouver Island.

In 1945 the first one was seen near Victoria and the following season a specimen was taken at Duncan. In subsequent years bush tits increased slowly in numbers and are now a fairly common resident as far north as Courtenay.

The cow bird provides a parellel case. It, too, was seldom seen on Vancouver Island until a few seasons ago when it began to appear in a few local areas.

Now it seems to be well established here judging by the numbers of reports gathered in the last two years. As with other species there appears to be no explanation of this relatively sudden extension of range.

★ ★ ★

Similar examples can be found among mammals. Both the cottontail and the snowshoe hare have extended their range northward in recent decades, the first into the lower Okanagan Valley and the latter into the Fraser Valley from Washington State.

More spectacular has been the southward move of moose. A hundred years ago this largest member of the deer family was pretty well confined to northern British Columbia, the Yukon and parts of Alaska and up to 1920 there were hardly any moose south of the Hazelton-Prince George line.

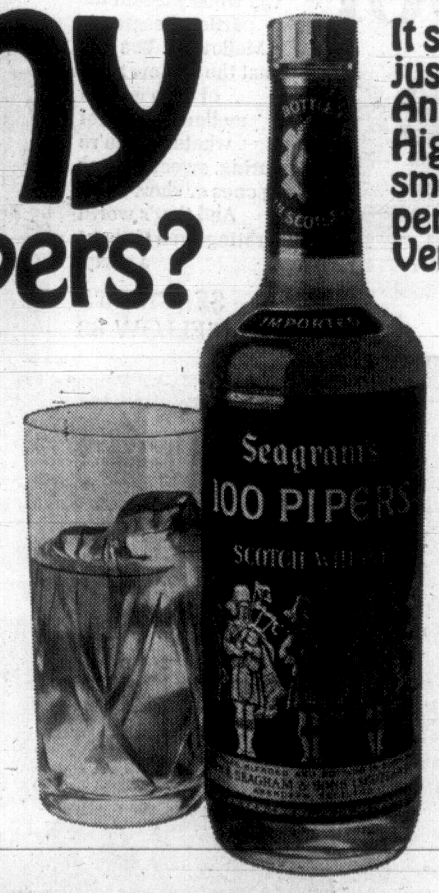

Then for no known reason the species began to spread, particularly in a southerly direction. Over the years moose began turning up where they had never been seen before and they became exceedingly abundant until it was necessary to have an open season on cows as well as bulls in order to keep the population in reasonable check. Their range now seems to extend almost as far south as the international border in places.

★ ★ ★

Such expansions in range also take place in the sea. The abalone is a case in point. Fifteen years ago this mollusc was unknown around Victoria although it was common in places along the exposed west coast.

For no known reason it suddenly appeared at the breakwater at the entrance to Victoria Harbor and has since been reported at many other points in the Gulf where it had never been known to exist before. Abalones are now well established in seemingly new territory and are probably "here to stay."

Board Again Sidesteps New Rest Haven Decision

By JIM HUME

A three-hour debate Wednesday failed to decide the fate of a new Rest Haven hospital.

Regional Hospital Board directors did take a faltering step toward approval "in principle" of an extended care hospital to serve the north end of the Saanich Peninsula. But they steubbornly refused to make a positive commitment.

North Saanich Mayor Jim Cumming again led the battle for the northerners asking the board to clearly endorse a four-prong recommendation from the hospital's advisory board.

He finally settled for endorsation "in principle" and admitted following the argument that the tentative agreement did not mean the north end of the Peninsula was assured of a hospital.

Mayor Cumming's committee recommendations were that work commence immediately to build 150 extended care beds at St. Mary's Priory; that the Gorge Road Hospital proceed "forthwith" with plans for 150 beds; that a 100-bed hospital be built in Central Saanich and that 20 extended care beds be built at Ganges.

Mayor Cumming urged immediate action so that the referendum for $9.3 million for hospital construction, endorsed overwhelmingly in October, could be implemented.

He further urged that all beds to be constructed be of class "A" construction rather than of the mixed class "A" and class "B" construction earlier recommended.

In general terms class "B" construction is single storey and usually of frame construction. Class "A" is a two or more storey building of concrete.

Mayor Hugh Curtis was the first to throw the brakes on the hurry attitude of the northerners.

He said that while he respected and appreciated the work and the recommendations of the advisory board they should remain just that, recommendations and not definite policy statements.

"I am as anxious as anyone to get on with the job," he said. "But we must not, as a board, abdicate our responsibilities. It must be our decision where the hospitals must go, how big they should be and how much should be spent on construction."

He recommended that a first move following acceptance only of the advisory committee's report, should be the establishment of a planning and building committee comprised of board members which could then make the political decisions.

Andrew Pitkethley, hospital consultant to the board, also urged caution.

He warned that ownership of the new hospitals should be clearly established before any final decision was made.

"The ratepayers in the area voted in fovar of an extended care program without too many specifics before them," he said. "They placed a great deal of trust in your judgment.

'Must Retain Hospital Ownership'

'I don't see how you can guarantee a package deal unless you own the hospitals and retain ownership. You can do this without disturbing any institutional or religious interest, but you should do it before you start building hospitals."

Mayor Gordon Lee, who earlier had withdrawn a notice of motion which would have demanded a decision at the regular board meeting, said he was disturbed by the apparent reluctance of the board to go along with its advisory committee's recommendations.

"What disturbs me is that we have an advisory committee and a priorities committee. They come up with recommendations, why can't we accept them?

Mayor Curtis answered quickly: "Because they are not responsible to the electorate—we are, you are."

As the debate wore on tempers became testy with Mayor Curtis and Mayor Cumming exchanging sharp words.

"I am not prepared to let a committee decide where and how big these new hospitals should be," Mayor Curtis said. "I think we would be remiss in our duties if we did not at least study their recommendations and check them. I can't accept them without question."

"They have been checked," snapped Mayor Cumming. "And presented unanimously."

'Shall Also Question Advice'

"I can't operate that way," retorted Mayor Curtis. "I'll listen to advice, but I shall also question that advice before I accept it."

Mr. Pitkethley suggested that before making a final decision the regional board should remember the composition of the advisory committee.

"The formation of the committee in this area is quite unique in that it is formed mostly of hospital administrators," he said. "In other areas hospital administrators can't sit on such committees.

"I think you must consider the possibility that here you are getting and possibly accepting, the decision of administrators."

He further suggested that the advisory committee had ignored his recommendations on established criteria design to provide solid guidelines for hospital sites and sizes.

In that criteria, made available by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Services research staff, the bed ratio for extended care units is geared to the population over the age of 65 years.

It works out at one extended care bed for every 50 citizens over 65.

Mr. Pitkethley did not mention the criteria guide in detail but asked that it be presented to each member of the board for study.

50 Beds Needed in North Area

The copy he presented to the advisory committee suggests that the most extended-care beds required at the north end of the Peninsula is 50 to handle the over-65 population in that area.

With the provincial government reluctant to build new units of less than 100 to 150 beds, Mr. Pitkethley's criteria recommendations susggest that an extended care unit is not required in the north Peninsula area.

Whatever the board finally decides will be left to a later date, anyway.

Mayor Arthur Freeman, Sidney, finally ended the debate by asking the board to at least endorse the advisory committee proposals in principle, set up a finance, planning and building committee, and make the big decision later.

Board members agreed, but with some reluctance.

And Mayor Cumming remained unhappy that another session had gone by without positive action.

"But I guess it's a step along the road," he said following the meeting.

Mayor Lee also expressed some disenchantment with further delay.

"The Rest Haven board feels itself completely frustrated," he said. "They have an option on land (42.9 acres in Central Saanich) but they can't buy it until they know just what is going to happen. And, as I understand it, the option will run out in January. I think we should have a decision to at least give Rest Haven the go-ahead to buy."

"The fact that Rest Haven has an option on land is irrelevant to this discussion," answered Mayor Curtis. "We cannot leave to others the job this board should do."

COME ON OUT . . . WHEREVER YOU ARE!

Paging Health Minister Ralph Loffmark—where are you?

The Regional Hospital District Board would like to know so that they can get an answer to vital hospital questions.

But a letter dated Nov. 6 and signed by the minister's secretary, Miss I. H. Cowan, said the boss was away.

"In his absence," typed Miss Cowan, you'll have to wait but with the added promise that the matter "will be placed before Mr. Loffmark when he returns to the city."

So far, so good.

But, behold, under the same date, Nov. 6, the board received another letter giving approval to the issuing of $72,000 worth of debentures.

It was signed by "Ralph R. Loffmark, minister."

Come on out, Mr. Loffmark, wherever you are.

'Escape' Money Under Protest

Mount St. Mary Hospital may have a tough time squeezing extra fire-escape money out of the regional district hospital board.

The board had earlier allocated $17,712 for a fire escape ramp, smoke-proof doors and emergency lighting.

That was about $7,000 more than original estimates of $10,000.

But, said Mount St. Mary business manager John Stevens, "unfortunately the lowest tender was $16,462, plus architect's fees of $1,262 resulting in an additional cost of $7,198 over the architect's original estimate."

Mr. Stevens added that the reason given was an increase in the cost of steel and insufficient detailed estimates by the steel fabricators.

The plea for more cash and the reasons for the need were received with skeptical snorts by regional board members.

Said Ald. Cecil Parrott: "Here we go again. We get an estimate for $10,000 and then find it cost $18,000 to do the job."

Said director Howard Elder, Sooke: "I hope we shall review this with a view to finding out who the architect is who could be so far out in his estimates. The reason that the price of steel increased is ridiculous."

And said Andrew Pitkethley, hospital consultant to the board: "It looks like a little hedging to me. I think we should take another look at it. This is the sort of thing we judge architects by."

St. Mary will probably get the money required, but under protest.

Save Time By Heeding Consultants

The Regional District Hospital Board could have saved itself a lot of time Wednesday had it read a report on organization before its debate on hospitals.

The report, prepared by John Oliver and Associates, municipal affairs consultants, outlined what it thought the organizational chart of the regional district should be.

The debate on hospitals hovered around a report from the hospitals advisory and priorities committees but never decided whether a report should be accepted carte blanche or whether it should be regarded merely as a recommendation.

Oliver and associates did not have the same doubts.

"Generally speaking, advisory boards fill two purposes," the report stated. "To provide a sounding board for district proposals and to make available to the district board the advice of persons interested in a particular field and sometimes possessing specialized knowledge and experience.

"Unless one or both of these criteria are met, such boards serve no useful function and may impede the district board in arriving at decisions.

On committees in general the report stated:

"To avoid undue debate in the board on committee recommendations, there should be, ideally, a majority of the board on each committee. In no case should the membership of a committee be substantially less than half the number of directors."

And it added: "It has been suggested that other than directors be appointed to board committees. If this is done, it should be for an extraordinary reason, and in no case should such an appointee vote."

Unfortunately the board, although it received the report early in the proceedings, decided to table it for comment until members had the opportunity to study it further.

Leg Injured In Accident

An 18-year-old youth is in good condition in St. Joseph's hospital following a crash between his motorcycle and a car Wednesday.

David Andrew Muir, 3113 Glen Lake Road, suffered a fractured leg in the accident.

Police said he was northbound on Blanshard and collided with a southbound vehicle driven by William Holmes, 255 Wootten, at Pandora. Damage was moderate.

British Rockets Help Find Hot New Star

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A new star, believed to be the hottest yet found by man, has been discovered as a result of the firing at Australia's Woomera rocket range in June of a British research rocket.

Australian Supply Minister Ken Anderson said Wednesday that Leicester University in England, which designed the experiment, told him the new star was between the constellations of Scorpius and Lupus and had a temperature of 150,000,000 degrees centigrade (270,000,000 Fahrenheit).

The rocket, fired June 12, reached a height of 111 miles carrying three large x-ray detectors whose combined sensitivity was 10 times greater than that of detectors carried by previous rockets fired at Woomera.

Park Maintenance Urged Within Acquisition Plan

The regional district board will have to get into parks maintenance long before its five-year parks acquisition program is completed says director John Williams.

As chairman of the board's park's committee Mr. Williams said it was becoming increasingly obvious that some maintenance and development would have to be carried out in the near future if the parks were to stay abreast of demand.

"We have opened these parks to the public and they are getting better known and more use all the time," he said. "I know that we have a few years to go on our acquisition program before we get into maintenance and development, but I don't think we can wait that long if we want to stay on top of the situation."

LACK OF FACILITIES

In a report to the full board Mr. Williams recommended that some form of understanding between the district and the various municipalities be arrived at to provide essential services.

He was referring specifically to the need for parking at Coles Bay where nearby residents have complained about the summer parking problem and the lack of sanitary facilities.

Mayor Hugh Curtis agreed that the board could no longer "turn its back on the problem."

Under the existing letters patent the board can only spend money on "essential maintenance" and for the acquisition of property.

In the same report, Mr. William's recommended against the purchase of three acres of land at Weir's Beach for use as a regional park.

He said the area was too small and that it could no longer be claimed a wild life sanctuary.

But he did recommend the purchase of another section of land in Elk-Beaver Lake park area to add to the growing park's acreage.

COMPENSATION

He also urged the board to insist that the provincial department of highways compensate the district for land taken for highway development.

The department requires a narrow strip of the Elk-Beaver parkland to widen the Pat-Bay Highway.

Mr. Williams said that while recognizing the need to give up a small portion of the park it should be made quite clear that compensating property elsewhere in the park area be acquired by the department of highways and transferred to the district for incorporation in the park.

RUSH APPEARS IN COURT, TRIAL JAN. 13

TORONTO (CP)—Stock promoter Myer Rush, extradited from London to face charges of stock fraud, arrived here late Tuesday and was remanded without bail to Jan. 13 for trial. He was taken to Don jail.

Rush will face seven charges involving money obtained through fraud, conspiracy or false pretences in connection with the sale of stocks involving Darien Explorations Ltd.

He is also charged with having conspired to defraud a Toronto bank of $30,000 through forged cheques. Rush, 44, was flown here under police guard.

New Portuguese Premier Follows Old Principles

LISBON (Reuters) — Premier Marcello Caetano of Portugal has dashed the hopes of opponents of his government who want moves towards rapid liberalization.

But in a major speech to the National Assembly spelling out details of his program, he left the door open for future prudent changes concerning the participation of citizens in public life.

Caetano generally upheld the principles with which his predecessor, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, ruled for 36 years. He strongly reaffirmed Portugal's policy of defending its African territories.

Caetano, who succeeded the ailing Salazar two months ago, told cheering members the "freedom and independence of the countries of Western Europe is not only being decided in Europe but also in Africa."

He attacked Russian moves in the Mediterranean, the Middle East and Africa, and warned that Europe is being encircled.

The Russians were doubling their efforts in support of guerrillas in Portuguese Guinea because this was the base for an assault against the Cape Verde islands, key position for communications between the North and South Atlantic, he said.

"This is the reason for which we have to defend Guinea, in our interest, certainly, but also in the interest of Western Europe and the Americas," Caetano said.

While denying any alliance between Portugal, Rhodesia and South Africa, he said their interests coincide in many points—especially the conviction that the presence of the white man was required in the area.

Turning to civil liberties he warned against an "outbreak of anarchy" among the young which was being exploited by subversive movements.

Illegal Exports Of Swiss Arms

BERN (AP) — Israel, Egypt and Nigeria today were identified as recipients of illegal arms shipments from Switzerland in a government statement confirming the arrest of two executives of Switzerland's largest weapons manufacturer.

The statement said an investigation established that artillery, ammunition and rockets manufactured by the Oerlikon Buehrle A. G. of Zurich were found to have been illegally exported to these countries at war.

Employees of Oerlikon Buehrle, one of the world's largest producers of weapons, were found to have obtained export licences during 1967 and 1968 for these arms by making "intentionally false statements and by using of false written statements from third parties," said the statement issued by the federal justice department.

"One has pretended to supply countries not affected by the (Swiss arms) embargo. The war material in question then was sent to countries, however, which may not be supplied, among others Israel, Egypt and Nigeria.

"Because of collusion among the suspected persons before and during the investigation two arrests had to be made."

The Swiss constitution, conforming with the country's traditional principle of neutrality, bars arms exports to countries at war. Buyers also must sign pledges that they will not re-export the weapons to areas of conflict.

Police Asked To Watch For Bonds

Victoria city police have been asked to watch for the appearance of $500,000 worth of mortgage bonds lost or stolen from a Montreal trust company.

A message alerting brokers and investment dealers was sent from Vancouver Stock Exchange, in which members were advised to contact Vancouver city police fraud squad or local police if either the debenture certificates or coupons from them are turned up.

Coupons dating from November, 1958, through to this month are cashable on demand. They are worth $250,000.

St. Lawrence Corp. Ltd. issued the bonds as 5 per cent first mortgage sinking fund bonds, series C. There were 500 bonds in $1,000 denomination and they disappeared from Crown Trust Co.

81 DYNAMITE STICKS FOUND UNDER BRIDGE

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—An explosives expert from Canadian Forces Base Chilliwack, took possession Wednesday of 81 sticks of dynamite found under Pattullo Bridge. The dynamite was found by two youths fishing near the bridge, which crosses the Fraser River.

Montreal Police Dismantle Bomb

MONTREAL (CP) — A bomb was discovered and dismantled by police a few hours before it was set to explode near parked police cars at an automobile sales and service company Wednesday.

A police spokesman said the bomb—discovered by employees of the automobile company in the northwest-end of the city—was made up of four sticks of dynamite, a detonator and a clock.

The device was similar to 35 others which have been planted at various points in the city recently.

"I don't know why they would pick my place to set a bomb," said Benjamin Kantor, manager of Trans-Island Motors Lt.

"We haven't had any labor troubles recently."

His company sold 157 vehicles to the Montreal Police department a few months ago.

It was the 10th bomb dismantled by police since Sept. 11. Last Friday one bomb exploded and another was found in the T. Eaton Co. downtown department store. Two employees were injured.

NEW DATSUN 1000 from $1845

SUGGESTED RETAIL PRICE P.O.E., VANCOUVER, TORONTO, MONTREAL

The newest thing in the small car world is happening now! It's the Datsun 1000 and it comes in two deluxe models—2-door and 4-door.

Both are sporty small cars that look good, feel right and go great! What's the difference between them? A couple of doors and $100. And practically all they need to run on is your love.

more horses These Datsuns deliver more horsepower and perform better than other cars anywhere near the price. The new Datsun 1000 produces 62 wild horses and winds up to 84 MPH on the road. And for every gallon you'll go 35-40 miles. What's more, Datsun gives you 100,000 mile reliability.

fun way to drive A Datsun is honest transportation. It seats four in comfort or five if you squeeze a little. You get a slick-smooth 4-on-the-floor gear shift that puts the fun back into driving. And the rugged suspension takes anything the dirtiest roads dish out. Handling? Great. Talk about turning on a dime — this is as close as you'll get — a tight 26 ft. turning circle. Suddenly parking is a cinch!

all the good things In the comfort department you get reclining bucket seats, soft textured but hard-wearing vinyl upholstery that sneaks air around you as you drive, instant-acting 2-speed heater/defroster, real carpets and cigarette lighter. You also get: white walls, bumperettes, a double horn, two padded sun visors, 2-speed wipers, windshield washers, padded dash, safety harnesses and a rust-resistant body. There are also a couple of options if you want them: a clock and radio — but they cost extra. Sorry about that.

New Datsuns — more than ever the more-for-your-money cars — are backed by more than a million dollars in parts (if you ever need them) and 150 dealers coast-to-coast in Canada. In North America there are over 700 Datsun dealers to help you.

Test drive the new Datsun 1000 sedans soon — they'll set you free!

It Was A Smooth Bellyflop

Navy Men Land In Faulty Plane

By PETE LOUDON

Sightseers in cars lined roadways around Victoria airport Wednesday afternoon to watch two men in a disabled aircraft gamble with destruction.

After four hours circling to use up fuel they made a perfect approach, eased to ground on a blanket of foam — and emerged smiling.

Waving off a medical officer with a hypodermic poised, Capt. Ross McGillivray, 46, of Brentwood, said he wasn't worried at all.

Leading Seaman Henry Fortin, observer and sole crew member on the flight which began in early morning at Comox, said he also was unshaken by the event.

L-S Fortin told newsmen that it was after the twin-engined plane left Comox base they became aware of trouble with the landing gear. They found they could lower only one wheel.

It was 9:45 a.m. when the navy announced the Tracker would circle until at least 1 p.m. to use up fuel, then attempt a bellylanding on the north-south strip fronting the VU33 Utility Squadron at Patricia Bay.

Road Closed

Naval firemen immediately began laying a coating of fire-quenching foam along a quarter mile "touch down" area. Two ambulances took standby positions and traffic along a road connecting with the Victoria airport, which crosses the approach route, was closed off.

Armed Forces personnel repeated time and again how commonplace is the no-wheels landing procedure. But they gathered in knots to watch as landing time approached.

Capt. McGillivray made two "dummy runs" before attempting to set down his aircraft, cruising over the field at a level of about 100 feet. He made a third circle at higher altitudes then came in from the south purposefully low. It was almost 2 p.m.

'This Is It!'

"This is it," someone shouted. Fire trucks rolled out, ready to track the plane down the airstrip, ambulances close behind. Almost simultaneously, a huge mobile crane headed for the anticipated stopping spot.

The huge aircraft came in smoothly and slowly, slid gracefully where it had been planned she would slide, and not until her momentum was gone did she topple easily on her port wing.

Capt. McGillivray said later he had feathered his props and shut off power to prevent them throwing pieces of asphalt.

He said both he and L-S Fortin had tightened themselves as firmly as possible into their seat harness.

"I've experienced rougher normal landings," he joked.

The captain said he had never had occasion before to make a crash landing but had been trained in the procedures. Both he and L-S Fortin said no thought had been given to parachuting and abandoning the aircraft.

'Far Different'

Their only feelings were "that it was going to be far different from a normal landing."

They said they could have remained aloft for another 20 minutes according to their fuel indicators.

Could they have made a water landing in an emergency?

"No. They don't stay up at all and it's harder to judge a landing on water than on the asphalt." Capt. McGillivray said the soft grass separating the runways wouldn't have been a good choice either.

The aircraft would have dug into it and there would have been more chance of slewing to one side and flipping.

The captain said both men are married. L-S Fortin's wife lives at Sidney. The captain's wife and two of his three children live at Brentwood.

He said base officials had kept his wife informed of his problems from the time they arose.

And he was about to phone her and tell her he was going to be home for dinner.

Beatings Alleged

CALGARY (CP)—Mr. Justice W. J. C. Kirby of the Alberta Supreme Court has asked for an investigation into allegations that RCMP at Banff, Alta., beat two men last July 27.

Mr. Justice Kirby said evidence given by two witnesses, Daniel Lee Waddell and Russell George Robert Lemieux, at a trial Tuesday seriously reflected on the conduct of the Banff RCMP detachment.

Uvic Fears Influx Of Foreigners

The University of Victoria still admits foreign students on visas seeking an education in Canada, registrar Ronald Ferry said Wednesday.

But Uvic officials are investigating an anticipated influx of students — particularly from Hong Kong—before next year, which could not be handled by present facilities.

Mr. Ferry's statement was made in reply to questions arising from the sit-in at Simon Fraser University.

The SFU student paper, The Peak, this week printed letters allegedly taken from files of the registrar's office there, indicating foreign students were being barred from the mainland universities.

Only a few foreign students are now registered at Uvic, Mr. Ferry said. However, there are an estimated 205 of them now upgrading their qualifications at Vancouver Island secondary schools.

Universities in the province are now becoming overcrowded and will not be able to accommodate large numbers of foreign students without cutting into space for students native to the province, Mr. Ferry said.

Anyone with suitable standards is now considered for admission, but the schools are running out of space. Students turned away from UBC next year may try to get into Uvic, adding to the already large numbers expected.

MAJORITY AMERICAN

Of the 205 total at Uvic 108 are from the United States and 97 are from other countries, an immigration official said.

One school in Victoria—Malvern and Westerham—has 22 students from Hong Kong who arrived in September. Others are attending other private schools and the Institute of Adult Studies.

In one of the letters from The Peak, SFU registrar J. E. A. Parnell was reported to have said hundreds of Hong Kong students were seeking admittance to university in the Vancouver area.

According to the letter, Mr. Parmell wrote to education minister Donald Brothers:

"Students from Hong Kong are taking advantage of the easier entry to an extent that was probably not foreseen by those who amended the Immigration Act."

He was referring to a white paper in 1967 which eased immigration regulations.

REMENDOUS PRESSURE

"At the present time the combined enrolments of the two recognized universities in Hong Kong provide fewer places for students than does the University of Victoria," the letter said.

"The pressure to obtain places in universities is tremendous.

"The solution being taken by many families is the sending of their children to our schools, starting as early as Grade 3, with the expectation that completion of secondary schooling here will make them eligible for admission to our universities.'

The letter said students at other institutions on visas are not considered for transfer to the University of B.C. until they have earned a first degree.

"Students are therefore being refused admission here if they come through the secondary school system or through junior colleges."

Universities other than UBC may find the burden of such foreign students "more than they should bear," the letter said, and the Immigration Act might be reappraised.

Mr. Brothers said he had turned the letter over to his senior officials for investigation.

Meanwhile, the university here will do its best to "look after students now in the province," Mr. Ferry said.

"However, the committee on entrance requirements and standards is now studying the matter."

Youngsters Want Bottles For Needy

The youngsters at the drop-in centre that has established itself in the basement of Centennial United Church are looking for empty bottles to fill a Christmas hamper.

Anyone who wants to get rid of a basement-full of empty bottles is asked to contribute them to this Saturday's campaign.

The young people have arranged for a fleet of cars to collect the empties, which will be cashed in to pay for a Christmas hamper for a needy local family. Any money left will go towards a holiday celebration at the centre.

Numbers to call between 9 a.m. and noon Saturday are 382-8532 and 383-0611.

$3,000 A BED PRICE QUOTED BY CITY FIRM

A claim that extended care hospital beds can be built for $3,000 a bed will be investigated by the Regional District Hospital Board.

Making the claim in a letter to the board is Neptune Development Limited, 2511 Sinclair Road, Victoria.

S. E. Soward, president, said his company could build a 155-bed unit for less than $500,000 or approximately $3,000 a bed.

But he didn't say whether the company could do that in the public hospital field or as a private development of their own.

H did promise the latest "programmed, computerized management procedures and operating techniques."

The board instructed consultant Andrew Pitkethley to take a closer look at the offer, just in case the board can cut its costs by more than 50 per cent on construction.

Block Sales Study Launched by SEC

By RICHARD HALLORAN
The Washington Post

Securities and Exchange Commission chairman Manuel Cohen Wednesday appointed Prof. Donald Farrar of the Columbia University Business School to direct a study of institutional investors and their impact on the securities market.

Cohen also announced that he is consulting with securities executives, economists and other interested groups for nominations to a committee to advise the study.

Farrar, who will take a leave, will report to the SEC at the end of the current university semester.

FORESTALLS NIXON

Cohen's announcement appeared to be an effort to foreclose an option to president-elect Richard M. Nixon. Mr. Nixon, who was critical of SEC during the presidential campaign, is reported to be considering a similar investigation.

The president-elect, however, wants the study done by an independent group, outside the purview of the SEC itself. The Twentieth Century Fund has been reported as a possible candidate to do the job.

The SEC study has been authorized by Congress but no funds have been appropriated for it. Wall Street would prefer a non-SEC study along the lines Nixon envisions.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA—Purchase of U.S. funds in terms of the Canadian dollar was quoted by the Royal Bank today at $1.07 1/16 for cheques, $1.06⅞ for cash, $1.05⅝ for silver. Sales were $1.07¾ for cheques and $1.07⅞ for cash.

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was unchanged at $1.07 5/16. Pound sterling was down ¼ at $2.56.

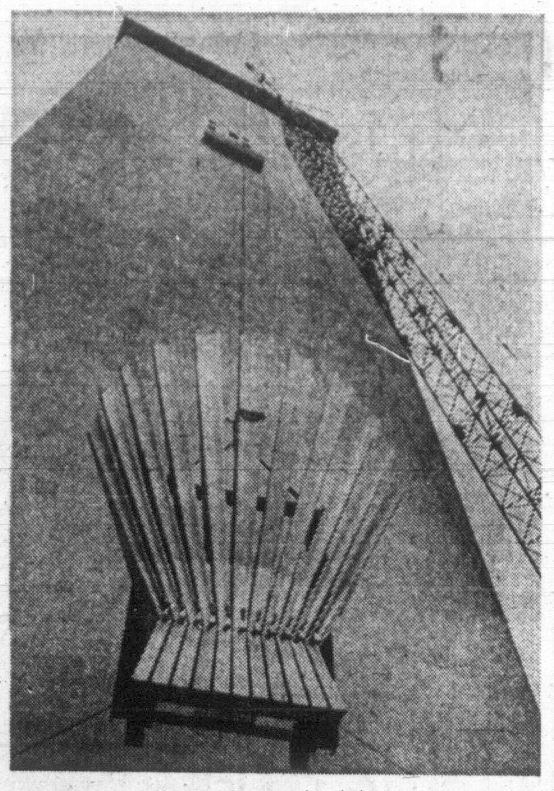

NEW YORK (AP)—Closed.

Melchers Looking West

MONTREAL (CP) — Melchers Distilleries Ltd. Wednesday announced a $6 million expansion of its plant at Berthierville, Que., and said that studies are under way for e. ual expansion to the west coast.

Sarto Marchand, president and managing director, told the 40th annual meeting of shareholders that 75 per cent of the expansion program would be completed within the next eight months.

Involved is the enlargement of the plant with the addition of a new bottling and administration building as well as two 20,000-barrel warehouses.

WORLD renowned symbol of Royal Dutch and Shell companies was chosen by Shell Canada Ltd. for modern, stylized motif hung from the 18th floor of head office building in Toronto. The 15,000-pound aluminum and steel scallop shell is 30 feet high, 20 feet wide and required one of the largest mobile cranes in Canada to hoist it into place. Lamps outline the shell at night.

Complex Taking Shape

Chairman J. C. Barrow of Simpsons-Sears Ltd. Wednesday got his first look at the company's $10 million Victoria project since it began a year ago.

He said he was impressed.

The Toronto-based executive was here on a flying trip to look at the company's new shopping complex at Hillside and Shelbourne, departing within two hours for Vancouver where he was to have business discussions with Simpsons-Sears officers.

Originally scheduled to host Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen at luncheon and to give the mayor a guided tour of the project, Mr. Barrow was more than two hours late arriving in the city due to headwinds encountered by his aircraft and a delay in leaving Regina Wednesday morning.

•

The mayor was unable to tour the store because of a regional district meeting at 2:30 p.m.

Mr. Barrow said progress in construction of the two-storey retail store, an automotive service building and air conditioned shopping mall connecting the store with existing shops was going according to schedule. Dominion Construction Co. is the development contractor.

Opening of the project will be in mid-February, according to current plans. There will be a staff of some 450 persons and training classes get under way next week.

Basic construction is virtually complete, with interior finishing the next phase to be completed.

•

Color co-ordination will be a feature of interior decor to arrest the attention of persons entering the department store from either the mall or one of four other main doors.

The building has glass-sided escalators, a mail order department, parcel pickup, garden centre extending into an exterior court, lunch bar and a full range of departments handling clothing, hardware, sporting goods, furniture, appliances, draperies, yardage and towellings, toys, carpets, and sundry items.

The main floor will house fashion apparel for men, women and children; sporting goods and garden centre, with about half of it carpeted. Hardware, lamps, cafe, executive offices, furnishings, rugs and applicances will be on the second floor.

Awarded Contract

Fraser River Pile Driving Co. Ltd., of New Westminster has been awarded a $28,505 contract for repairs to the ferry landing on Digby Island, site of the Prince Rupert airport, the federal works department has announced.

St. Regis Buys

St. Regis Paper Co. of New York will acquire full ownership of Northwestern Pulp and Power Ltd. of Hinton, Alta.

St. Regis previously owned 50.25 per cent of Northwestern. The remainder is held by North Canadian Oils Ltd. Company officials said an agreement in principle had been reached on the sale.

The transaction would involve $15 million plus undisclosed amounts in 6 per cent convertible debentures.

Hawker-Siddeley

The Canadian section of Britain's Hawker Siddeley group likely will show a "modest" profit for this year, the company said Thursday.

Profit will include a capital write-off of about $15 million arising from the disposal of its holdings in Dominion Steel and Coal Corp.

The company said net profit for the group for the calendar year 1968—excluding Canada—is expected to be at about the 1967 level of about $22.6 million.

N. and Central Gas

Northern and Central Gas Corp. Ltd. had net income of $8.67 million or 57 cents a share in the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with $7,88 million or 50 cents in the similar 1967 period.

Revenues climbed to $97.73 million from $90.38 million.

President E. C. Bovey said in an interim shareholders' report that the company expects the higher earnings trend to continue into 1969.

Business Has Social Role To Enact

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian business must be willing to accept, and sometimes initiate social change if it is to survive, John R. O'Dea, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

"Change is always inconvenient, frequently expensive and invariably demanding," he told a luncheon of the CMA's Quebec division.

"But we expect and accept it at the business level, knowing very well that we not only must be responsive to change but must on occasion initiate it as a matter of corporate survival. I suggest we face essentially the same challenge today at the social level."

He said attacks "currently being made on our whole social and economic system" will only be successfully repelled if management increasingly seeks to understand social change and associates itself with it.

Four Quebec Papers Under New Owners

MONTREAL (CP) — Granby's only daily newspaper, La Voix de l'Est, and three Montreal French-language weeklies have been purchased by Les Journeaux Trans-Canada Limitee from Communica Limitee.

The announcement, made jointly by the two companies, did not mention a sale price.

The three Montreal weeklies involved are Le Petit Journal, with a circulation of 235,623, Photo-Journal, circulation 134,563 and Derniere Heure, circulation 44,016.

La Voix de l'Est, serving 10 counties mainly in the Eastern Townships, has an average daily circulation of 10,884.

Les Journeaux Trans-Canada Ltee., known in English as Trans-Canada Newspapers Ltd., already publishes Le Nouvelliste, a Trois-Rivieres daily, La Tribune, a Sherbrooke daily, La Patrie, a Montreal weekly, Dimanche Matin, a Montreal Sunday newspaper, and approximately a dozen weeklies in the Montreal area.

The majority shares of Trans-Canada Newspapers are owned by Gelco Ltd., and by La Societe Generale de Publication Inc. Last year, Gelco Ltd. purchased Montreal La Presse, North-America's largest French-language daily.

Mysterious "Daughter of Israel" Tossed Lotion Container in Commons.

Not Even Dief Noticed The Buddha-Bottle Thrower

OTTAWA (CP) — Tightened Commons security measures in the wake of a Parliament Buildings bomb incident 2½ years ago didn't deter a woman from flinging an object onto the Commons floor Wednesday.

The missile turned out to be a empty plastic men's lotion container—with a cryptic message to Prime Minister Trudeau.

The Commons was mid-way through debate on a motion for an emergency debate on western wheat when the missile whistled over the heads of reporters in the press gallery, at the north end of the House.

The green container, shaped like a tiny Buddha, knocked over a glass of water beside Commons Clerk Alistair Fraser and broke into two pieces which landed on both sides and in front of the chair of Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

Few MPs noticed the incident and the debate never faltered.

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker, on his feet at the time, apparently didn't notice the interruption. Prime Minister Trudeau left the chamber seconds later, then returned within minutes. It is not known whether he left because of the incident.

The middle-aged woman who threw the bottle was not identified by Commons guards, who hustled her from the public gallery. She was released after a brief interrogation, and refused to give her name to reporters.

CONTAINED A NOTE

Attached to the bottle by a string was this message:

"Because of you, Mr. prime minister, the philosophy of the gods is filling the land. You stupid innocent; you know not what it is that you do. I will strangle the gods who put the way of death before my people. I will help Israel for in his mouth is to be found the philosophy for life."

The woman later told reporters she is not a Jew but a "Christian, in a sense."

Her action was motivated by the "growing threat of popular Buddhism" in Canada, she said.

"The Lord God is going to cry out from the heights against those who destroy his vineyard and who drive out his chosen ones."

Her purpose was to "help Israel as a son of man."

Paul Joseph Chartier died May 18, 1966, when a homemade bomb he apparently intended to toss into the Commons exploded prematurely in a washroom near one of the public galleries.

Leaflets and a container of animal blood have also been hurled into the chamber.

After the Chartier incident the Commons protective staff tightened security arrangements. Visitors now must leave parcels at convenient locations, the number of guards has been increased and those with regular Commons business must carry identification.

Many Baptized In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — A poll taken in the large industrial city of Gorki by the Young Communist League magazine showed that 60 per cent of the babies were baptized despite a half-century of official atheism in the Soviet Union. Molodoi Kommunist, the magazine, said most of the parents listed themselves as non-believers. Of the parents polled, 20 per cent belonged to the Young Communist League, whose members are supposed to be militant supporters of official doctrine.

SEVEN SEEK VANCOUVER MAYOR'S SEAT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two late entries listed their names before nominations closed at noon Wednesday, bringing to seven the number seeking the post of mayor of Vancouver.

Mayor Tom Campbell will be opposed by Alan Herbert Emmott, who is giving up the mayoralty post in Burnaby to enter the race in Vancouver; Peter Graham, whose two-year aldermanic term expires this year; cost accountant John Lars Erik Norstrom; freelance writer Charles Allan Mackay Patterson; carbaret owner George Robert Reeds, and golf club steward James Whitham.

JOKING GOVERNOR-GENERAL Roland Michener shares laughs with Florence and Ken MacDonald during tea at University of Victoria Wednesday. The MacDonalds accepted Governor-General's Medal on behalf of their son, Jack, top graduate at the university last spring and now taking post-graduate studies in the U.S. Representatives from faculty, senate, students, board of governors and administration crowded into lounge in the McPherson Library to meet the vice-regal couple.

Michener Presents Medal First Time in Own Image

Governor-General Roland Michner met many people in his tour of Greater Victoria Wednesday but none prouder then the parents of Jack MacDonald.

It turned out to be something of a first for the Queen's representative in Canada.

"This is the first time I've presented my own medal," he told Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacDonald of Armine Place when he met them in the librarian's lounge at the University of Victoria.

They accepted the Governor-General's Medal on behalf of their son Jack, 21, currently taking post-graduate studies at Yale.

VANIER'S IMAGE

Mr. Michener said the medals he had presented to date had the image of his predecessor, the late George Vanier. This was the first which bore his own image.

Jack MacDonald, an honors political science student, headed the list of 437 candidates in Uvic's 1968 graduating class. He is a graduate of Oak Bay Senior Secondary school and earned first-class honors through his four years in political science.

He is now studying international relations and political theory on a $4,000 renewable scholarship at Yale, having to give up a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to receive the Yale award.

The Governor-General's Medal is awarded to the top student graduating from arts and sciences.

About 50 representatives from faculty, student body, administration, senate and board of governors were on hand to see the presentation and meet the vice-regal couple.

Earlier in the afternoon the Micheners spent 30 minutes touring the new provincial museum. They were escorted by W. K. Kiernan, minister of recreation and conservation, and Dr. Bristol Foster, the museum's deputy director.

After the university tea the Governor-General played squash at the Victoria Racquet Club before an informal dinner at Government House.

The vice-regal party flew out of Victoria International Airport this morning for a six-day visit in Vancouver, starting with a civic reception and luncheon at noon.

Mr. Michener's first official visit to B.C. since being named Governor-General 18 months ago began Monday and ends next Wednesday when he flies back to Ottawa.

Regional Planning Delayed Awhile

Plans to bring the Capital Region Planning Board under regional board jurisdiction have been shelved for at least three months.

The decision was made Wednesday at the regional board level after directors were informed of divided ranks among municipalities.

Esquimalt and Central Saanich have endorsed the plan to make planning a regional function, but Oak Bay and Victoria have both asked for changes in the letters patent before such a move is made.

Both hold-out municipalities have made it clear that they want clear control of their own zoning and planning although they subscribe to a general regional plan.

NO URGENCY

North Saanich has rejected the proposal, Sidney and Saanich have yet to make a decision.

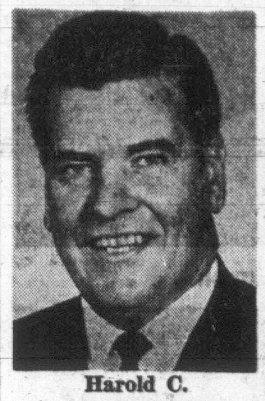

Mayor Hugh Curtis, chairman of the regional board, said he did not feel that there was any urgency in the take-over.

While delaying the take-over action, the board made a decisive step towards finding a solution.

Esquimalt Mayor Ray Bryant suggested that for the first time the committees studying the unification proposal should have as members municipal planners from Victoria and Saanich.

Planners have attended capital region planning sessions, but mostly as observers. Making them regular committee members is expected to eliminate the municipal fear that individual municipalities could lose their planning rights under the proposed move.

Before Magistrate

Two men who appeared in court a week ago to face a charge of robbery with violence Wednesday elected trial by magistrate.

Roderick O'Toole, 34, and Glen Gordon Wright, 27, both of Victoria, were remanded to Dec. 4 for plea.

They are charged with stealing $32 from Yong Chong, No. 7 564½ Herald. They asked for the remand in order to obtain legal counsel. Bail has been set at $2,000 each.

David H. Flatman, 2232 Cranmore, was ordered to post a $500 six-month good-behavior bond for the possession of a spring knife. Magistrate William Ostler also ordered the weapon confiscated.

George B. Houston, 74, of 1064 Bank, was fined $100 after he pleaded guilty to shoplifting $4.20 worth of groceries from the Town and Country Safeway Nov. 14.

Police said he took two apple turnovers, two steaks, one package of oranges and a box of saran wrap from the store without paying for them.

Defence counsel said he attributed the theft to financial circumstances and age.

"Incidents of shoplifting in this area are so great it can't be overlooked," said Magistrate Ostler.

Non-Returnable Bottles Called Health Hazard

B.C. farmers want non-returnable bottles eliminated from retail outlets because they are a serious hazard to livestock and people.

Ted Watson of Whonnock told the B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention here Wednesday that pop and beer should only be sold in bottles which are returnable or in containers which disintegrate after exposure to weather for a time.

"Children used to clean up the countryside of bottles when they were bought back by retail outlets," he explained.

He said the sale of soft drinks and beer in cans which do not disintegrate after a time was also dangerous.

"Have you ever seen a can wrapped around the foot of an animal?" he said. "They are responsible for bad cuts to livestock."

Rowe Remembers . . .

Paul's Holding Out Against Calgary Calls

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It has been "business as usual" in the Victoria offices of an investment firm during the past few days. The only difference between this week and most others has been in the number of long-distance calls from Calgary . . .

"Are you going to come with us?" the phoners asked Paul T. Rowe.

Peter Liske, Wayne Harris, Don Luzzi, Terry Evanshan and other Stampeders have been the most popular names, but a number of Calgary residents haven't forgotten Paul Rowe's.

This is Grey Cup week, and a nation prepares to turn its eyes on Saturday's football playoff between the Stampeders and Ottawa Rough Riders. The action will be in Toronto, far-removed from Rowe's Victoria office.

There was a time, however, when Rowe was right in the thick of things. The thoughtful ones still remember a great fullback who helped Calgary to its Grey Cup triumph in 1948, and a return to the final in 1949.

"I've had a half-dozen calls from Calgary this week," said Rowe, "but I haven't given in . . . yet."

Wouldn't he like to be in Toronto?

"Lord, yes!" was Rowe's emphatic reply. "But a trip to Toronto might knock 10 years off my life. I think it would be best if I watched the game on television . . ."

Twenty years ago, others watched Rowe, Keith Spaith, Woody Strode, Chuck Anderson and the "peanut kids" from Vancouver — Rod Pantages, Pete Thodos, Ced Giles and Jim Mitchner. Also, there was a good-looking back, fresh out of Calgary junior ranks, by the name of Normie Kwong.

●

They stampeded into Toronto, defeated Ottawa 12-7, and carted Canada's premier football prize back to Calgary. Before, after and during the 1948 game, cowboys, Indians, chuckwagons and western whoopee on Toronto streets transformed a football game into a national classic.

It was Nov. 27, a date that remains fresh in Rowe's memory because of the game, a telegram and a horse.

"I don't think I'll ever forgot that horse," said Rowe. "One of our Calgary fans rode the horse up the steps and into the lobby of the Royal York Hotel after the game. He hitched it to a pillar , then stepped into a bar. The horse started munching away at the stuffing of a chesterfield . . ."

The memorable telegram was delivered to Rowe in Calgary's dressing room at Varsity Stadium. It informed Rowe, affectionately nicknamed "Pappy" by the press and his mates, that his wife had given birth to their youngest son, Bob.

"The telegram came as I was being taped up. It took three guys to help me finish dressing for the game."

A man asked if the telegram helped inspire the Stampeders.

"No . . . not really," Rowe replied. "That team had 'it' anyway.

"Spaith was . . . and is . . . one of the finest quarterbacks I ever saw. We were well-conditioned and had a fine coach in Les Lear."

They also had a "fair" fullback in Paul Rowe, a six-time, western all-star. A standout rusher, Row made his presence felt early with a great defensive play on the opening kickoff.

Ottawa's Howie Turner took the ball on his own six-yard line and almost went all the way for a touchdown. Helped by good blocking, Turner appeared in the clear and headed for a touchdown until Rowe came up from behind to bring down the Ottawa player after a gain of 58 yards.

●

An often-remembered "sleeper" play from Spaith to Normie Hill and an equally-famous "lapse" by Pete Karpuk helped Calgary to its touchdowns. Karpuk ignored a stray lateral, believing the ball would be ruled an "incomplete pass."

While everyone, including some members of the Calgary team, stood around waiting for a whistle, the alert Woody Strode moved in, picked up the ball and took off. Ottawa defenders recovered their wits and managed to bring down the Calgary player on the Rider 10-yard line. On the next play, Thodos went over for the winning major.

Touchdowns were worth only five points then, and blocking was restricted to within three yards of the line of scrimmage. Players' helmets and padding "wasn't quite as good" as the equipment used today.

"But football was fun," remembers Rowe. Like most of the good ones, he went both ways and suspects "today's players don't have as much fun because the game has become so specialized."

Rowe moved from Victoria's English rugby fields to play his first football for the University of Oregon in 1935. Today he is a spry 51. Football scars of a 10-year career still show—around the eyes, on the cleft of his chin, and on the bridge of an oft-broken nose.

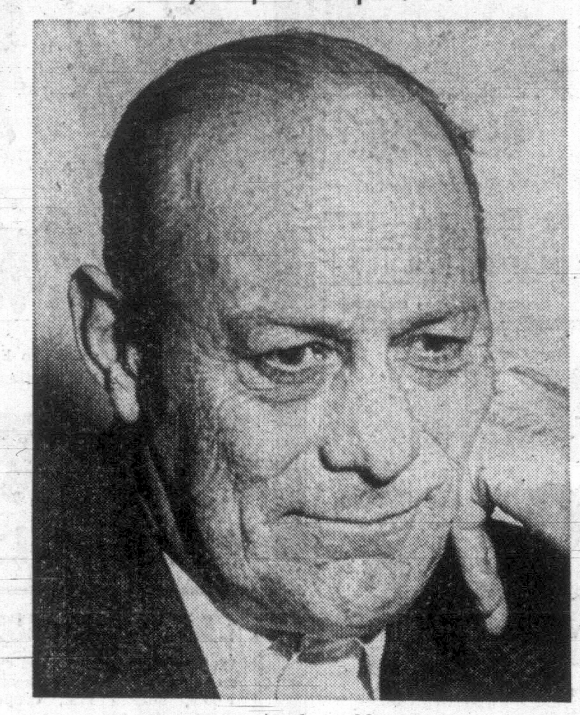

If his eyes reveal an added twinkle, it is because he "likes Calgary" to win Saturday's game. "Actually, I think both have good teams and great passing games, and it may boil down to the condition of the field.

"If it's dry and if Calgary's defence can give (quarterback Russ) Jackson a good rush, then Ottawa may be in for a rough day. A sloppy field would be to Ottawa's advantage."

Paul Rowe's sentiments, however, definitely belong to Calgary.

Grey Cup Triumph . . .

. . . And a Horse

It'll Be Miracle If Cranmer Plays

TORONTO (CP) — Calgary Stampeders say it will take a miracle for halfback Dave Cranmer to play in Saturday's Grey Cup game but Ottawa Rough Riders still wouldn't be surprised to see the Western Football Conference's Rookie of the Year lined up against them.

"Our defence is working on the idea that Cranmer will play," assistant coach Jack Gotta of the Eastern Conference champions said Wednesday night.

The 1 p.m. EST game is to be televised nationally by both CTV and the CBC.

Gotta said that in his playing days in Saskatchewan as an end he performed with a hairline fracture much like the one Cranmer suffered in the final game of the WFC finals against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Even if Cranmer doesn't start, Gotta still respects the running ability of Rudy Linterman, 20, a rookie used to run back punts during the regular season.

"Linterman's plenty fast," said Gotta who was an assistant to coach Eagle Keyes of Saskatchewan before moving over to Ottawa this season.

PLAN WORKOUTS

The Riders arrived here early Wednesday evening and will work out at Centennial Park in nearby Etobicoke today and Friday.

Coach Frank Clair said his game plan now is set and the Riders "will be brushing up on details" from here in.

He had great respect for Calgary's ability to block punts and said the Riders will do some special work on their punt formation.

Clair, who won two Grey Cups coaching Toronto Argonauts and one with the Riders in 1960, also said he has the greatest respect for Calgary's defence.

The Riders got a rousing send-off from about 600 Ottawa fans an hour before they flew here.

Clair assured the fans that the Riders "are not just going to Toronto to play a game; we are going to win the Grey Cup."

Win or lose, Ottawa plans a civic dinner for the team Monday evening.

ALL-STAR GAME WOULD BOOST FUND

TORONTO (CP) — It is expected that plans for a Canadian Football League all-star game next July will be revealed today.

The game would pit the Grey Cup winner, either Calgary Stampeders or Ottawa Rough Riders, against an all-star team selected from the other eight CFL teams.

Proceeds from the contest, which would be played at the home of the Grey Cup winner, would go into the Players' Association pension fund.

Gary Schreider, president of the CFL Players' Association and a former Ottawa Rough Rider, presented the case for an all-star game to CFL leaders Wednesday.

Time for Feasting?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. pro football and television teamed up today to produce a rather agonizing dilemma for thousands of families around the country:

How to fit the real Thanksgiving feast in with pro football's double doubleheader feast on the tube.

It was a chore—especially if there was an avid pro fan in the family. A little knob switching resulted in nearly nine solid hours of pro activities.

Detroit, traditionally the site of a noon-time Thanksgiving Day game, opened the TV showing with a match against winless Philadelphia on CBS-TV.

After that, National Football League fans took a brief rest before CBS telecast the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins game from the Cotton Bowl at 6 p.m. EST.

Meanwhile, NBC carried Houston Oilers meeting with Kansas City in the American League at 1:30 p.m. EST, before shifting to the Oakland-Buffalo, at 4 p.m. EST.

BUT WAIT UNTIL . . . . . . CHUCKWAGONS ROLL

Weather Chills Cup Fever

TORONTO (CP) — About 1,000 chilled teen-agers stood and listened to the electronic sounds of two pop bands Wednesday as the Toronto Junior Board of Trade attempted to work this city into a Grey Cup mood.

But the 30-degree temperature under a clear moonlit sky kept the crowd from doing much except a slow sway which appears to be the mood in the downtown area just three days before the Grey Cup final.

Chuckwagons from Calgary haven't started cruising the streets with their flapjacks and there was little fanfare when Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Conference and Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference arrived Wednesday night.

The teams meet in the Canadian Football League final at 1 p.m. EST Saturday for the Grey Cup, which will be televised nationally by both the CBC and CTV.

Earlier in the day, Miss Grey Cup candidates representing the nine league clubs played in an East-West curling match. The western girls won 5-0, playing three ends in their mini-skirt costumes.

The bulk of the out-of-town fans are not due to start arriving until late today or early Friday.

Odds currently favor the Rough Riders to win Saturday's game by five points, but there is expected to be a slight change when the out-of-town fans arrive.

The field at the Canadian National Exhibition Stadium was still a question mark Wednesday, with bare spots and mud that wil probably worsen if it rains before game time.

The long-range forecast calls for possibly cloudy skies and a 50-50 chance of rain or snow Saturday. In any event, the temperature is expected to remain around the 40-degree range.

Retirement Chatter Is Hard to Believe

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nobody really pays much attention when Gordie Howe discusses his retirement plans. And who can blame them?

Howe, who shows no signs of slowing up, scored two goals and assisted on another Wednesday night to help Detroit Red Wings to a 5-2 victory against Philadelphia Flyers.

The 40-year-old right winger now has 698 goals during regular-season National Hockey League competition and will be shooting for the 700-goal plateau tonight when the Red Wings are at home to St. Louis Blues.

Howe has said that he may retire at the end of next season. But it's difficult to imagine Howe out of the NHL.

In other games Wednesday, Montreal Canadiens downed Los Angeles Kings 4-2, Chicago Black Hawks topped New York Rangers 4-2, Oakland Seals tied Minnesota North Stars 3-3, St. Louis held Boston Bruins to a 4-4 stalemate and Toronto Maple Leafs deadlocked Pittsburgh Penguins 3-3.

MOVES INTO SECOND

The three points by Howe gave him 29 for the season and put him in second place in the NHL scoring race—seven back of Bobby Hull of Chicago who added a goal and two assists Wednesday.

Playing in his 1,490th NHL game, Howe scored both his goals within a span of two minutes and 43 seconds in the second period. His first goal at 3:21 tied the game at 1-1 and his second, at 6:04, gave the Red Wings a lead they never relinquished.

Other Detroit goals were scored by Alex Delvecchio, Bob Baun and Ron Harris. Don Blackburn and Dick Sarrazin, both recalled earlier this week from Quebec of the American Hockey League, scored for the Flyers.

A Philadelphia crowd of 11,380 saw the Flyers suffer their fourth consecutive loss.

The Black Hawks, paced by Hull, moved one point ahead of Toronto and into fourth place in the Eastern Division with their victory before 17,250 at New York.

Jim Pappin, Gilles Marotte and Stan Mikita scored the other Chicago goals. Reg Fleming and Jim Neilson replied for the Rangers who dropped into third place in the Eastern Division, one point back of Boston.

Hull assisted on goals by Mikita and Marotte and scored his 15th of the season late in the second period.

Chicago centre Pit Martin suffered a 10-stitch cut above his left eye when he collided with Marotte and New York's Rod Gilbert.

Jim Roberts scored two third-period goals, only his second and third of the season, to give St. Louis its tie against Boston before 15,578 at St. Louis.

The tie left the Blues undefeated in seven consecutive games

INCREASE THEIR LEAD

The Canadiens moved three points on top in the Eastern Division with their victory before a crowd of 12,579 at Los Angeles —the biggest crowd there all season.

Third-period goals by John Ferguson, Gilles Tremblay and Bobby Rousseau gave Montreal the victory. Jean Beliveau scored the other Montreal marker while Los Angeles goals came from Bobby Wall and Real Lemieux.

Ferguson's goal at 14:04 of the final period was the winner, and Rousseau's went into an empty net with only 26 seconds left.

The Maple Leafs gained a tie at Pittsburgh when the infrequently-used Mike Walton scored on a power play at 18:01 of the final period.

Doug Robert's first goal of the season—a drive from 25 feet out with 3:10 gone in the final period—gave Oakland its tie in front of 12,856 Minnesota fans.

The Seals announced after the game that they had completed a trade with Pittsburgh. Oakland sent centre Billy Harris, 33, to the Penguins for left winger Bob Dillabough, 27.

EVIL SPIRITS TO GET CALL FROM INDIANS

CALGARY (CP) — Directors of the Calgary Indian Friendship Centre, angry because they weren't invited to the Grey Cup festivities, are conjuring up a bad-luck dance for the Calgary Stampeders.

Andrew Bear Robe, executive director of the centre, said: "We Indians are pretty upset that Calgary is not sending one Indian to the game."

"We're going to organize a bad-luck dance to wish evil spirits on the team."

The Stampeder committee, which is organizing Calgary representation in the parade and other festivities, decided against sending any Indians because of financial reasons.

Mr. Bear Robe said at least Vivian Ayoungman, Canadian Indian princess should attend and, ideally, about six Calgary Indians should be there too.

"What's more, if Calgary can't send even one Indian they'd better not dress any white people up like Indians," he warned.

Team Entitled To Bike Medal

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — West Germany's world record cycling pursuit team is entitled to the Olympic silver medal despite its disqualification in the Mexico City final against Denmark, International Cycling Federation officials ruled Wednesday.

The decision which is not subject to appeal, came at an executive committee meeting of the federation.

The Germans, leading comfortably in the final, were disqualified after the jury found that Juergen Kissner had pushed his teammate Karrlheinz Heinrichs.

In addition to the disqualification, the jury proposed to penalize the Germans by giving them fourth position following Italy and the Soviet Union who had raced for third and fourth place in the other final.

This prompted an appeal by the Germans who had set a world record of 4:15.76 for the 4,000-metre event and had been heavy favorites to win the gold medal.

Gulls Blast Runners As Bucks Trip Spurs

San Diego Gulls stayed two points ahead of Portland Buckaroos Wednesday night by trimming Phoenix Roadrunners, 7-2, before 8,457 San Diego fans.

Buckaroos kept the pressure on the Western Hockey League leaders by edging the Spurs, 3-2, before 4,369 Denver fans.

In a third game, Seattle Totems moved within two points of the third-place Vancouver Canucks with a 5-2 win watched by 4,967 Seattle fans.

Fred Hilts, who connected once on a penalty shot, and Alex Faulkner each scored twice for the Gulls.

Jim Cardiff, John MacMillan and Dave Richardson scored the other San Diego goals and Andre Pronovost and Sandy Hucul counted for Roadrunners.

SAUNDERS SCORES

A third-period goal by Gerry Goyer settled matters in Denver. Bill Saunders, getting a point in his 14th consecutive game, and Norm Johnson got the other Portland goals.

Jim Holdaway and Wilf Martin scored for Spurs.

Held to two shots in the first period as Canucks took a 1-0 lead on Brian Hextall's goal, Totems finally got untracked midway through the second period.

Augusta Officials Reply to Charlie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Race has never barred any qualified golfer from being invited to play in the Masters Golf Tournament, officials of the golf classic say.

In an unprecedented statement Wednesday, officials of the famed Augusta tournament replied to charges by Charlie Sifford that he has never been invited to the April event because he is a Negro.

"Every U.S.A. golfer, regardless of his racial background, has an opportunity to qualify for a Masters Tournament invitation," the committee declared.

However, no Negro has ever played in the Masters.

The committee said: "We doubt that anyone seriously expects us to change these qualification regulations in order to accommodate one person."

In its reply to Sifford's complaints, the committee said there are complaints each year from golfers not invited to the Masters "and we understand their feelings and normally make no response.

"In Mr. Sifford's case, we shall make an exception because he has several times publicized his displeasure about not receiving a player invitation, and now intimates that his color is a factor.

"Sifford is well aware of these various opportunities open to him to qualify, and he also knows that if he is successful an invitation will be forthcoming. Despite the remarks ascribed to him, we wish him well."

PENNY'S GOING . . . . . . BACK TO RACING

One-Second Pro Debut

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Would-be woman jockey Penny Ann Early made her professional basketball debut Wednesday night in Louisville before over 5,000 fans.

One second later it was all over.

The 25-year-old blonde threw the ball in from the sidelines with 8:06 to play in the second quarter for the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association. At 8:07 the Colonels called time and she was replaced.

Before her brief appearance, Miss Early sat nervously on the bench mumbling, "Let me at 'em. Let me at 'em." But after she threw the ball in and Colonels' business manager, Charlie Mastin, presented the colorful ABA red-white-and-blue ball to her, she looked as if she knew what was going to happen all the time.

Tomorrow, Miss Early said, she goes back to horseracing.

She will attempt to ride at Latonia near Cincinnati, where, she claims, she has been promised a mount.

For her pro basketball debut against the Los Angeles Stars, Miss Early wore a bright green mini-skirt and a snug fitting white sweater.

The Colonels had signed her to a one-game contract after hearing about her unsuccessful attempts to ride at Churchill Downs.

Tall Grocers Threaten To Take Over Top Spot

Christmas is a time for giving, but Vancouver Grocers hope to do a lot of taking before Inter-City Junior Men's Basketball League teams break for the holiday season.

Victoria Chinooks might be stuck with the tab!

At present the hottest team in the league, Grocers are riding a three-game winning streak and could grab a share of first place with Chinooks by collecting a victory tonight in Vancouver over Killarney Community Centre.

The moment of truth arrives this weekend, with Grocers playing Chinooks in Central Junior High School at 8:45 p.m. Saturday and 2:15 p.m. Sunday in a series that will end the 1968 portion of the Chinook schedule.

Grocers will have one pre-Christmas game remaining after the weekend activities.

Chinooks will have other statistics to contend with as well, such as the six-three average height of the grocers.

GREATER DEPTH

Led by returning all-stars, guard Don Redmond and forward Don Gately, second to Victoria's Ollie Moilanen in the scoring race last season, Grocers also have greater depth than they owned a year ago.

Doug Bangle, a strong rebounder from Wenatchee Junior College, stands six-foot, six-inches and Bob Beaupre, a six-foot, four-inch forward and former B.C. high school all-star, is playing for the club after a year with McGill University.

From Simon Fraser junior varsity comes Bob Phillips, another forward, and Don Marshall, who received honorable mention in the all-star team voting last season, has moved over from Killarney.

KILLIES WIN

Holdovers include guard Bill Bazaluk, forwards Gary Kalmas, Bob Johal and Steve Woods while rookies Rob Noble, from Vancouver Junior College and Rick Zein, from Winston Churchill, complete the lineup.

"Mini" or "Linament-League" games preceed each of the weekend games, with Victoria Press out to crush CFAX Saturday at 7:45 p.m. and Principals battling Firemen at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Killies bounced past CYO Saints 93-63 in the only league contest Wednesday to move into a third place tie with North Shore.

Ron Olynyk and Elgin Reid fired 15 points each to pace the win while Steve Herbrik added 14. Danny Shore nailed 13 points and Brent McLean 11 for losers.

Bearded Witness Witty And Certain of Errors

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tugging frequently at his salt-and-pepper colored beard, Dr. Hans Jaffe was an impressive figure on the witness stand.

He was witty, precise and confident of one thing: Some of the evidence used against Dancer's Image was valueless.

Jaffe made this observation to the Kentucky Racing Commission Wednesday, pointing out that spectrophotometric evidence which he had reviewed contained some errors.

This is a field in which Jaffe is considered an expert. He has written numerous pamphlets and books on spectrophotometric analysis and in addition is head of the chemistry department at the University of Cincinnati.

CALLED BY FULLER

Jaffe was called as a witness in the commission's hearing by Peter Fuller, who is trying to set aside a ruling from Churchill Downs stewards that Dancer's Image is not entitled to the $122,600 winner's purse of the Kentucky Derby.

The stewards took such action after state chemist Kenneth W. Smith reported the colt had traces of phenylbutazone in his urine after the May 4 race. The medication is legal in Kentucky as long as it is discontinued so that all traces have disappeared from the horse's system by the time it races.

MISTAKES POSSIBLE

One of the tests employed by Smith was run on the spectrophotometer, which uses ultraviolet light to reach a finding.

Jaffe said it was apparent that either the machine was malfunctioning or the operator made some mistakes while using it.

Earlier, an analytical chemist, Dr. Gerald Ubreit of Chadds Ford, Pa., said the tests produced by Smith's laboratory were not specific or conclusive enough to prove the presence of phenylbutazone.

Hungarian Player Paces Alumni Win

Frank Kover, former Hungarian national player, sparked the Victoria Alumni to a 15-5 and 15-13 victory over YMCA during Victoria Senior Men's Volleyball League action at CFB Esquimalt gymnasium.

In other games, CFB Esquimalt whipped Victoria Independents 15-1 and 15-6; Claremont downed Queens Own Rifles by 15-6, 15-6 scores; Alumni defeated Rifles 10-8 and 15-0; Esquimalt subdued YMCA 15-6, 15-6 and Claremont bounced Independents 10-6, 15-8.

Governors Will Discuss Deal for Larry Hillman

MONTREAL (CP)—Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, said Wednesday a board of governors meeting will be held in New York Monday to discuss last Friday's three-way deal involving Larry Hillman.

Hillman remained with Montreal Canadiens after the agreement and after Campbell's office had nullified an earlier trade involving the player.

The Canadiens, Minnesota North Stars and Pittsburgh Penguins were all involved in the deal that had started a week earlier with Minnesota sending Hillman to Montreal for left winger Brian Smith.

However, after appearing in Montreal uniform for three games, Campbell ruled that Hillman first should have been put on waivers by Minnesota because he had appeared on a protected player list in last June's draft.

In order to circumvent the situation, the North Stars put Hillman on waivers for the $30,000 asking price. Pittsburgh paid the Minnesota club $30,000 for Hillman and the North Stars then paid Montreal $30,000 for Smith.

NOT ALL SATISFIED

Finally, Montreal purchase the 31-year-old Hillman from Pittsburgh for $30,000 and Jean-Guy Lagace, a defenceman with Amarillo, Tex., of the Central Hockey League.

Campbell said not every club was satisfied with the deal.

He said that the NHL constitution allows for such meetings to be called as long as three of the 12 clubs request a caucus. Bill Jennings, governor of New York Rangers, is chairman of the board and club requests for a meeting are handled through his office.

FIRST OF KIND

The NHL president said he could not recall such a meeting being called before over player exchanges.

He said the problem of Oakland Seals, plagued by little attendance and ownership changes, is not on the agenda.

However, he did not rule out the possibility of considerable discussion of the Oakland problem at Monday's meeting.

Nelson Selected

NELSON (CP) — Nelson Women's Curling Club will be hosts for the British Columbia Women's Curling Association playdowns Feb. 9-11.

The competition will determine which rink will represent the province in the Canadian championship to be held in Fort William, later the same month.

Turkish Roads Hold Dangers

SIVAS, Turkey (UPI)—Ninety of the 98 starters in the London-to-Sydney auto marathon arrived here Wednesday night after some hair-raising experiences on the dangerous roads of Central Anatolia.

The husband-and-wife team of Nick and Jenny Brittan narrowly escaped injury when their Lotus Cortina hit a horse at almost 100 miles an hour. The animal's body shattered their windscreen and landed on the roof of their car.

British drivers D. Lumsden, P. Sargeant, R. Lewis and J. Senton escaped injury when their Chrysler Valiant Estate sideswiped a truck three miles after the Instanbul checkpoint.

Seattle Must Wait For Pro Grid Team

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle will get a professional football franchise but it may not be for four or five years, the commissioner of the sport said Wednesday.

Commissioner Pete Roselle said the leagues do not favor franchise shifts as a general policy and the addition of a new city like Seattle through expansion would take four or five years.

TWO FORMER players with Victoria Maple Leafs have been shifted by their National Hockey League teams. Milan Marcetta (top) has been sent to Cleveland in American League by Minnesota North Stars while Larry Keenan has been sent to Kansas City in Central League by St. Louis Blues. Keenan will practise with Blues and commute to KC for games during next two weeks.

Rugby Champs Held to Draw

Opening matches in the new Inter-High School Senior Rugby League campaign Wednesday suggested Mount Douglas Mountainmen may have a tough time retaining the title they won last season.

Mountainmen could only manage a 6-6 tie with Victoria High, while last season's defeated Russell Cup finalist, Claremont, smashed Oak Bay 29-0 at Layritz Park.

At Victoria High, all the scoring came in the first half with Brian Turkington scoring two trys for the Vics while Brian Huntington and Mark Hume replied for Mt. Doug with a try and penalty goal.

Claremont was paced by Glen Robinson, with two trys, and Dave Kyle, with two converts and a penalty goal. Max Snobelen, Ray Thornber and Don McLaren added trys for Claremont, ahead 16-0 at the half, while converts were kicked by Ron Bickford and Mike Kirby.

Claremont also swept the junior game, 11-3.

League play continues next Wednesday at 3 p.m. with Mountainmen playing at Mount View and Claremont at Victoria while Oak Bay has a bye.

Racquet Club Duo In Saanich Semis

Linda Smith and Bill Powell of Victoria Racquet Club defeated Jo and Phil Crampton from Cordova Bay 15-14, 14-15, 15-11 Wednesday to gain a semi-final berth in handicap mixed doubles competition at the annual Saanich open badminton championships.

In other action at Brentwood Community Hall, Crampton partnered Richard Harris to edge the Lake Cowichan pair of Kelly Troup and Dick McQuinn 11-15, 15-6, 15-12 in a men's handicap doubles match.

Tonight's play includes the start of veterans' events and continuation of open competition.

Tonight's draw:

7 p.m. — Keith Dixon vs. Dennis Clemett.

KARPIS
. . . then

KARPIS
. . . now

Noted Criminal Canada-Bound

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alvin Karpis, who reigned as Public Enemy No. 1 in the days of Bonnie and Clyde until he was personally captured by FBI director Edgar Hoover, will be paroled from a kidnapping sentence and deported to Canada, the U.S. government announced Wednesday.

The U.S. Parole Board said Karpis, now 60, would be released from the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Wash., on Jan. 14 and escorted across the border to Canada where he was born. He will not be permitted to reenter the United States without the board's written permission.

The parole frees the famed outlaw of the 1930s after he served 32 years of a life sentence for conspiring to kidnap in the 1933 abduction of William Hamm, Jr., a wealthy St. Paul, Minn., businessman.

HOOVER

DEATH THREAT

As leader of the marauding Karpis-Barker gang of the depression, Karpis had threatened to kill Hoover because the FBI chief constantly referred to him publicly as a "rat."

He spread word that he would kill Hoover just as FBI agents had slain his fellow gang leader, Kate (Ma) Barker and her son Fred in a Florida shootout.

Hoover responded to the boast by making the first physical arrest of a criminal in his career after a three-year manhunt for Karpis. Hoover, 73, has been director of the FBI since it was organized in 1924. He was 41 at the time of the Karpis arrest.

The gang was reputed to have killed 10 persons in its bank robbery and other criminal forays.

$100,000 RANSOM

Hoover's arrest of Karpis came after Hamm was abducted in 1933 and released after payment of $100,000 ransom.

Hoover had issued instructions that he wanted to be notified of any information about the hunt for Karpis. When the gangster was spotted living in a Canal Street apartment in New Orleans, Hoover flew there with a squad of special agents to supervise the capture.

When Karpis came out of the building and climbed into his car, Hoover ran to the left side of the vehicle and an assistant circled to the right. Hoover reached into the car and grabbed Karpis before the fugitive could reach for a rifle on the back seat.

On a plane flying him back to Minnesota, the Canadian-born Karpis was quoted as saying, "I know what you're going to do. You guys are going to throw me out of this plane and then say it was an accident."

Hoover was reported to have replied, "Don't be a fool. We don't do things like that."

The parole board said the Canadian government had indicated it would accept Karpis and said a private social welfare agency had guaranteed him a job and a home.

TV Musicians End Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Musicians have voted to end their month-long strike against the three major television networks, it was announced today. They accepted a new two-year pact by a vote of 270 to 263.

Herman Kenin, president of the American Federation of Musicians, said the musicians would return at once, restoring live music to network programming.

Musicians in new York, Los Angeles and Miami balloted on the network proposal Wednesday. It had been recommended by union leaders. They earlier had rejected two other proposals also backed by their leaders.

28,000 Students On 'Vacation'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) — More than 28,000 students in Youngstown public schools were on a 35-day "vacation" today because voters failed to approve a school operating levy Nov. 5.

The rejection was not the first. Six levies have been defeated in this city of 177,000 in the past two years.

The vacation for Youngstown students started Wednesday and ends Jan. 2 when operating money will again be available.

Youngstown is not the first in Ohio to close its public schools because of lack of operating funds.

Perry local schools in Lake County in northern Ohio were closed from Oct. 15 to Nov. 18 because of money problems and voter disapproval. Classes reconvened after a 10-mill levy passed in the Nov. 5 election.

Youngstown school Supt. Woodrow Zinser said he sees one bright spot in his city's crisis—that other large cities will learn the same could happen to them.

CRITICIZED

Zinser was criticized for having the school board restore austerity cuts in September, ordered in 1967 to avoid closing schools then and in an effort to gain passage of the school levy.

"We tried to cut back for a year, but it didn't help us with the levy," he said. "I decided (this year) it was our responsibility to give the best education possible, without frills."

Zinser said the levy was needed "just to catch up . . . not to stay even or get ahead."

He complained textbooks in the city schools are 10-to-15 years out of date. He said students laugh when they read a science book, which predicts "someday we will put a man in space."

Mediator Appointed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Charles Stewart, 54, an official of the Amalgamated Transit Union for 21 years, Wednesday was named a mediation officer with the British Columbia labor mediation commission.

He takes the post effective Dec. 16, the same day as Ed Sims, Canadian director of the Brewery Workers union, whose appointment as a mediator was announced last week.

We are pleased with the enthusiastic reception already accorded our one-week showing of the world's finest luxury timepieces by PIAGET of Geneva, Switzerland.

Using the experience of four generations PIAGET's artist-craftsmen have combined gold and platinum, diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires to produce watches that exemplify perfect harmony in elegance and design.

Every PIAGET watch is in 18k gold or platinum, and over 150 hours of craftsmanship go into each model; that is why they are expensive!

The complete PIAGET collection includes over 500 exclusive models for ladies and gentlemen. It has been exhibited in Paris, Antwerp, Stockholm and other world centres where it has been admired by sophisticated audiences.

In addition to our Piaget Exhibit we are presenting a special showing of our finest diamonds and jewelry pieces. Please remember, a visit entails no obligation on your part.

WEARING a happy birthday smile and a pink corsage, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova cuts a special cake given her by the Ss. Beaver Kiwanis Club this morning as president John Addicott watches. Dr. Hitshchmanova, on a fund-raising campaign for the Unitarian Services Committee, said "this is one of the happiest birthdays I can remember." She spoke Wednesday in Duncan of "miracles" done with Canadian money in poor countries. At the public meeting, more than $300 was collected for the USC. Dr. Hitschmanova will speak Friday at 2 p.m. at Cridge Hall on Blanshard and Humboldt to launch the Times' Children of Asia Fund.

Region Blasts 'No Guarantee' Decision

DUNCAN — Failure to guarantee debentures of Cowichan Valley regional district "defeats one of the primary objects" of the district, the regional board was told Wednesday night.

A decision was taken to send a strong letter of protest to the minister of municipal affairs complaining that such lack of guarantee destroys the concept of the district to "provide the citizens with the most efficient and effective services ... at minimum cost."

The board is asking the government to reconsider its Sept. 26 decision not to guarantee debentures.

It also passed a resolution asking that a letter be sent to all British Columbia districts telling them of the protest made by the Cowichan Valley Group.

Land Transfer Given Approval By Cabinet

CAMPBELL RIVER — Cabinet approval has been given for transfer of two parcels of Crown land to this municipality.

This will give the district almost 24 acres which has been dedicated as a site for a future civic arena. Total cost to the district for acquisition of this land is approximately $270.

A year ago ratepayers turned down a $69,000 referendum for purchase of 11 acres on which to build an arena.

This newly acquired crown land may not be used for some time. Council has no immediate plan to present an arena referendum to the voters.

'Some People Enjoy Hauling Their Own Garbage to Dump'

DUNCAN — Believe it or not some people enjoy hauling their own garbage to the dump, Shawnigan Lake representative David Lavrock told Cowichan Valley regional board Wednesday night.

The comment came during a discussion of a proposal to survey the district for likely places to put garbage disposal units—if the district decides to purchase the units—made by an Australian firm.

Cobble Hill director George Braithwaite said "putting a lot of little incinerators all over the district would not be very economical either."

LEVY TAX

Another suggestion that a tax might have to be levied in order to co-ordinate all garbage pick-up services was not well received because "if you have to add a tax, and we have to go to the people to collect it, then we're still in the garbage business."

The Australian company earlier this week demonstrated on film the effectiveness of the incinerator which gobbles up enormous amounts of garbage—even metal—and reduces it to small amounts of ash. Several small units have been purchases by Vancouver commercial firms.

"The one we would be looking at would have to be the largest," secretary Peter Hayward said. "And that meand $80,000 and a referendum.

A lively discussion ensured over present pickup services available in some areas but chairman George Whittaker said North Cowichan was "committed to go ahead with some sort of incinerator."

A present, garbage is dumped indiscriminately at six or seven open pits throughout the Cowichan Valley district.

Many complaints have been received because of danger of fire, and to children, rat infestation and unsightly refuse blowing along the roadside near the dumps.

It was decided to proceed with the survey conducted by a garbage committee and agents for the company.

ONLY ONE BID FOR GARAGE

DUNCAN — A bid of $17,849 was accepted by Cowichan Valley Regional Board Wednesday night to build an ambulance garage on Canada Avenue on the site of the old public works yard.

The bid, by Duncan contractor Stan Marchessault, was the only one received.

The city supplied the lot to the regional district for $4,000.

Rod, Gun Club Backs Training

GANGES — Salt Spring Island Rod and Gun Club is circulating a petition on the Gulf Islands calling for control and training in the use of firearms.

An earlier petition circulated by realtor Charles Horel and his mother Winnie Watmough of Cusheon Lake had more than 400 signatures at last count but called only for a ban of rifles.

"A shotgun can be just as deadly as a rifle and can wound and maim animals," the new petition contends. "We feel a government-enforced program of training and testing for licences would be a better step towards the prevention of hunting accidents."

Both petitions will be sent to Kenneth Kiernan, minister of recreation and conservation.

The first petition began after the October shooting of Peter Arnell, 38, a Ganges surveyor who was working at Spanish Hills subdivision on Galiano Island when a 17-year-old youth mistook him for a deer.

Rescue Group Gets Grant

PORT ALBERNI — A $2,000 grant to the Alberni Valley Rescue Squadron has been approved in principle by city council.

The sum is to augment $4,000 raised by the rescue squadron for the purchase of a four-wheel drive vehicle to be used in its work.

The squadron is composed of 36 members. This year they were called out on 15 separate occasions to seek lost hunters and downed aircraft.

Youth Trapped In Stolen Car

DUNCAN — The driver of a stolen car spent an hour trapped inside the vehicle after it flipped over while passing another car on the Trans-Canada Highway one-half mile north of here Tuesday night.

The driver, a juvenile, is in satisfactory condition with head cuts in Cowichan Hospital.

Conductor Beats Dayliner By Ending 46-Year Career

As conductor Karl Griffiths prepared to board the Esquimalt and Nanaimo dayliner Wednesday for the last run in his 46-year career with the railway, he mused:

"The local people don't know there is a train—and that's a fact."

Mr. Griffiths, 3003 Cedar Hill, has a feeling that railways are something little known to Victorians. The delight of his job since becoming conductor 2½ years ago has been the tourists who make the excursion to Courtenay and back.

"I go out of my way a bit to show when they can take good pictures.

"It's kind of old hat to me, but the travellers, they really eat it up."

VOLUME TO LOW

The conductor has managed to beat his train into retirement.

CPR, owners of the line, contend the volume of passenger traffic is so low that the dayliner is not paying its way.

They are after federal permission to stop the six-days-a-week return run.

He joined the line in 1922, worked engines until 1926, then left for two years before returning as a trainman.

He shrugged off any romantic ideas about the railway, saying most of his career "has been a job of work."

Nevertheless, it was a job that required a stiff constitution. Asked what his immediate plans are, he replied:

"I'm going to sleep for about a week to make up for the times I rolled out of bed at 2 a.m."

Chinatown Lions Thank Their Women

Victoria Chinatown Lions Club said "thank you" to its women volunteers Wednesday night with a Chinese smorgasbord dinner and dance in the Red Lion Inn.

"They give thousands of working hours to our community projects all the year round," said president Ed Chow, "And particularly to our major fund-raising enterprise, the annual Lantern Festival."

Past-president Colin Sihoe reported that this year's festival, held on Oct. 19 in Central Junior Secondary School, raised $5,400 for Lions Club charities.

He estimated men and women volunteers donated some 4,000 hours of work to this carnival, but the women gave "the lion's share."

Bernard Dong proposed a toast to the women which was responded to be Mrs. Robert Warman.

Visiting Lions from many parts of southern Vancouver Island were welcomed by Willie Eng, master of ceremonies.

President Ed Chow expressed thanks to past district governor Jack Tang and his wife, Bessie, for their "generous support" of all Chinese community projects.

U.K. Yule Card Deadline Today

Today is the deadline for mailing Christmas cards to Great Britain by surface mail — and this year unsealed cards mailed to England require a six-cent stamp.

Cards going to points in North, South and Central America, the West Indies and Spain can still be mailed for five cents.

Because of international agreements a card can be sent to Spain for five cents but it costs six cents for delivery in Britain.

Dec. 9 is the last day for air parcels to Britain; Dec. 14, the last day for air letters. Dec. 11 is the last day for air letters to the European continent.

For distant points in Canada and the United States — Labrador and Newfoundland for example — Dec. 8 is mailing deadline.

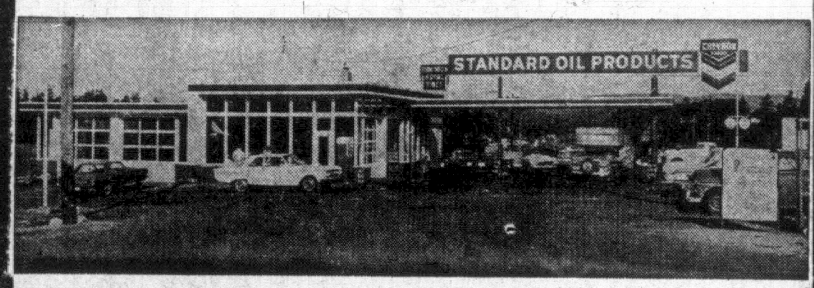

Dec. 13 is the last day for mailing cards to the rest of Canada and if local mail is to arrive in time for Christmas it must be mailed by Dec. 17.

Victoria post office expects to handle more than 3 million Christmas cards this year.

"If they are mailed in bundles, they will be delivered that much faster," a post office spokesman said.

Christmas wrappers for wrapping cards in separate bundles, for local, out-of-town and overseas delivery, are now being distributed throughout the city.

Rush Gold To the North Or U.S. Will

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians may see their Arctic lands taken over by the Russians or Americans if they are not prepared to pay higher taxes, says R. A. J. Phillips, former northern affairs official.

The Russians already know more about the Canadian side of the Arctic than Canadians do, he said in a public lecture at Carleton University. And Canada is generations behind the Russians in work on Arctic sea lanes.

Mr. Phillips, now director of the federal anti-poverty program, formerly was director of northern administration in the old northern affairs department.

He said there will have to be a "national investment"—meaning higher taxes—if northern resources are to be exploited.

Should the North be left to American investment?

"Our heart says no, but what will our pocketbook reply?"

Regional development now stops at the permafrost line, he said. The money was going to provincial government for investments "whose highest hope is a handful of new tourists, a few more pounds of fish.

"Why not invest some of that money where there are solid regional resources to develop?"

Bank Founder Dies

LUCERNE (Reuters) — Youssef Beidas, 56, founder of Beirut's Intrabank, died in a Swiss clinic today, a family friend said. Intra, one of the Middle East's biggest banks, closed in October, 1966, after running out of cash to meet large withdrawals. Lebanese authorities charged Beidas in Brazil at the time, with fraudulent bankruptcy.

DAMAGED SHIP UNDER TOW

The Victoria-based tug Sudbury II Wednesday took under tow a fire-damaged West German freighter and began towing the 7,000-ton vessel about 800 miles to Honolulu.

Two men died after fire broke out Nov. 20 in the engine room of the Cap Colorado, about 1,000 miles northeast of Hawaii. An Indian freighter picked up 23 remaining crew members and toook them to Hawaii.

The Cap Colorado had drifted towards Hawaii after the fire, said the owners of the Sudbury II, Island Tug and Barge.

Both Invited—PM Hopes for One Delegation

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The governments of Canada and Quebec have both been invited to a French-language international conference to which the federal government hopes only a single Canadian delegation will go.

Prime Minister Trudeau confirmed Wednesday that Canada had received an invitation to the conference in the former French African colony of Niger.

Tuesday Quebec Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand revealed that Quebec had been invited. The invitation had come directly from Niger, he said, not by way of Ottawa.

Replying to questions in the Commons Wednesday, Mr. Trudeau reaffirmed former prime minister Lester Pearson's policy on provincial participation at international conferences. A single delegation should attend in the name of Canada, he said, but should include representatives of interested provinces.

But in spite of this stand there were indications that Ottawa hopes to avoid an open confrontation with Quebec on the issue if Premier Bertrand can be persuaded to accept a face-saving compromise.

The whole issue had been treated in Ottawa with strict discretion while quiet negotiations have been carried on with Quebec.

Federal officials took calmly Mr. Bertrand's unexpected public revelation that Quebec had received an invitation. Ottawa spokesmen felt allowance must be made for the pressure Mr. Bertrand has recently been under. The Quebec premier has been faced with a near-revolt by ultra-nationalists in his own party and his bill to guarantee English-language rights in Quebec was the object of a noisy demonstration by separatists in the Quebec legislature gallery Tuesday.

In the commons Wednesday Prime Minister Trudeau said that the invitation from Niger to Ottawa mentioned a desire to have Quebec attend the conference.

And he added, "this, obviously, is fully in accord with our own views. We only want to establish a formula according to which there would be only a single Canadian delegation with representatives of several provinces interested in the French community."

One possible route to a face-saving out for Quebec was opened when Mr. Trudeau said the conference was "not a conference of ministers of education but a conference on 'La Francophonie' (the international French-language community) in general."

At the crisis-provoking conference of French Language ministers of education at Gabon early this year Quebec committed itself firmly to the principle that it had a right to attend strictly on its own international conferences on such provincial matters as education.

Farmers Criticize Loan Rate Boost

B.C. farmers Wednesday criticized a federal government decision raising interest rates on farm loans to 7¾ per cent from 5 per cent.

"As usual the agricultural industry has been sold down the river," said Allan Claridge, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, at the B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention.

He said a farmer borrowing $20,000 under the Loan Act at 5 per cent, paid back $35,295, compared to $45,800 at 7¾ per cent interest.

The federation decided to ask the government to find some way of compensating growers for paying higher interest rates.

It will also petition the B.C. government to amend the Mining Act to protect farm lands from damage caused by prospectors and mining companies.

One delegate said it was not uncommon for a mining company prospecting for minerals to bulldoze two or three acres of land. Nothing was done to replace the soil after the exploratory operations were completed.

He said prospectors and mining companies, before entering private or Crown land, should be made to post sufficient security to cover damage to the land.

The federation decided to study the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Auto Insurance before endorsing them. Some delegates, however, were disappointed that action on the report was delayed.

A resolution asking the department of trade and commerce for assistance in finding new markets for mink fur was also endorsed by delegates.

B.C. mink producers said that Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines and Australia were possible new market outlets.

Bulk Buying Urged To Aid Small Farms

Agricultural Minister Cyril Shelford Wednesday urged farm organizations to go into the business of bulk buying to save small family farms from being phased out.

Corporate or company farms would take over small holdings if they did not buy bulk, he told the closing session of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

"Corporate farms are just around the corner," he warned. "Bulk buying by farm organizations is a must in the future if the small farm it to compete."

The minister suggested the federation set up an agency to purchase farm machinery and equipment in bulk for growers in the organization.

$20,000 SAVING

As an example, he pointed out that seven Ontario farmers got together and purchased tractors from England saving more than $20,000.

"Volume discounts have done more to put the small and medium businessman out than any other thing in our society," he said. "We have to protect ourselves.

"I know of large logging companies receiving a 30 per cent discount on tires through bulk buying," he said. "The small loggers could not get this discount and has to pay the same price for tires as the individual."

The minister, in a frank and open discussion with growers, urged farmers to take a hard look at themselves.

"One thing standing out above all others is that the whole agricultural industry is geared to production—not market oriented," he said. "Most other industries are market oriented. They study market possibilities through feasibility studies before going into production."

He said farmers, farm organizations and government had always worked from the other way—encourage production and "hope for the best."

Reds Accused Of Murder

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The United States has accused the East Germans regime of murder in the dealth of 16-year-old boy who was left to bleed to death in a minefield while trying to flee to West Germany.

The dealth of the youth near Coburg Tuesday "is another reminder that the regime in East Germany continues to use every means, including murder, to oppress its subjects and perpetuate itself in power," U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said in a statement.

New Airline Chief Avoids Public Eye

QUEBEC (CP) — Yves Pratte, new chairman of the board of Air Canada, has consistently avoided the public spotlight in an illustrious legal career that brought him reconition as a conciliator, an academic and a legal adviser to two Quebec premiers.

Mr. Pratte most recently was a commissioner on the three-man royal commission on national security, which submitted its report to the federal government earlier this month.

BARES SEX SCANDAL

The commission, set up in 1966 shortly after the parliamentary sex-and-security fireworks of the Gerda Munsinger affair, was headed by Maxwell W. MacKenzie, a Montreal businessman. The other commissioner with Mr. Pratte was M. J. Coldwell of Ottawa, former leader of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, forerunner of today's NDP.

Prime Minister Trudeau, while announcing that only parts of the report would be made public that do not jeopardize Canadian security, said it would be important for "the future of democracy in Canada."

The Munsinger affair, especially her relations with members of the Diefenbaker government, rocked Parliament for months early in 1966.

Later that year Mr. Pratte was named by the Quebec government as special mediator in a strike of 32,500 non-medical workers at 119 hospitals.

The strike started July 15 and ended 20 days later, but not before the provincial government placed 138 Quebec hospitals under a trusteeship. The administrator was Mr. Pratte who was given "powers of the administrative councils" of each of the hospitals — including the 119 affected by the walkouts — to sign a collective labor agreement.

The appointment was made Aug. 1 and the strike was settled Aug. 4.

ADVISED PREMIERS

It was in this period, between 1965 and 1968, that Mr. Pratte served as legal adviser to two former premiers, Jean Lesage and the late Daniel Johnson.

Born in Quebec City March 7, 1925, Mr. Pratte graduated in law from Laval University in 1947 and took postgraduate studies in taxation and corporation law at the University of Toronto before entering private practice.

In 1948 he joined the firm of St. Laurent, Taschereau and Co., and in 1953 became senior partner in the firm of Pratte, Cote, Tremblay and Co.

He began lecturing at Laval in corporation law in 1952, and served as dean of the law faculty from 1962 to 1965.

Married to the former Paule Gauvreau, Mr. Pratte is the father of three children, Josette, Guy and Andre.

Controversial Labor Bill to Be Law Monday

Controversial Bill 33 becomes the law of the land in B.C. Monday but the government is under no illusion the unique labor legislation will end traditional battles between employers and workers.

The first of its kind in North America, the statute substitutes a revamped mediation procedure — including compulsory arbitration — for the more traditional conciliation process now used by B.C.'s 799,000 work force, 43 per cent of whom are members of trade unions.

The core issue in the new law is a high-priced mediation commission which the government will employ to arbitrate compulsory settlement of any labor dispute threatening "the public interest or welfare."

Labor leaders have mounted a continuous and vocal opposition despite appointment of two top union leaders to the mediation commission.

SECRET BALLOTS

The government says it is trying to introduce a third party — the public — to the bargaining process. Gone are many of the normal conciliation processes developed over the years to settle labor-management disputes.

An example: the new act eliminates conciliation boards and ends government-supervised strike votes, replacing them with union-conducted secret ballots.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson says he is "most hopeful" the legislation will result in "a greater degree of stability and co-operation" in B.C.'s frequently stormy industrial relations.

But he insists the government doesn't expect it to create a strike-free or lockout-free society.

The government's powers of arbitration will be confined "to the narrowest areas and then only under extreme circumstances."

'BACKWARD STEP'

The opposition has zeroed in on the principle of the new law.

"The implementation of the compulsory arbitration features of the bill will be a step backward in human relations," says NDP Leader Robert Strachan. The 16 NDP and six Liberal MLAs bitterly opposed the bill during its passage in the legislature last spring.

Thirty-five of the 84 sections in the bill are already in effect, phased in gradually since the bill passed. A cabinet order-in-council last month authorized proclamation of the remaining 49 sections to come into effect Monday, including the criticized features.

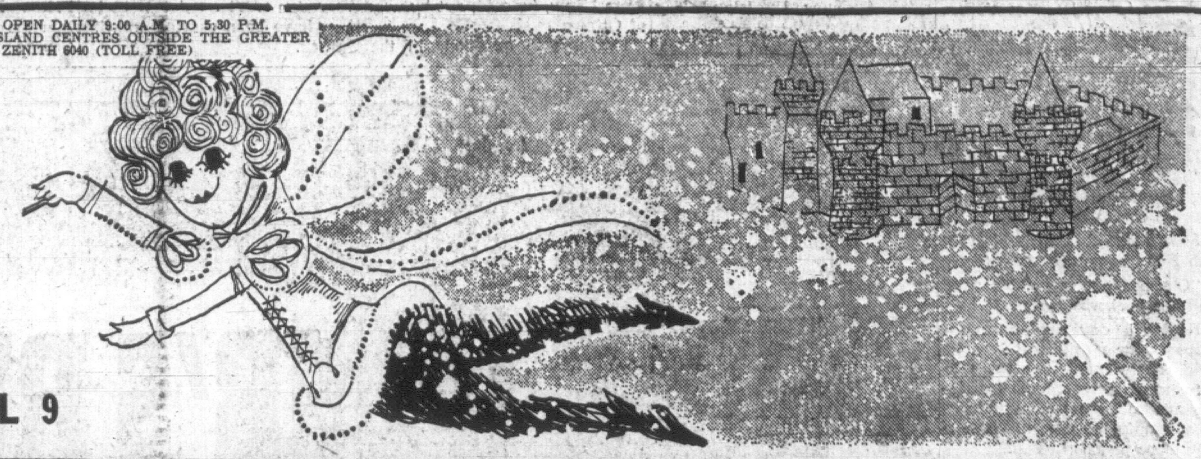

Under sections already proclaimed, the government has established the mediation commission under chairman John Parker. He resigned his $26,000-a-year job on the Yukon territorial bench Oct. 30 to take the $42,000 post.

Commissioners include Pen Baskin, executive with the United Steelworkers and vice-president of the B.C. Federation of Labor when he took the $40,000-a-year job.

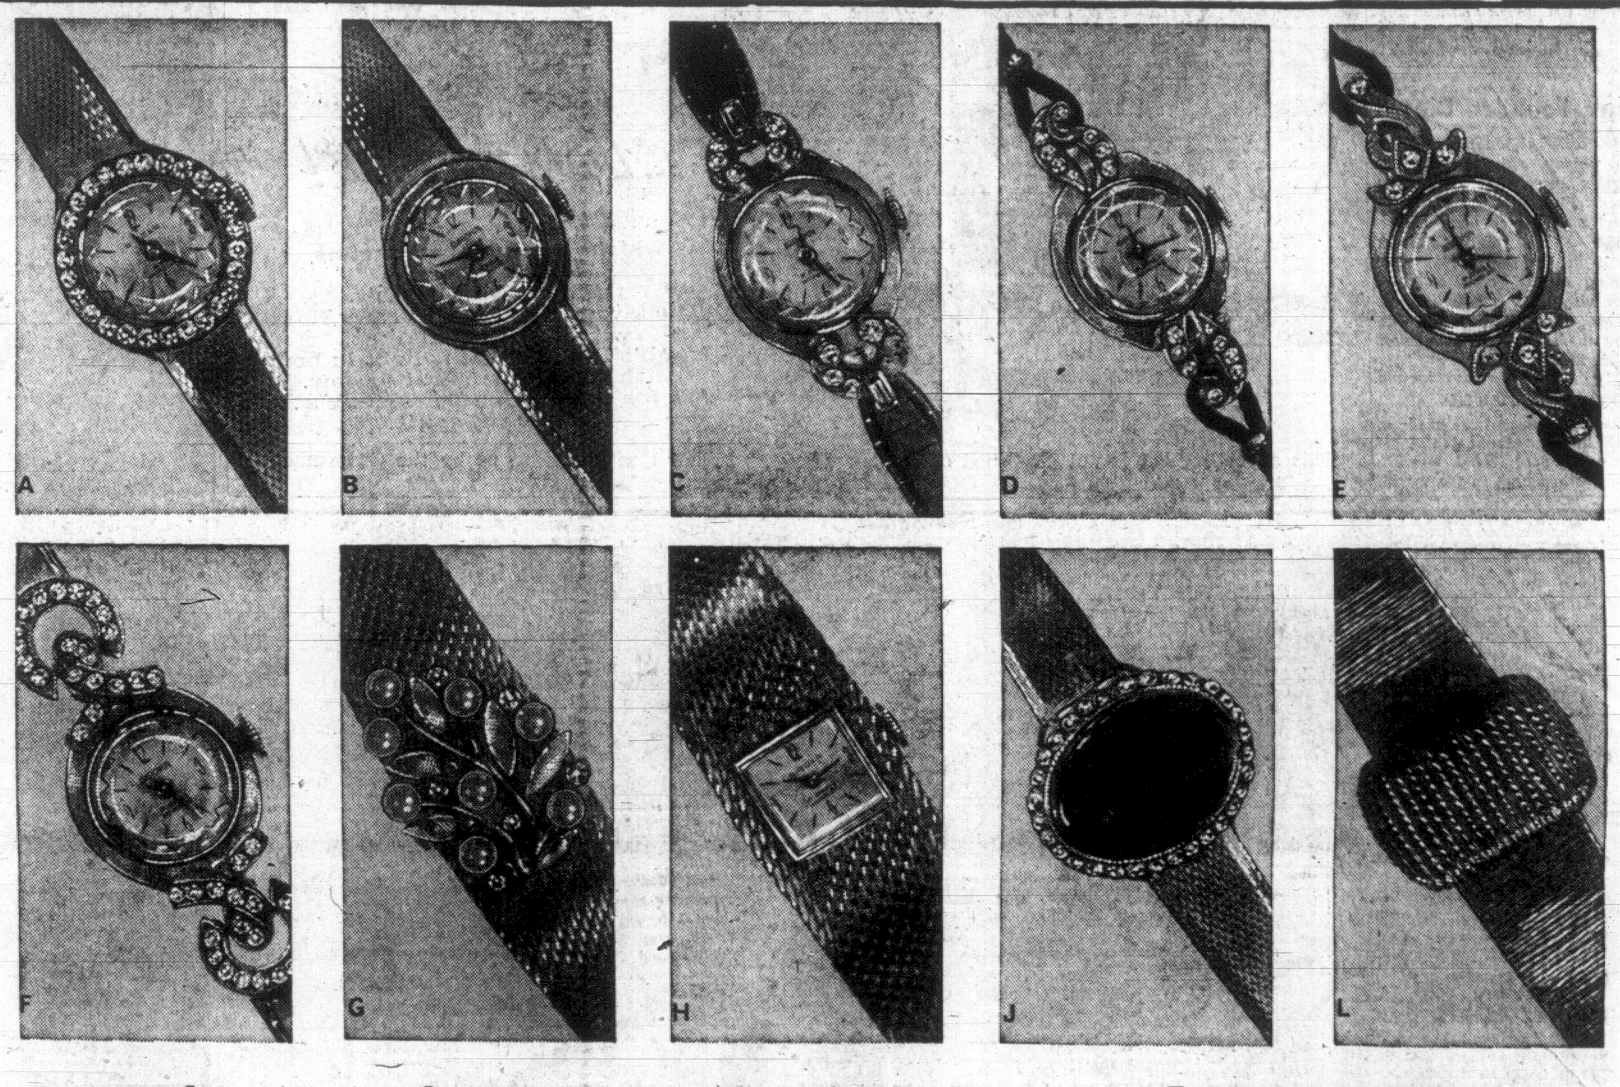

Ed Sims, president of the Vancouver Labor Council for 10 consecutive years, and Clark Gilmour, a 12-year veteran of the federal and B.C. labor departments, are among mediators with salaries in the $20,000-a-year range.

Remember last year's mammoth walkathon? Today a reader checks in with a notion that would transfer the blisters from feet to seat. What she'd like to see is a horseback trek in aid of a worthy local cause.

Here, from Mrs. Mary Abbott of Otter Point Road, is the pitch.

"You told about the plight of the Carleys and Victoria Riding Academy," Mrs. Abbott writes. "They have indeed given splendid service to those who not only wanted to learn riding, but also to get to know and appreciate horses. Well, I have a suggestion for what it's worth.

"We see all kinds of walkathons. Why not a 'Ridealong'? It would be open to every kid who ever received a riding lesson from Don or Mrs. Carley, also to parents, friends — indeed, to everyone who owns or rents a horse."

The ridealong, as Mrs. Abott visualizes it, would commence at Sidney, and end with a clatter of hoofs in Centennial Square.

"The riders would have sponsors," she continues, "and I don't mind betting that a good purse would be raised in this pleasant way. Also, perhaps old-fashioned stirrup-cups could be arranged for every five miles or so."

A lot, I suppose, would depend on just what went into those cups. But anyway, there's the proposal, and any interested group is welcome to act on it.

Spokesmen for hardy Yukoners and Northwest Territory dwellers have not been backward in airing their views on Premier Bennett's move to annex their resource-rich real estate.

The gist of their remarks is that our provincial leader should put B.C. affairs in order before he looks north.

That strikes me as mighty good advice, although it's unlikely to deter Mr. B. from his grandiose plan.

What lies back of this bold attempt to expand the Social Credit sway? The same old itch for empire-building, I suspect, which has manifested itself in this remarkable premier at intervals throughout his political career.

It might be noted, too, that he realizes the virtues of national publicity, and is not averse to carving himself a generous portion of the same.

Or is what we have here simply a red herring trailed to divert public attention from strip-mining agreements entered into with a disregard for conservation so reckless as to shock a nation?

Whether British Columbia will ever become a two-ocean province, we can only guess. But never, I hope, will this take place under a government that fails to understand the difference between the development and the exploitation of its natural resources!

You ever hear of a dog that likes apples?

We're slaves to one, and in these days of plentiful windfalls, he is having himself a high old time.

It's a common sight to see him sprawled in any available sunshine, taking leisurely nips from a Yellow Delicious that we have passed by as too bruised or pheasant-picked for storing.

Not only that, but his black majesty keeps an eye on our three apple trees from the time the fruit begins to develop each season. Long before they're ripe, our Lancer is reaching up to pluck apples from the burdened lower boughs.

Perhaps there are other pooches with the same habit; I only know that every dog is a distinct personality, with his own bag of tricks.

We had a spaniel once — name of Lucky, and fondly remembered — who taught himself to climb a ladder.

The first time he performed this trick, I was checkng shingles on a roof.

Heard a gentle clicking of claws behind me, looked around, and there he crouched with tail stub wagging. Then when the job was done, he descended no less casually than he had climbed.

That's it for this day, and home now, wondering what I was supposed to remember. Loaf of bread? Can of corn? I'm sure I wrote it down somewhere. . . .

TUG OF WAR for first possession of Kiwanis Village Society trophy involves political heavyweights of capital region. Each man above represents a community. Each community will be fighting to have the greatest percentage of households respond to a fund blitz Monday, December 2. On that day 300 Kiwanis members and 1,500 helpers will knock on doors seeking to raise $30,000. (Phoned pledges, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.—386-2181). The money is needed to help build a $200,000 24-unit addition to Kiwanis Village which now provides low-rent cottages or rooms to 167 elderly citizens. Couples pay $41 monthly, widows or widowers $31 and those having bed-sitting rooms and board in the villa pay $95 a month. The new units will serve widowers. There is a long list of applicants. Bulk of the capital cost comes from bank loans (repaid by rents) and government grants. Competing for the plaque are from left, Mayor J. B. Cumming, North Saanich; Director John Williams, Langford; Mayor A. W. Freeman, Sidney; Mayor Ray Bryant, Esquimalt; Mayor Hugh Stephen, Victoria. Campaign chairman Ed Barakett is in centre. Left from him are Mayor Fred Hawes, Oak Bay; Mayor Gordon Lee, Central Saanich; Director Mac Tipton, Metchosin; Mayor Hugh Curtis, Saanich, and Director Hal Banks, Colwood. Magazine Salesman Wins New Trial

Court Finds Defects In Charge to Jury

Conviction of an 18-year-old Victoria salesman on three charges of fraud in the selling of magazine subscriptions has been set aside by the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

The court today ordered a new trial for salesman Guy Jodoin, found guilty in Victoria country court last June of fraud in the selling of subscriptions for Maclean's Magazine and Chatelaine Magazine to Mrs. Christina Cameron, 84, of 817 McClure.

Three judges of the appeal court—Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe, Mr. Justice Angelo Branca and Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz—ordered the new trial because they found there were "defects" in Judge Montague Drake's charge to the jury which convicted Jodoin.

LENIENCY URGED

After the jury had added a strong recommendation for leniency, Judge Drake sentenced Jodoin to one year definite and one year indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit at Haney.

Jodoin's counsel, Dermod Owen-Flood, appealed the conviction to the Court of Appeal in Vancouver on the ground that certain paragraphs in the judge's charge were "defective."

Crown counsel G. L. Murray, QC, told the court he had made a careful study of the charge and agreed "there is at least one substantial defect in the charge that a new trial ought to be granted."

Mr. Owen-Flood told the appeal court he would be content with an order directing a new trial and was not seeking a judgment of acquittal.

At the county court hearing last June, Judge Montague Drake said of Jodoin:

"I think this young man has been corrupted to some degree by a system of selling and advertising that is much to be deplored.

"At the same time, he put up with it. I agree that some leniency is called for, but society must be protected against fradulent salesmanship."

Ask The Times

Q. How many times has the Queen's Plate horse race been run since it started?—J.R.

A. The Queen's Plate race was created by Royal Assent by Queen Victoria in the summer of 1859. Since that time it has been run 50 times as the King's Plate and 56 times as the Queen's Plate. Forty-two of these races occurred during the reign of Queen Victoria. By tradition, the president of the Jockey Club sends a cable to the monarch naming the winning horse and owner. The owner then receives a message of congratulations and later a written draft on Her Majesty's Privy Purse in the amount of 50 guineas.

Best Award Is the Life We May Save

Things are so bad on our streets and highways that if we don't kill anyone between Dec. 1 and 7 we're going to get a prize.

The offer applies to Victoria and Saanich and all other Canadian centres of more than 40,000 population.

Our chances are good. In Victoria and district our traffic death pattern indicates one rub-out every 18 days.

The grim statistics were compiled by Greater Victoria and District Safety Council, sponsors of the local observance of Safe Driving Week.

The council says that if we all survive the week through special attention to good driving, Governor-General Roland Michener will present our award. (Consolation prize is a floral wreath from friends).

Prime Minister Trudeau has also urged full attention of Canada's 7,800,000 drivers.

He points out that 5,379 persons died in Canadian traffic accidents last year and 165,664 were injured, many of them crippled for life.

Those two totals incidentally, are equal to the population of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, Central Saanich, North Saanich, Sidney and the unorganized areas through to Sooke.

The Victoria region had 20 deaths last year and injured 1,496 people in traffic. This year, until August 31, 16 died and 972 were injured. (This would indicate a one-third increase this year.)

Lump all those folks together and it would take Memorial Arena to hold them.

Greater Victoria and District Safety Council was formed last March with car dealer Peter Pollen as president. It operates offices at 1039 Johnson Street and is organizing a schedule of year-round safety activities.

Pedestrian Safety Week will be observed Dec. 15 to 21 in time to remind scurrying shoppers that a funeral puts a damper on seasonal festivities — and a cast is a poor decoration.

Ottawa Should Tie Pensions to Costs

Retired federal employees are requesting a pension increase to bring "the purchasing power of the pension dollar" into line with living costs.

The request is made in a brief from the Federal Superannuates National Association. The association's Victoria branch has 250 members.

Members include retired civil servants, their widows, armed forces personnel and RCMP officers on pension.

The brief says a joint Senate-Commons committee in 1967 unanimously recommended to Parliament an immediate increase in pensions. "No action was taken by the government then or since."

$2.7 BILLION IN FUND

The public service superannuation account at the end of 1967 totalled $2.7 billion and normal increase is $300 million a year, say the brief. Interest last year totalled $98 million.

The pensioners say total pension money paid last year was $62.8 million, or roughly two-thirds of interest payments on the capital.

From these figures, the brief says "many of our members are convinced that pensions could be increased without imposing increased taxation on the general public."

Five provinces had recognized their "responsibility" of keeping their own retired employees' pensions up—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia.

ESCALATOR CLAUSE

The brief says that between 1953 and 1967, the consumer price index rose 31.2 per cent "with no upward adjustment in pensions."

It asks the government to include an "escalator clause" in the Superannuation Act "to take care of adjustments in pensions if the cost of living continued to increase in future."

The last pension adjustment was by legislation passed in 1959 and it was to compensate employees who retired before 1953. "Mortality amongst the group has been heavy," the brief notes.

The Victoria branch loses an average 10 to 12 members a year, said branch secretary-treasurer R. B. Williamson.

"The majority of present federal retired personnel will not benefit from the Canada Pension Plan, nor have they benefitted from legislation providing old age security at a reduced age.

"Most of them did not receive their old age security until reaching age 70."

Fair Share Probe Called In Farming

The select standing committee in agriculture will be reconvened at the next session of the legislature to find out why farmers are not getting what is considered a fair share of the consumer dollar.

The last time the committee sat was in 1957.

Agricultural Minister Cyril Shelford told the B.C. Federation of Agriculture Wednesday the whole problem of food production costs and prices will be referred to the standing committee.

Briefs will be accepted from all interested groups — producers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers.

"I also hope the university's economic department will participate at the hearings," he said.

SHARE DECREASES

The farmers' share of the consumer dollar in the past 20 years had dropped from 23 to 12 per cent.

"This should shock every farm organization in this nation," Mr. Shelford added. "But how can we get a fair share of the consumer dollar."

Percentage mark-ups are charged after produce leaves the farm. The argument given for this is that costs have gone up so they have to charge more, he said. "But, haven't your costs gone up also?

Garbage Dump Fires Banned

IT'S NO GO FOR CHARLIE —THAT'S THAT

After 15 years of devotion and hard work Charles Walls planned to break his connections with public life and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

In recent years he has served as a director while also serving as a member of a royal commission on car insurance, on the Carter Royal Commission on taxation and as chairman of the federal Farm Loans Bank.

He told friends in the federation he was heading for pasture. But they told him they anticipate revision of U.S. trade policies which could affect B.C. farmers—and he was the man they wanted close at hand for negotiations.

The new directors said flatly that he couldn't quit and he was appointed director-at-large today at the BCFA convention here.

Central America Quake Recorded At Observatory

A strong earthquake in Central America was recorded at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain, early today.

An observatory spokesman said the centre of the earthquake was estimated about 2,500 miles southeast of Berkeley, California.

The tremor was recorded on the observatory's seismograph at about 2:40 a.m. Victoria time. The magnitude was estimated as 6.1 on the Richter scale — strong enough to cause damage in a populated area.

'First Real Step' In Pollution Control

Greater Victoria municipalities this morning unanimously endorsed a January 1 ban on garbage burning imposed by the metro health board.

In a closed door session with representatives of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health municipal leaders agreed to support the New Year embargo which will see all garbage dump operators forced to pack and cover all garbage.

The ban was announced by metro health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitebread a month ago and created some criticism from private dump operators and some municipal council members.

They claimed that the ban was too arbitrary and the cost too high to absorb in one move.

WISE MOVE

But this morning Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis, who had earlier expressed concern on the cost, said he was now satisfied that the move was wise and the cost reasonable.

"We had wondered in Saanich if the ban could be eased or set back a little, expecially in view of the study now under way by municipal engineers who will be reporting shortly on the best methods of garbage disposal," he said.

"But at this morning's meeting any doubts that I had about the ban on burning were removed and I can now go back to my council and recommend approval."

Mayor Curtis said no cost figures had yet been worked out for the home-owner but added that he felt they would not be as high as at first feared.

Present at the meeting were Mayors Hugh Stephen, Fred Hawes, Gordon Lee and Curtis. Bill Gerry, municipal engineer for Esquimalt, represented Mayor Ray Bryant.

POSITIVE STEP

The move is regarded by many as Greater Victoria's first positive step towards pollution control. Metrol health officials stress that the burning ban is only a temporary measure to relieve land and air pollution.

Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life has been charged with a study of composting methods of garbage disposal to see if they could be adapted to the region.

Victoria engineer James Garnett has the responsibility of reporting on the latest Japanese methods of garbage disposal in which garbage pressed into solid blocks which can later be disposed of at sea or used much the same as concrete blocks are used to build breakwaters or as land fill.

The burning ban comes hard on the heels of an application from the regional district board to extend the Macaulay Point deep-sea sewer outfall.

ANSWER SOUGHT

By making the request for permission to extend the outfall the district is, in effect, asking the provincial government to make a clear-cut decision on outfalls versus treatment plants.

That decision is not expected until the issue has been debated in the next session of the legislature. Municipal leaders have already stated that they will follow senior government policy without protest when it is announced.

Seminar Here On 'Water' Long Planned

A major national conference on Canada's water resources will be held here next week by 13 cabinet ministers leading government delegations from all parts of the country.

Billed as a "water workshop seminar" it will run from Monday afternoon to Thursday in the Empress Hotel.

The meeting, planned for almost two years, is sponsored by the Council of Resource Ministers.

The Victoria workshop session was ordered during the council's trail-blazing national conference on pollution held in Montreal in 1966.

BACKGROUND PAPERS

Supported with background papers already prepared by various university and government groups, the participants will discuss such topics as:

Water and regional planning; guidelines for future river basin planning in Canada; water use valuation and pricing policies; economic development and water problems in Canada; the constitutional and institutional context for Canadian water resource development; and cost allocation and financing methods.

More Smokers All Puffed-Out And Joining a Growing Majority

By PETE LOUDON

The handwriting is on the wall — smokers are becoming a minority in Victoria and Canada.

We suspected this when at a recent Saturday night party only one person in a group of 12 smoked.

At another party it was one in six. (All six boozed, but that's another subject.)

Concerned with the implications — what Canada doesn't need is another put-upon minority — the Times made a spot survey at St. Joseph's Hospital.

This seemed a good place to find a cross section. If anything you might expect to find more smokers in a hospital than out of it.

But in a men's ward of 46 beds, only 15 patients smoked. In a women's ward it was 15 out of 32.

The B.C. government has no recent figures compiled here. But it was learned from a back issue of the Canadian Hospital magazine that in 1965-66, more than a million Canadians who once smoked daily, had stopped.

A survey by Canadian Facts Ltd. in the same period showed that of 5½ million smokers in the country, 2½ million, or 45 per cent had seriously tried to quit — and one million had made it.

The same survey showed that regionally, B.C. had the highest percentage — 53 per cent — who tried to stop and the highest percentage of people who managed to kick the weed — 49 per cent of males and 17 per cent of females who tried.

Canadian Medical Journal reported that attempts to quit are most common among people aged under 40 but most successes are registered with men over 40.

Department of Health and Welfare of Canada says that in the first six months of 1968 there was a 6 per cent drop in per capita cigarette consumption.

A contributing factor may be these statistics released by the B.C. Department of Vital Statistics:

In 1966 in B.C. 445 persons died of lung cancer. In 1967 there were 537. The percentage exceed the population growth rate.

Time magazine recently hailed the new anti-cigarette commercials now appearing on TV . . .

"No thanks, I can live without it," says the man offered a fag in one of the terse messages seen here.

Time says the U.S. Public Health Service gave partial credit to such commercials for a drop in U.S. cigarette consumption of 1.4 billion (from 572.6 billion) in the '67-'68 fiscal year.

They say 21 million Americans quit smoking in the same period.

Now comes advice from Canadian Medical Association that at long last even doctors are surrendering to their own teaching.

A recent study shows only 35.4 per cent now smoke cigarettes regularly — and the proportion is on the decline. Yet doctors formerly were listed generally as "heavy smokers" in a society where 53 per cent of all men smoked.

You smokers, we smokers, know what all this can lead to — ashtrays soon will go the way of spitoons.

Non-smokers soon won't want their sisters to marry smokers. And the better hotels will be "full up" when smokers try to register.

It's a free country. But how long before smokers will find they can't qualify for the key to the executive washroom?

There's one way only to avoid another clash with another unprivileged minority. All smokers, if the trend continues, will have to get off their butts.

THE BETTER HALF — By Bob Barnes

SHOPPING GUIDE

Penny Puzzled By Boating Aids

By PENNY SAVER

I don't know anything about boating, neither with sail nor with motor. I have piloted a motor boat on a quiet lake that was deep and free of dead-heads. I have rowed miles on that same lake and under oar-power was even brave enough to venture into the tricky weed-packed shallows where we picked waxy, yellow water-lilies. And, once I was invited out on a small sail-boat. That was heaven indeed. There was scarcely enough breeze to fill the sails, which suited me fine as I don't like the looks of the gymnastics some sailors go through on stormy days. We drifted all day until I was marvellously rested and quite sunburned. Since then I have known that finances willing, I would like to sail.

But finances haven't reached that stage yet so I had to stand by in mystification while a friend bought nautical Christmas gifts for her husband. She tried to explain their significance to me, but I didn't prove a very apt pupil. I hope that my boat-loving readers will recognise the items from my poor descriptions.

First I will deal with the items a youngster could buy for a parent. There was a pair of marine dividers to help in charting a course. These are $4 a pair and are made of metal with points on both "legs." These I was told enable one to compute the crow's flight distance between two points on a chart by measuring with the dividers then comparing them to the miles-inches scale on the side of the chart.

Parallel Rules

For $4.50 there are 12-inch, clear plastic parallel rules. Fifteen-inch rules are $5.25. These, I was told, are helpful for plotting a parallel course, but my friend didn't explain why anyone would need to do so! In any case the clear plastic lets you see the chart underneath and metal fittings let you spread the dividers which will always stay parallel, to the width you need. There was another 12-inch device for $3.75 that did much the same thing. Instead of having parallel rulers, this device rolls, I assume always remaining parallel to its starting position. This also has a cylinder scale showing the distance it has moved across the chart so you can compute the distance in sea miles.

I won't even try to explain what a directional finder is or does except that it is made of clear plastic and lies flat on a chart. My friend says it is used in navigation, which figures, and I actually recognized some of the markings as being compass points. If you know someone who wants one for Christmas, they are $12.95 apiece.

I could, however, appreciate the value of a marine atlas of the Pacific Northwest from Olympia to Malcolm Island. This $21.50 book has a coil binding and looks sturdy enough to go to sea. It includes 40 charts and aerial photos of the area. There are write-ups of stores and marinas in each area with the names of the proprietors and a rundown of what services they provide. An index of localities makes everything easy to find. This was labelled as volume one so I assume there are other, similar books available.

If you would like to know where I saw these items for the nautically minded, please call 382-3131.

TODAY'S RECIPE

APPLE APPETIZERS

Serve hot spiced apple sauce as a dip for broiled cocktail sausages.

Dip peeled apple wedges in French or Italian dressing. Roll in grated cheese and serve on toothpicks.

Apple Bacon Roll-Ups:

One-quarter cup salad oil, ¼ cup liquid honey, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, wedges of unpeeled red apples, bacon strips.

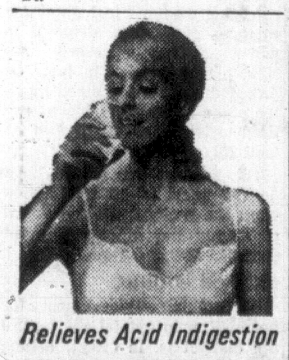

Combine oil, honey, lemon juice and seasonings. Shake until well blended. Dip apple wedges in honey mixture. Roll each in ½ strip bacon and fasten with toothpick. Broil until bacon is crisp, (8 to 10 minutes). Serve hot.

Dip apple wedges in above honey mixture. Roll in finely chopped nuts and serve on toothpicks.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Accentuate the Positive Thoughts in Your Lives

For today I have chosen a quotation from that delightful and inspiring little book "Thoughts of a Christian Optimist." Its author is Dr. William Arthur Ward, assistant to the president of Texas Wesleyan College. It is published by Drake House, Anderson.

Lowman

Here is the quotation:

It is difficult to be grateful and gripey at the same time. It is hard to be thankful and touchy at the same instant. It is impossible to be prayerful and pessimistic at the same moment.

How true it is that it is absolutely impossible for negative thoughts and emotions and positive thoughts and feelings to exist in our minds and hearts at the same time. One completely cancels out the other.

It is impossible to feel sad and gay in the same minute. We cannot concentrate on the blessings we have and at the same time gripe about our hard luck. We simply cannot feel thankful and touchy simultaneously. We cannot feel pessimistic while we are in touch with the great forces of life. All of these are complete opposites.

Since the mind is never a vacuum (well, hardly ever) why not fill it with positive thoughts rather than those which are destructive? It is not as though we have no control over the situation and thoughts can wander in and out of our minds at will. We can straighten out our minds just as surely as we can straighten up our backs; that is, unless habit is so strong and of such long duration that we need help. This is seldom true.

Without planning to we sometimes allow ourselves the uncertain luxury of concentrating on our misfortunes and daily irritation. When we do this, the happy helpful thoughts disappear. It is easy to slip into this habit without realizing it.

Ethel Kennedy Expecting Birth of Her 11th Child

By MARGARET A. KILGORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, sustained by her religion and her 10 children in the months since her husband was slain, is in seclusion awaiting the birth of their 11th child — possibly this weekend.

It has been a difficult pregnancy for the 40-year-old widow, and she has spent much of her time in bed in recent weeks. She had one false alarm Oct. 19 and was admitted to Georgetown University Hospital, then returned to her sprawling Hickory Hill estate in suburban McLean, Va., the next day.

The baby she is expecting around Thanksgiving will be delivered by Caesarian section, the fifth such operation for the athletic, vivacious Ethel who has referred to herself in conversation as "good old moms."

Few women have more than three such operations.

The baby will be delivered by Dr. John W. Walsh, professor of gynecology and obstretrics at Georgetown, who attended the Caesarian delivery of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's children.

Robert Kennedy knew his wife was pregnant before he was shot in Los Angeles last June 5.

She was at his side when he was wounded and remained in vigil during his last hours. At the funeral, she remained composed and in command.

Afterward, she lived quietly at their summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., returning to Washington only in time for the children to return to school.

It has been apparent that she is trying to carry on as "Bobby" would have wanted her to, running her household and her personal life with dignity. He once said she was the perfect wife because "she always thinks I'm right."

They were married for 18 years.

Although an in-law, Ethel always has seemed to be more of a Kennedy than some of the Kennedys. She epitomizes the family's stamina, loyalty and fighting spirit.

A devout Roman Catholic, she personally planned the details of a recent memorial mass held at a neighborhood church to commemorate her husband's birthday. Most of their children participated, as altar boys or ushers.

A few weeks ago, she attended a small dinner party at the home of friends, but remained in an upstairs room at Hickory Hill in October when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced at a news conference at the estate a foundation had been set up in Robert's name.

IN SECLUSION

Seclusion is not unusual for Ethel when she is expecting a child. When the senator was alive, both were extremely popular on Washington's social circuit, but Ethel always "retired" for the last couple of months of her pregnancies.

She and the children rely heavily on Edward ("Uncle Ted") for advice and companionship. He has devoted many hours to her family.

In fact, all details concerning the imminent birth have come from Ted Kennedy's office, where spokesmen politely tell reporters they will only confirm or deny the facts as the questions come in.

Ethel has granted no interviews.

Friends who have known Ethel for years are certain that she will meet the arrival of the new baby — and the rearing of 11 children — with her usual indominitable spirit.

Women

Editor: Pat Dufour

Pants Take Over in Paris

PARIS (Reuters) — Trouser fashions will gain popular acceptance among women everywhere next season it is indicated by buying statistics established in the new French ready-to-wear collections.

Mass-produced clothes in every price range currently feature adaptations of "city-pants" which couturier Yves Saint Laurent launched in his last couture collection. The new tunic and trouser costumes are destined to be worn by women of every shape, size, and age, from Paris to Peru.

Saint Laurent, considered by many to be the most influential creator in France today, has really put trousers on the fashion map, following the craze for his Mondrian and modern art dresses three years ago and the more recent "smoking" outifts for late-day wear.

Trousers and tunics turn up for every hour of the day in every collection from the low-priced mass-market lines presented at the Port de Versailles to higher quality collection manufactured by leaders such as Webe, Basta, Fouks, Jane Lend and others who stage their presentations at the Grand and Hilton hotels during French ready-to-wear week.

The new trousers are ultra-soft and feminine—a far cry from the canvas blue jeans and pipe stem pants made of stretch fabrics that have personified trouser styles worn for sportswear in the last few years.

Today's pants are made of supple fabric as jersey or crepe. They have wide, loose legs and are almost always worn with a long, lightly-shaped tunic or jacket.

Many of the street pants evolve directly from Saint Laurent's own styles shown in the couture collection and his fast-growing empire of boutiques—wide straight legs ending in a narrow cuff covering the instep of the foot.

The alternative trouser silhouette is an updated version of the old bell bottom pants which fit smoothly and taut across the hips and flare gradually below the knees to the wide uncuffed hem.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

On the Mainland

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. John R. Nicholson accompanied Their Excellencies the Governor-General of Canada and Mrs. Roland Michener when they left for Vancouver today. All attended a civic luncheon in the Hotel Vancouver.

On Friday, the Governor-General, His Honor and Mrs. Nicholson will attend a luncheon in the officers' mess of the Canadian Forces Base at Chilliwack.

Entertain Patients

Mrs. James (Irene) McAllister has arranged a concert and will act as master of ceremonies when patients, their relatives and friends attend the event in the pavilion of the Veterans' Hospital this evening. Among the artists will be a group of dancers from the Florence Clough Studio. Also entertaining will be accordionist David Gibson, banjoist Lloyd Lundgren, pianist Josephine Cossey, singers Helen Corbett and Alec Stewart, and Dorothy Butt, who will sing and play her guitar.

Dinner Dance

The Victoria (Chinatown) Lions Club held its annual Ladies Appreciation Night Wednesday evening, beginning with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., Chinese smorgasbord at 7, and dancing from 9 p.m. The event is the means by which members attempt to show their appreciation to the women for their assistance and encouragement in the club's projects during the year.

DEAR ABBY . . .

No Law Against Wife Stealing?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How come there are laws against stealing chickens, horses, and automobiles, but there aren't any laws against stealing a man's most precious possession—his wife.

I'll bet if there were a penalty of 10 years in the penitentiary for wife stealing, there wouldn't be so many divorces, and poor little innocent children the victims of broken homes.

DENISON, TEX.

DEAR DENISON: Chickens, horses, and automobiles, the possession of which is protected by chattel law, can neither give nor withhold consent to be stolen, right?

A wife? She could be "kidnapped," but if she goes willingly, she's not stolen. Besides, she's no chattel.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17½ and she's in her last year of high school. She has fallen in love with a 50-year-old man, and Abby, we are about out of our minds.

They want to marry when she is 18. They claim they are "in love" and are miserable when they're apart.

This man has plenty of money, drives a big Cadillac, and he's a snappy dresser. He doesn't look his age. He's very peppy and a wonderful dancer. (So is she.) He's promised her a Hawaiian honeymoon and a whole new dream world. Our daughter says it's not the money. She'd love him if he were poor. Can this be?

Should we try to break them up? What do you say, Abby? Do you think they could be happy together?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Those May-December marriages are usually wildly happy as long as they last, but they seldom last long. If you try to break them up, you might hasten the marriage. Try to persuade your daughter to wait a while. If you fail, she'll be stuck with a man who can give her everything she wants now, but she'll have to take her chances on what's in store later.

DEAR ABBY: I passed a Jewish cemetery recently and noticed that the tombstones were very tall and close together. A friend of mine told me that it's an old custom of the Jewish people to bury their dead with caskets upright. Was my friend right. No offence, dear.

S. A. S. IN CLEVELAND

DEAR S. A. S.: No. The Jewish people bury their dead horizontally, same as Christians.

Everybody has a problem. What' yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

'REVOLUTION, UPHEAVAL GLORIFIED'

TORONTO (CP) — York University President Murray Ross has warned of the dangers of allowing student unrest to replace rational discussions of campus issues.

In his annual report, Dr. Ross said:

"The strategy of the most radical students has changed from one of peaceful protest directed towards the end of full participation in university, to one of 'confrontation' aimed at using the university to teach a lesson to the society that they regard as hopelessly technocratic, bureaucratic and morally corrupt.

"The philosophical position of these students shades off into one that glorifies revolution and upheaval for their own sakes."

While it was unrealistic to claim that there is a world-wide student conspiracy, he referred however to influences exerted on students by the philosophy and tactics of student revolutionaries.

He said universities should take a close look at the political and social factors behind student revolts at Columbia University in New York City and the Sorbonne in Paris.

If the university "is to survive in an effective and viable form," all within it—faculty, board, students—"must develop the kind of responsible attitude that will support and facilitate the lengthy discussion that must precede fundamental change."

Pollution May Kill Off B.C. Salmon

RICHMOND (CP) — Failure to act immediately against water pollution will result in the death of British Columbia's salmon industry, biology professor Dr. Milton McClaren has forecast.

He said continued dumping of sewage and industrial wastes into the Fraser River will poison fish gathering at the river's mouth and eventually kill off the salmon runs. The industry could die within five years, he said.

"We must have a total framework of laws to apply throughout the province. And we will have to accept the fact that we will have to give up some of our personal freedoms if we are to win the battle," said Dr. McClaren, who was addressing a meeting of the Richmond Anti-Pollution Association.

Paper Slump May Pick Up

A MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. decision to re-start a paper-making machine at its Alpulp division in Port Alberni may indicate a possible easing in a world market slump caused by over-production.

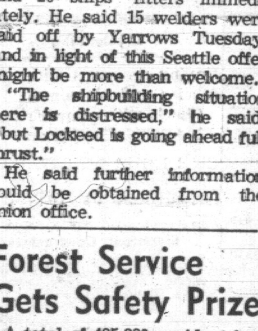

The company announced Tuesday it plans to resume operation Dec. 1 of a machine at Alpulp which was closed down at the end of June.

MacMillan Bloedel had three machines stopped during the summer, B.C. Forest Products had two out of operation for a period and Crown Zellerbach had one stopped.

A MacMillan Bloedel spokesman today would say only: "We have completed our scheduled inventory correction."

5.9% BOOST FOR TEACHERS

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — School District 27 this week completed negotiations with Williams Lake district teachers, giving them an across-the-board pay increase of 5.9 per cent. The school board also agreed to increase rates for teachers who complete university extension courses.

EYRE
... to give talk

New Zealand Commissioner To Visit City

New Zealand's high commissioner to Canada, Hon. Dean Eyre, will visit Victoria Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

He will call on Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor Hugh Stephen, and Dec. 7 at 3 p.m. he will address a meeting of the Royal Commonwealth Society in the Empress Hotel.

His subject will be New Zealand as a Pacific Nation of the Commonwealth.

Before his appointment as high commissioner, Mr. Eyre was minister of defence and minister of tourism in the New Zealand government.

For many years he has advocated far-reaching expansion of New Zealand's tourist trade.

Born at Westport, South Island, in 1914, Mr. Eyre was educated at Hamilton High School and Auckland University, where he studied law.

Seattle Firm Looks Here For Ship Men

A Seattle shipbuilding firm is calling for welders and ships' fitters from Victoria, a Boilermakers' Union official said.

Neil Hindle, business agent for the union, said Lockeed Shipbuilding needs 30 welders and 20 ships' fitters immediately. He said 15 welders were laid off by Yarrows Tuesday, and in light of this Seattle offer might be more than welcome.

"The shipbuilding situation here is distressed," he said, "but Lockeed is going ahead full thrust."

He said further information could be obtained from the union office.

Forest Service Gets Safety Prize

A total of 425,280 accident-free hours—almost two years—earned a B.C. Safety Council gold certificate for British Columbia Forest Service.

The award was presented Tuesday to the inventory division of B.C. Forest Services and accepted by J. S. Stokes, assistant chief forester in charge of operations.

The inventory division's record was spoiled by a small accident in June.

ISRAEL TAKES NEW SECURITY MEASURE

TEL AVIV (AP)—No Arab vehicles will be allowed to cross between Israel and Jordan under a new Israeli security regulation, informed sources have disclosed. The rule, due to take effect next week, comes after saboteurs blew up a market place in Jerusalem last Friday, killing 12 persons.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I wish sincerely to thank my friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of my beloved father Charles Downham. I especially thank Dr. R. Matiko, the Annex staff and the staff of 2A, St. Joseph's Hospital, Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh, the Sands family and staff, Michael Williams Dog and Cat Holiday Inn, the Officers and Members of The Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association. The gratitude in my heart cannot be fully expressed to Mrs. Hazel E. Hodson, a longtime friend and teacher, for all her acts of kindness, helpful acts and understanding words and comfort during our restless illnesses and especially during my father's last illness. — Miss Audrey L. Downham.

With thanks to Rev. Dunster, nurses at Royal Oak Hospital, pallbearers, friends and neighbours for their great kindnesses and messages of sympathy during our bereavement. — Mrs. Hilda Payton and Family.

Mrs. David Thewlis Sr. and family wish to express to the many friends their heartfelt thanks for the tokens of sympathy tendered them during their recent bereavement.

9 IN MEMORIAM

STROUD—Memorial to Charles Stroud, 1257 Pembrooke.

A faithful member we lost but will not forget. An empty seat for only a short time. We will meet again in our eternal home where never again shall we part.

Passed away Nov. 23, 1968.

—Canadian Ensign and Union Jack Society and Flags of the Century.

Sophia Backs Native Italy

PARIS (Reuters) — Actress Sophia Loren has won a legal battle over her refusal to act in a movie she felt was unfair to her native Italy.

A Paris court rejected a 3,500,000-franc ($700,000) suit brought against Miss Loren by a Swiss-registered company, Quadrangle Films.

The court based its ruling, given Saturday, on a clause in the contract specifying that the scenario for the movie was to be submitted to Miss Loren.

The movie, Five Pieces of Maria, was to have co-starred Danny Kaye, and was planned as a sophisticated comedy.

Miss Loren's lawyer, Georges Kiejman, said that after Miss Loren saw the scenario in 1962, she felt that it gave a disparaging picture of Italy, and that it would not be proper for an Italian to perform such a role.

PTA Plans Fall Fair

The Willows Parent-Teacher Association will hold its major fund-raising project Friday evening with a fall fair at the school auditorium.

The fair will include games for the family and stalls which will sell Christmas decorations, toys, books, records, plants, ice cream and home baking.

It will run from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

GIRL, 10 EXPECTING

ANTWERP (AP)—A Belgian newspaper reported today that a 10-year-old girl expecting a baby has been admitted to a maternity hospital. It said police have begun an investigation.

A nine-year-old girl in Mexico gave birth to a child a few years ago.

Sound Equipment Stolen from Uvic

Oak Bay police are investigating the theft of more than $300 worth of sound equipment from a building on the University of Victoria campus.

Campus security officials said the equipment, which included a turntable, arm and cartridge, had been taken from the MacLaurin Building theatre probably over the weekend. It is valued at $329.

MINI-MINI 'PEEKINI' IN A NEW BRA WORLD

SYDNEY (AP) — Australia's contribution to the see-through look is a peekini, a strapless bra made of transparent plastic with a bright little plastic flower on each cup.

Five pairs of different flowers come with each bra. "A girl can change the flowers in a second," designer Gerard Doube of Melbourne said today.

Doube said a girl can get a normal suntan through the peekini except for the part covered by the flower.

Civilians Will Lack Poison Protection

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Robert Uffen, chairman of the defence research board, said Tuesday that some poison gases are "really horrible" and that there would be no protection for civilians against them if they were put to all-out war use.

H added, however, in testimony before the Commons defence committee that the likelihood of gases being used as a strategic weapon is low.

MAINTAIN PACT

Dr. Uffen also said that if Canada withdraws from NATO it should still maintain its scientific agreements with alliance members.

If Canada pulls out of such agreements, "vast sources" of scientific information now available to Canada would be cut off.

"We get more out of them than we put in," he said.

Dr. Uffen told Warren Allmand (L—Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) that the board has only "very minute laboratory quantities" of chemical bacteriological and biological toxic agents.

DEVELOP DEFENCES

And these quantities were used only to develop defences against them. Canada was not engaged in offensive chemical and biological research. Nor did it manufacture any such offensive agents.

Dr. Uffen said it is technologically conceivable that an anti-missile system could reduce considerably the hazards of an all-out nuclear attack. He said it of the armed forces.

Nixon's Honest Guys Fall in Gap

NEW YORK (WP) — The Nixon Administration stumbled into credibility gulch Wednesday — 48 hours after Herbert G. Klein was named director of communications to avoid such hazards.

Early Tuesday, President-elect Nixon met at his apartment Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. When spokesman Ron Ziegler was asked at his 11 a.m. briefing Tuesday if there had been such a meeting, he said not to his knowledge. But he said he was confident there would be a meeting.

Tuesday, night, it became known that the meeting had taken place as suspected. On Wednesday, Ziegler said he did not know about it when he answered the question. He learned about it later but failed to correct himself at his 4 p.m. briefing.

Arguing that the meeting was "private," he promised to inform the press of all "public" meetings.

Winter's Blooming Shrubs

By HILDA BEASTALL

Almost every day a call comes in asking about a shrub or sometimes a tree, noticed to be blooming at this time. The query is usually concerned with the prospect of not having flowers in spring if flowers are produced now. Now this may become a bit involved, but as a simple statement, let us say that many highly desirable and easily grown shrubs, and one or two trees, are primarily winter blooming in this area where winters are generally mild.

Hilda

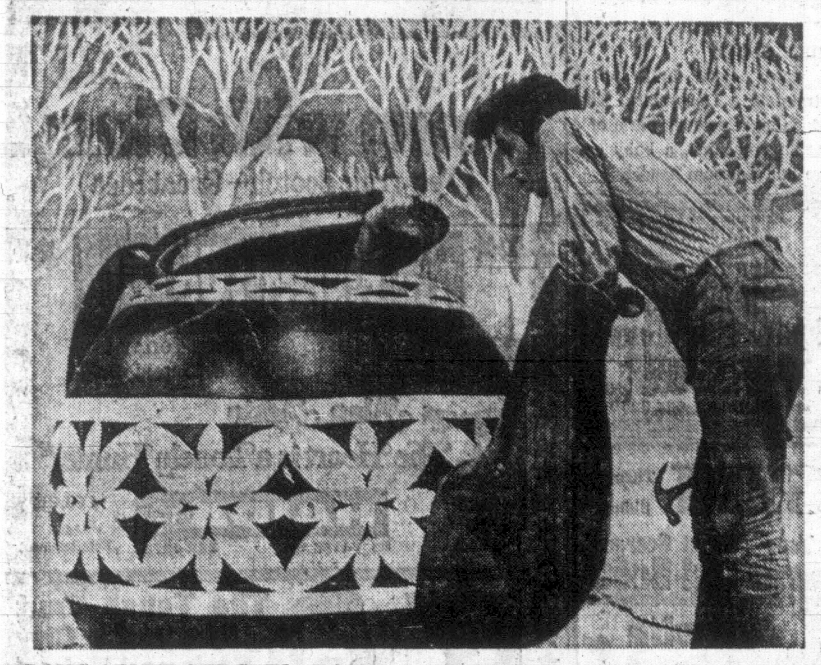

In most cases, flowering is scattered, that is, appearing in any mild spell, so that if cold weather predominates in early winter, flowers will be delayed but not entirely prevented.

When fall weather has been mild and moist, flower buds initiated on these shrubs last summer will develop and the earliest to be formed will open in the first mild spell.

A cooling trend in late September followed by mild wet days in October and early November will usually bring out some bloom on the ornamental fall plum, Prunus subhirtella autumnalis, and the lovely golden witch-hazel, hamamelis mollis.

Witch-hazel blooms are seldom damaged by frost, however, while others may be, so that a witch-hazel is one of the few winter bloomers to have a full crop of bloom during winter months.

Viburnum fragrans and its hybrid bodnantense, together with many other winter flowerers, put out a few blooms in suitably warm weather; later maturing buds prolong the season until established spring warmth completes the process with a splendid final burst.

They Look Like Boy Scouts Except . . .

TORONTO (CP) — The boys wear regulation green caps and scarves, and look like cub scouts anywhere—with one important difference.

Most also sport hospital bandages or casts, and they go to weekly meetings on stretchers and in wheelchairs.

They are members of the 39th Toronto pack, a special unit run by the York Garrison section of the Boy Scouts of Canada for youngsters from across Canada, in the Hospital of Sick Children.

Cindy Riley, leader of the pack, says it gives 75 per cent of the boys their first exposure to scouting activities. For those who already belong to cub scouts, it allows them to keep up with their skills and badge tests.

"It's not easy to arrange a program for them," she said. "You always have to be conscious of their physical limitations." Many of the cubs are in hospital for short periods so pack membership varies, from 15 to 28 boys.

The meeting room accommodates the wheelchairs and stretchers and once the pack's flags are set up, there's not much room to manoeuvre.

Mrs. Riley said the hospital would like to establish more packs, but needs 20 more volunteer leaders. Her program only resumed in February after two years without a leader.

CRESTON (CP)—Investigation by fire marshals has disclosed that two of three fires here several weeks ago were deliberately set, fire marshal Basil Nixon says. He said his investigators have so far been unable to discover the persons responsible for fires in a school and post office.

FLASHBACK ON CANADA

Arrogant Frontenac Sent Heart to Wife

By BOB BOWMAN

Louis de Buade, better known as Count Frontenac, was one of Canada's greatest governors. He served two terms, from 1672-1682, and from 1689 until he died at Quebec Nov. 28, 1698.

Bowman

During part of his first term Frontenac was assisted by Jean Talon, an outstanding intendant, and the two of them played an important part in the development of Canada by encouraging LasSalle, Jolliet, Marquette and other explorers.

Frontenac realized the importance of controlling Lake Ontario and he supervised the building of Fort Cataraqui which LaSalle later renamed Fort Frontenac. It is now Kingston, Ont.

Frontenac was recalled to France in 1682, almost in disgrace, because he quarrelled with Bishop Laval and a new intendant, Jacques Duchesneau, but King Louis XIV eventually realized that a great mistake had been made.

The Iroquois overran the French in Canada and King Louis then asked Frontenac to return. He was almost humble when he said "I send you back to New France where I expect you will serve me as well as you did before. I ask for nothing more."

ORDER RESTORED

Frontenac restored order quickly, and also repelled a strong force from New England that attempted to capture Quebec.

Although he was a glamorous, haughty man, Frontenac was defeated by his wife. She never came to Canada. When Frontenac died he asked that his heart be removed from his body and sent to her in France. This was done.

The heart was encased in a lead casket and presented to his wife in France the following spring when navigation reopened. She refused to accept it, and said that she did not want a heart in death that had not been hers in life. So the casket was returned to Quebec, the heart removed, and replaced in Frontenac's body which lies in a crypt in the church of the Recollets.

Other Events Nov. 28:

1741—It was announced that exports from Canada exceeded imports. It was the only time this happened during the French regime.

1797—North West Company began Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

1822 — Mississuaga Indians ceded 2,748,000 acres now parts of Hastings, Addington, Frontenac, Lanark, Carleton and Renfrew counties of Ontario.

1844—First session of Second Parliament at Montreal removed restrictions on use of French.

1871—Post Office issued post cards for first time. Telegraph service opened between Winnipeg and Pembina.

1907—Fourth Session of 10th Parliament opened and voted $2.8 million for seeds for farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

1907—Sydney Mines, N.S., were equipped with dial telephones.

1950—Canada became one of seven nations taking part in Columbo Plan.

1956—Canada granted one million dollars and free passage to help victims of Hungarian revolution.

Controversial Author Speaks Here Friday

Jerry Farber, author of a contentious article on the student in society, will speak at the University of Victoria Friday.

Mr. Farber wrote "The Student as Nigger" last year, likening them to oppressed and maligned Negroes in the southern United States.

His article was reprinted in university student newspapers across Canada last year and earlier this fall. Several editors were disciplined as a result of the printing and the article has been both praised and condemned since it was written.

Mr. Farber appeared on national Canadian television a month ago in a debate on student revolt.

He will speak at 12:30 in the Student Union Building lounge.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Paul Steinmetz, age 11, of Charlotte, North Carolina, for his question:

What kind of plant is the sloeberry?

Sloeberries grow on a variety of rather straggly plants, some of them bushes only three feet tall and others smallish trees as high as 15 feet. One variety or another is at home in almost every region across North America.

Many people refer to their local sloe shrubs as blackthorns. Nature lovers have more precise names for the different varieties. The flatwood plum is native to the Carolinas and from there is ranges out in all directions. It grows wild in sandy woods and along the banks of streams and is known by at least two aliases, the hog plum and the black sloe. Its one-to-two-inch leaves are wide in the middle and have sharply-pointed tips. Like all the sloe leaves, their soft edges are notched like fine-tooth saws. From late in February to early in April, the flatwood plum sloe is decked in clusters of smallish white flowers. By June or July, the blossoms have changed to roundish, purple-red fruit about half-an-inch wide.

The American plum, a first cousin of the black sloe, crowds together in thickets in the woods, by the fences and streams throughout most of our central, southern and eastern regions. Its clusters of white flowers bloom in April and June and its fruit ripens in the fall. Its sloeberries may be yellow or red, roundish in shape and perhaps an inch wide. The Alleghany plum belongs to the area between Connecticut and Virginia. Its white flowers bloom in the spring. Its round or oval sloeberries are a half-inch wide and they ripen to dark, rich purple in August. This shrub may grow 15 feet tall. People call it the porter plum or just simply the sloe tree.

Plants Selected

Other cousins of these sloe shrubs grow in North America and also in other parts of the world. Many varieties are called plums, even though their sloeberries are smaller than our orchard plums and usually rather sour. But plums, wild plums, are just what they are. With about 2,000 other shrubs they belong to one of the most useful of all plant families. Their cousins include the apples and apricots, the peaches and pears, the cherries and other orchard trees. This plant family is named Rosaceae for its most glamorous member, the rose, loveliest flower in the world.

Fruit orchards take years to grow up and yield their juicy harvests. There were not many such orchards in poneer days. But the people found many varieties of sloeberries growing in the wild. The sensible pioneers made the best use of them. They gathered the ripe sloes and cooked them with honey or sugar to make jams and jellies. Some used recipes to make sloeberry wines. People who liked to weave fabrics often used the juices of different colored sloeberries to dye their threads.

All our useful plants are descended from wild trees and weedy ancestors. The sour little sloeberries may well be related to the wild ancestors of the sweet, juicy plums in our orchards. Through the ages, man-the-gardener has selected the best plants from the wilds and patiently improved them. But some of these pampered strains lose their sturdy qualities. This is one of the reasons why we have to graft the top of an improved strain of fruit tree onto the roots of a sturdy relative that can cope with the hardships of nature.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Jeannie Young, age 14, of Garden Grove, California, for her question:

What is carrageenin?

This word carries us over the sea to a place in Ireland called Carragheen. Here the nearby ocean is often choked with bunchy seaweed called carrageen. Its branches of soft foliage are shaped like frayed and feathery fronds. They are fat and slippery and stuffed with a gummy substance. The color of carrageen seaweed is a surprising dark purple. And the shores off Carragheen are not its only home. Various types of carrageen are found around many parts of Ireland, off northern Europe and even in the northern sea of North America.

Carrageen is one of the useful seaweeds. Masses of it are harvested, washed and dried in the sun. This dry, springy material is called Irish moss and some of it is used as a packaging material. The jellified gummy material in carrageen seaweed is called carrageenin. It has little nourishment, but when the seaweed is cooked, the carrageenin forms a soupy broth.

Disputed Play Lauded

DUBLIN (CP) — The controversial play The Soldiers, starring Canadian actor John Colicos as Winston Churchill, opened here Tuesday to a warm reception from a large audience in the Olympia Theatre.

One Dublin critic says British protests about the play are largely based on ignorance. He acclaims it as "an engrossing study of decision-making" which actually heightens Churchill's reputation by dramatizing the "monstrous" difficulties of such decisions as whether to order bombing of civilians.

THE BOSTON STRANGLER
Documentary Drama
Coronet Theatre

Tony Curtis plays the strangler, not as a brutal maniac, but as a tortured, bewildered, sick man whose upper personality is kind and gentle.

Watching the funeral of president John Kennedy on television, he reveals genuine emotion, cuddles his little daughter and reveals a deep affection for his wife.

Then he selects his next victim.

The strangler's split personality, as portrayed by Tony Curtis, is based largely on police records and the film employs a semi-documentary approach in which the threat of unrecognized mental illness is treated as more horrifying than the actual slayings.

The film avoids any show of violence and all of the 13 murders take place off screen. The only glimpse of the strangler at work is in a case where the victim recovers.

Director Richard Fleischer sometimes uses a split screen to unify the actions leading up to an attack, eliminating the time element.

The strangler is seen ringing the bell, talking over the house phone to his victim, climbing the stairs to her apartment, while she continues some household chore, and finally confronting her—all in one scene.

Henry Fonda, as head of a special branch of the Boston police, provides a unifying element in the film, which is largely a series of vignettes leading up to the apprehension of the strangler.

We see a steady procession of suspects as warped, pathetic, sick personalities are examined by police. There is the erotic telephone caller; the prostitute's client with a fancy for sadism or masochism; the tragic ex-monk who sleeps on bedsprings and engages in self-flagellation.

The subject of the film is repellant to many, but at least it is based on truth.

Hijackers Drop Into Obscurity

HAVANA (AP) — More than 30 hijackers have diverted commercial airliners to Cuba this year, surrendered to Cuban security officials and then dropped from sight.

The government never has announced their fate, but it is known that many have been given jobs and housing and have settled into Communist society. It is presumed that others with more suspicious backgrounds are still under the watchful eye of security [illegible].

Swiss embassy spokesmen say they have yet to hear directly from any of the hijackers after they arrive here. The embassy represents the United States and 10 other countries, most of them Latin American, which have no diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Best known of those who have come to Cuba probably was Maj. Richard Harwood Pearce, 37. The Vietnam medal-winner, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., piloted a small private plane to Havana, bringing his son with him, in May, 1967.

Pearce, who had top secret clearance in the United States, probably has fared better than most. He lives in a well-kept Havana suburb, has been given a car, house and maid and teaches at a government language school.

He has refused to be interviewed by The Associated Press.

One hijacker who came to Cuba in October was Alben William Barkley Truitt, grandson of the late Vice-President Alben Barkley.

U.S. Studies Moves To Combat Seizures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration said today it is studying various means, including use of electronic screening devices, to combat airplane hijackers.

Acting Administrator David Thomas said the FAA is exploring "every possible avenue both domestically and on the international side for curbing this vicious crime by apprehending the criminal before he acts."

"In this regard," Thomas added in a statement, "we have under continuous study and development a number of programs including classified projects which are aimed at improving our present security measures and techniques and in achieving a scientific breakthrough in the use of electronic and engineering screening devices."

Thomas said current U.S. laws seeks to discourage hijacking by prescribing severe sentences—a minimum of 20 years in prison and a maximum of death.

But he called the situation frustrating since most persons nijacking planes direct them to Cuba, beyond reach of U.S. laws.

Airlines have advised their crews to obey hijackers' demands rather than risk gunplay that might inflict death or injury, start a fire, cripple a plane or bring about high-altitudt explosive decompression of the aircraft.

Group Changes Name

NEW YORK (AP) — The Protestant Council of the City of New York has voted to drop the word Protestant from its name in a move to open the way for Roman Catholic membership in the group. Under the change voted by the council's general assembly Tuesday night, the organization of 1,700 churches will be known after Jan. 1 as the Council of Churches of the City of New York.

REFUSING a U.S. cabinet post offered by President-elect Richard Nixon, Senator Edward W. Brooke (Rep.—Mass.) said Wednesday he told Nixon: "I think I can best serve the country and the Nixon administration by continuing in the Senate." A Nixon aide later said that New York's Republican governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, also said he didn't want an administration post, although no job offer was made.

Lake Water Boost To Be Investigated

Resources Minister Ray Williston said Wednesday his department will study the possibility of using the Sugar Lake watershed in the northeast Okanagan Valley to supply extra water to Okanagan Lake.

He made the announcement after being presented with the proposal by Okanagan mayors R. F. Parkinson of Kelowna, N. R. P. Duke of Lumby and Everett Clarke of Vernon.

"The proposal is an alternative to the proposed ARDA (Agriculture Rehabilitation and Development Act) project that would bring water from Mabel Lake to Okanagan Lake."

Mayor Clarke said the proposal was made because the Okanagan "needs the water and there has been considerable opposition to the Mabel Lake area from people in the Shuswap Kamloops area."

Mr. Williston said engineers had already started studying the alternative proposal before the presentation was made by the Okanagan delegation.

"The problem, of course, will be in the economics," he said. "We already know that the water will have to be lifted at least 400 feet before the gravity flow starts to Okanagan Lake."

SOVIET SEX CLINIC OVERWORKED

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union's first and only sex clinic is overwhelmed with work, the Literary Gazette reports.

Young couples, seeking solutions to sex problems that may account for half of this country's divorces, have flocked to the clinic in such numbers that the waiting list is several months long, Literary Gazette says.

CONFINED to the liner Fair Sea in Southampton, England, by immigration officials on the grounds she didn't have enough money to support herself, Pat Hart, 22, of Clayton, Mich. passes the time listening to a transistor radio. Facing the prospect of being returned to Australia, where she last worked as a nurse, she later won her fight when her parents wired $300. (AP Wirephoto.)

Russia-China Split Termed Definite

NEW YORK (AP) — Milovan Djilas, former Yugoslav Communist leader, says the split between Russia and China is "definite" and cannot be compromised "on an ideological basis."

In an interview with the New York Times, the man President Tito twice jailed for his political views said he does not fear war between Russia and China at this time, "but every Russian statesman, great or small, must feel the danger of China in the future."

This is so, he added, "because China cannot find room for expansion except in Russia, and at the same time she shares some historical, even some national rights, for example to Mongolia and some parts of Siberia."

Djilas said he is optimistic about the eventual victory of the new educated class over the party bureaucracy in Russia and other Communist countries and said he believed the change would come "without civil war."

SALT WAS PRECIOUS

The word "salary" comes from ancient Rome, for soldiers were paid "salarium" or salt, a commodity precious enough to serve as money.

SEPARATIST EJECTED FROM HOUSE

QUEBEC (CP) — Separatist leader Reggie Chartrand was ejected from the public gallery of the legislative assembly Tuesday when he rose to shout that Quebec MLAs are "traitors to the nation"

The former boxer, leader of a black-shirted band of militants known as Chevaliers de l'independence — Knights of Independence — rose to ask: "Are you going to pass the law today to protect our English?"

Hanoi Man Non-Committal On U.S.'s New President

MONTREAL (CP) — A North Vietnamese delegate to the Hemispheric Conference to End the Vietnam War was non-committal Wednesday on the subject of Richard Nixon's election to the presidency of the United States.

Hoang Minh Giam, North Vietnmese minister of culture, was asked at a news conference what effect he thought Nixon's election might have on possible termination of the war.

He replied that the U.S. president-elect has not yet clearly stated his position on the war.

Mr. Giam heads the four-man North Vietnamese delegation to the conference whose organizers expect about 2,000 delegates.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Roman Catholic priest said the United States is creating several potential jungle wars by its exploitation of Latin American countries.

EXPECTS TROUBLE

Rev. Blase Bonpane, expelled from Guatemala last year for organizing the peasant population, told group of McGill University students that revolutions will erupt in several Latin American countries unless they are allowed to develop socialist economies without foreign control.

Father Bonpane, 39, a delegate to the conference, said the U.S. has exploited the people and the natural wealth of Latin America while supporting puppet governments or ruthless oligarchies.

Registration for the conference is to begin tonight with keynote speeches Friday and workshops Saturday.

The conference lists 64 Canadian and 53 U.S. sponsors, including individuals, some of whom are identified as members of religious and anti-war groups or as labor or student leaders.

Sponsors also are listed from Argentina, Guyana, Peru, Panama, Costa Rica, Brazil, Colombia, Chile, Venezuela and Mexico.

'THREAT NOT LIFTED'

Mr. Giam said his country does not feel the U.S. threat was lifted with the cessation of bombing raids.

North Vietnam was not convinced that the bombing halt was made in good faith as the U.S. had reserved the right to resume bombing. Until it renounced the war unequivocally, the North Vietnamese would continue to feel threatened.

Mr. Giam said his government hoped the conference would help rally world public opinion behind the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front.

He portrayed the United States as isolated in the light of world opinion and said peace talks in Paris so far have foundered because of "bad faith" on the part of the South Vietnamese government in Saigon and its American "bosses."

South Vietnam is not invited to the conference. The organizers announced Nov. 22 that an invitation to the Saigon government had been withdrawn because of Saigon's "policy of sustained obstruction to the Paris peace talks."

The South Vietnamese government agreed Tuesday, however, to join the negotiations.

Mr. Giam, asked for his views on Canadian arms shipments to the U.S., said he hopes the people of Canada will press their government to halt the shipments.

An Australian Communist journalist told a news conference the United States had dropped an "enormous load" of delayed action bombs all over North Vietnam just before the bombing was halted earlier this month.

Wilfrid Burchett, who has covered the Vietnam war since 1964, said these bombs were either set to explode at a predetermined time or were equipped with sensors with which they can be detonated by remote control.

In addition to these bombs, armed fighter bombers accompanied by reconnaissance planes occasionally fired at military installations, he said.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
Barbara Brent

MONTREAL, November 28th — Funny thing about Christmas shopping — often we find the perfect gift in the most unexpected places. And how disappointing it is when we haven't the ready cash to pay for it! But now that is all a thing of the past. A Scotiabank Cheque Guarantee Card, you know, is as good as cash anywhere — anytime. Why? Because with a Cheque Guarantee Card THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA will honour your cheque — even if you don't have enough money in your account to cover your purchases. I don't imagine they expect us to go hog wild — but I've found, from personal experience, this is the most sensible credit card I own.

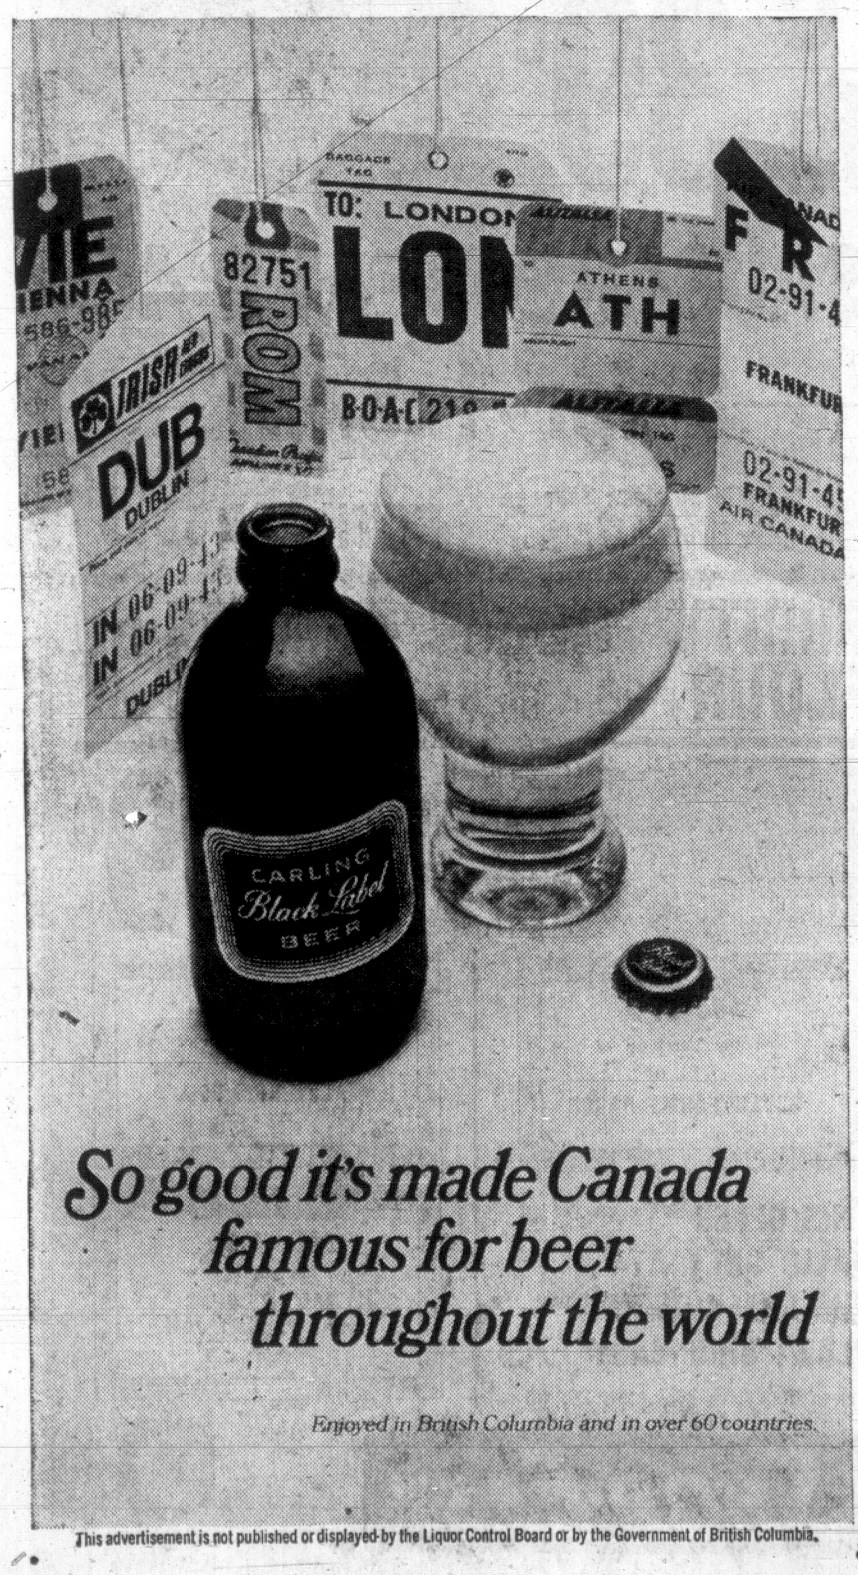

NOTHING BOOSTS YOUR CONFIDENCE more than knowing that you're clean, fresh-as-a-daisy and feminine all over. That's why DEMURE, the mint-fresh feminine douche, should be an important part of your beauty routine. Demure is gently medicated to help destroy odour-causing bacteria. It's easy to use, too, and comes in a practical plastic bottle you can keep handy on your medicine shelf. So if you want the assurance and poise that comes with personal cleanliness, ask for Demure at your family drugstore now. I'm sure you'll agree that this is one of the easiest aids to loveliness!

IT IS REALLY VERY EASY to add a touch of luxury to your life every single day with CALGON BATH OIL BEADS®. You'll find as I have, that there's nothing nicer and more relaxing at the end of a busy winter day than a warm wonderful beauty bath in delicately scented Calgon Bath Oil Beads. This unique powdered bath oil, rich in precious moisturizing oils and gentle emollients, will leave your skin feeling satin smooth and soft to touch. It makes every bath a relaxing, luxurious and delightful experience — and the fragrance is absolutely enchanting! Try Calgon Bath Oil Beads and see what I mean when I say, it's such a wonderful and inexpensive way to treat yourself!

LOOSE FALSE TEETH ARE NO FUN — but, you'll be able to laugh, sing, shout and eat anything you want when you reline your false teeth with CUSHION GRIP®. Cushion Grip is a soft, pliable, tasteless thermoplastic that you can apply at home. Squeeze it directly from the tube — no messy powders or pastes to mix. CUSHION GRIP lasts for weeks even with regular cleaning or brushing. Won't ever ooze or dissolve. Enjoy new comfort, new confidence with Cushion Grip — available at drug and beauty-aid counters everywhere. There's nothing else like it on the market. Money back guarantee. For a trial supply, send 25¢ to: Box 10, Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd., Pointe Claire, Quebec.

New Ontario Expropriations Bill Unique

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario's new expropriation bill is raising a few eyebrows in the other provinces, but not everyone agrees with the plan to offer more than a home for a home.

The Ontario legislature gave first reading to the bill Nov. 25. Unique in Canada, it gives expropriated homeowners enough money for an equivalent home plus moving expenses.

No other province has a similar statute and most provincial spokesmen say they will wait-and-see before examining their own expropriation procedures.

Other features of the Ontario bill include requirements that:

—All expropriations be approved by an elected official or body.

—All compensation be determined by a land compensation board to be appointed by the cabinet.

—Property owners be given the opportunity to have a public inquiry into the necessity for expropriations.

—Persons facing expropriation be awarded legal costs and damages above and beyond the open market value of their land.

The only province in Canada now reviewing its expropriation procedures is Manitoba.

The Canadian Appraisal Institute and a group of lawyers presented a brief to Manitoba's executive council saying expropriation compensation should include accurate assessment of damages, costs of relocation, legal fees and mental anguish.

SUGGESTS BOARD TOO

It also recommended establishment of a three-man compensation board.

Alberta's Expropriation Procedures Act (1960) only sets procedures for such action and does not set out the manner in which compensation is calculated.

The Alberta procedure has three main levels. First there is power of expropriation spread through various levels of the government ranging from the highways department to public works.

Then, under the Municipal Districts Act, municipalities have the right to expropriate and some corporations, under a licence obtained from the provincial government, may also initiate expropriation proceedings.

Most of the provinces have an appeal set up through the courts. Ontario's plan of a public inquiry is also unique, but Saskatchewan has a one-man, full-time mediator acting between land owners and government expropriation agencies.

David Keith, a Regina lawyer, was appointed last month to run the mediation board for five years.

MAY BE APPEALED

If the mediator can't settle a dispute, the matter may be appealed to a district court—similar to most other provinces.

In Quebec, compensation is based on depreciated value of the building expropriated.

The compensation price is decided by civil servants and the final authority is the deputy minister of the department of roads. Dissatisfied owners may appeal, however, first to a provincial court, then to the Quebec Court of Appeal, then to the Quebec Superior Court. There is no provision in law for a public inquiry into an expropriation.

British Columbia's act does not promise "more than a home for a home," but a spokesman for the attorney-general said the general basis is "fair market value of property being expropriated having regard for the values in the area."

British Columbia does not have a mediator but the province has a three-man arbitration board which holds public sittings. Findings of the board can be appealed to the provincial cabinet or to courts on procedural questions.

HAS FINAL SAY

Ontario's compensation board will have virtually final say on most disputes. The only recourse is direct appeal to the province's Supreme Court.

New Brunswick also has a compensation board, which gives arbitrary rulings in closed sessions. It sits after an appeal has been made to the government and was set up for property owner's protection.

In Nova Scotia, property owners can appeal through the courts up to the Supreme Court of Canada. That is the only recourse. There is no compensation tribunal and a public inquiry cannot be demanded.

Newfoundland's municipal affairs department defines its expropriation procedures this way: Under the Family Appropriations Act, owner of an expropriated house is to receive such compensation as will, at current costs and prices, put him in a position to purchase or construct a reasobly equivalent home.

The only exception to the bill is when a home is of little value. Then the owner is placed in better subsidized housing.

Appeals in Newfoundland are made to the public works department, then to an independent arbitration board. Final appeal is to the province's Supreme Court.

In Prince Edward Island, the department of highways has the power to expropriate and offers equal value for the residence or land. Any appeal is through the provincial courts.

Turmoil Reigns At Simon Fraser

Gales Lash Rupert

Storm's Tail To Hit Here

Victorians late today will feel the tail of the "most violent" storm the Pacific Ocean has thrown at the B.C. coast this year, the weather office reports.

Winds gusted over 110 miles an hour as they swept through Hecate Strait and were peaking at 80 when they slammed into Prince Rupert just before daybreak.

The high winds, accompanied by heavy rain and high tides, whipped through the Prince Rupert area, ripping off roofs, blowing in windows and tearing down signs.

The roof aas blown off the city's B.C. Hydro building which houses office and maintenance workers. Rain added to the damage of the one-storey building.

SCHOOLS DAMAGED

B.C. Hydro's Falls River transmission line was put out of action by the storm, but power to the coast city was maintained by a line from Kitimat.

Part of the gymnasium roof was blown off the senior secondary school while at Booth Memorial School, part of the roof was blown into an unoccupied classroom.

Further north, at Ketchikan, Alaska, the storm topped three communications towers, broke windows and swamped small boats in the harbor.

Weatherman Allan McQuarrie, at Victoria airport, said the storm brewed Wednesday south of the weather-ship Vancouver some 900 miles West of here.

BLOW ITSELF OUT

It developed an "extremely low pressure centre" and became what would be called a typhoon in tropical latitudes.

Mr. McQuarrie said he expects the storm will blow itself out after moving up the Alaska panhandle.

It's effect on the capital region will be relatively mild. Winds from the southeast are expected to reach 25 miles an hour late today and rain is expected this afternoon and tonight.

The interior of the province will get cloud and some snow in the storm's wake.

Friday's weather is expected to be "on the murky side" with temperatures in the 42 to 48-degree range.

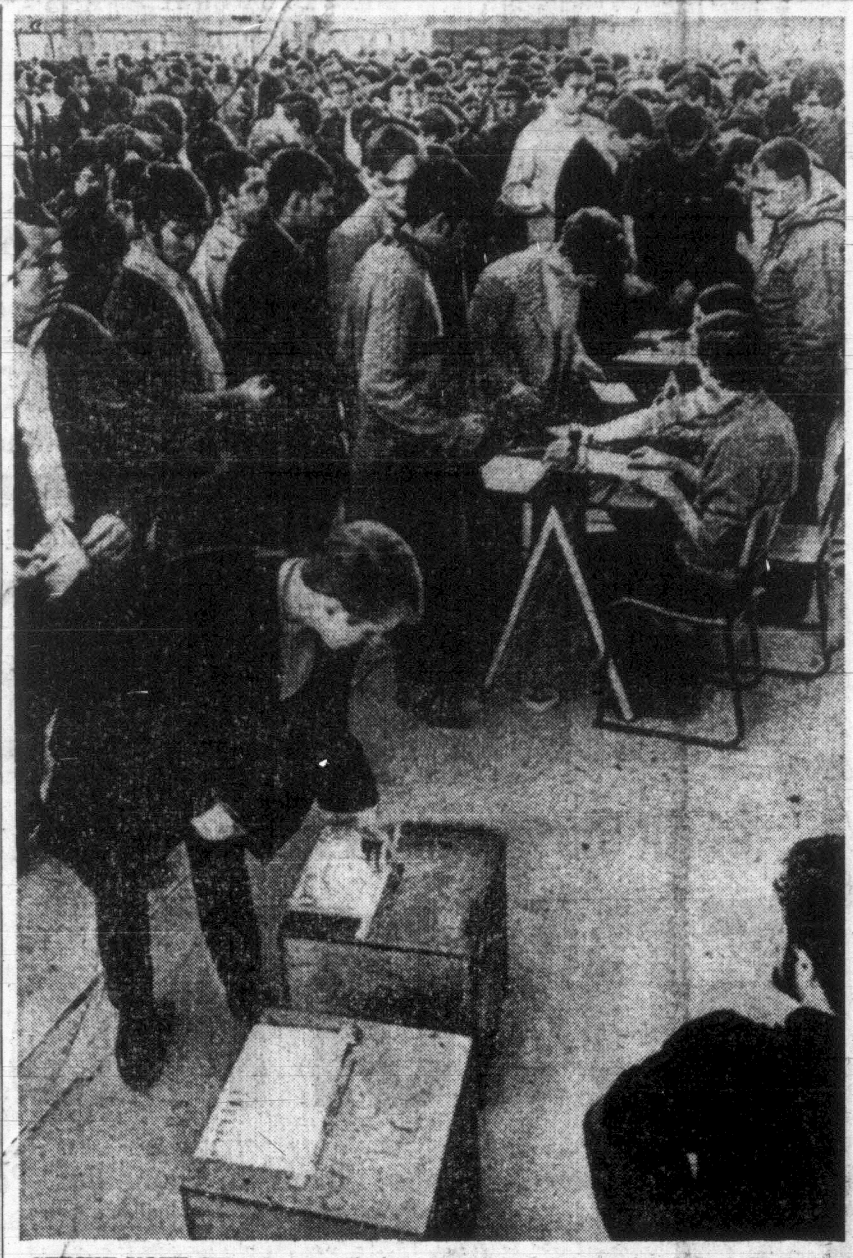

NO INJURIES

No injuries have been reported as the storm progresses northward.

Power was lost in many parts of southeast Alaska and only sporadic electric service was reported at mid-morning.

The radio-television tower for Ketchikan's station KTKN, more than 100 feet high, crashed into a house and broke into pieces. Two towers operated by the Alaska communications system also were blown down.

Ketchikan has about 6,500 residents.

STRIKE VOTE draws large majority of the 6,000 students at Simon Fraser University today as controversy continues over arrest of 114 students who engaged in campus sit-in. Students said strike, if called, would last until all charges were dropped. Votes will be counted after 6 p.m. today.

2 KILLED, 7 INJURED WHEN FERRIES COLLIDE

HELSINKI (AP)—Two Finnish ferries collided in heavy fog today off the Isle of Aaland, killing two passengers and a stewardess and injuring seven passengers, the coast guard said. Another person is missing.

A spokesman said the 5,100-ton Ilmatar, carrying 150 passengers to the Port of Turku, collided with the 3,800-ton Botnia, carrying 117 passengers to Stockholm. He said the Ilmatar suffered minor damage and continued to its original destination, but a 40-yard hole was ripped in the starboard side of the Botnia above the water line.

The injured were taken by lifeboat to the village of Langnas, then ambulances took them to hospitals at Mariehamn, the capital of Aaland.

Strike Vote On; Students Remanded

Cabinet ministers, police courts, strike ballots and student rallies are all part of the scene today as the government faces fast-breaking education troubles centred on strife-torn Simon Fraser University.

The latest developments:

● Fifty-one of 114 SFU demonstrators arrested Saturday appeared in Burnaby court today and were remanded without plea for 19 days. The rest come before the magistrate Friday.

● A strike vote among students at Simon Fraser got under way at 10 a.m., will continue to 6 p.m. A show of hands at a rally Wednesday by about 2,000 of the 6,000 enrolment showed a majority favor a student strike.

● Education Minister Donald Brothers said he would do "nothing" about the strike threat but took time to rap UBC President Kenneth Hare over his accommodation "crisis" statements.

● At the University of Victoria, 500 students startled their student leaders at a rally by supporting the sit-in arrests but also asking for clemency for those charged.

Mr. Brothers, Attorney-General Leslie Peterson and Premier Bennett made these comments to reporters before and after a cabinet meeting this morning:

In Hands of Court, Says Peterson

Attorney-General Peterson said that he had received no request from SFU president Dr. Kenneth Strand that the charges be dropped against the 114 students arrested on campus.

"I think this is all newspaper talk; something that the news media said yesterday the president of SFU would request," Mr. Peterson said angrily. "I haven't had any communication from him. If I receive such a communication, I'll let you know."

(In a letter to SFU student society president Rob Walsh on Tuesday night, Dr. Strand said: ". . . I shall ask the A-G to give every consideration to the requests . . . "that the charges be dropped.)

Mr. Peterson was asked if the strike ballot by students today would have any influence.

"What's the strike got to do with enforcement of the law?" he demanded. Mr. Peterson repeated that he could not make any comment on the charges or his feelings about them because "it's a matter that's before the courts."

Education Minister Donald Brothers said he was planning to do "nothing" about the strike ballot.

"That's one of the beautiful things about a democracy, people can decide to do what they want."

He said the government would neither force students to go to university nor force them to stay away.

But when asked if a strike occurs whether the government would close the university, he said that was a matter he wouldn't deal with "until the event arises."

Mr. Brothers refused to say whether or not today's cabinet meeting dealt with the university situation but both before and after the cabinet meeting he swung hard at UBC president Hare's complaint that his campus was facing a crisis through lack of government financing for classrooms.

Mr. Brothers said the word "crisis" is over-used.

"I think they're in difficult circumstances at UBC and some of the areas may be crowded, but that doesn't mean the university can't continue operation."

Looking to Junior College Plan

He said UBC was crowded when he attended it after the war but he was still able to get a good education.

Mr. Brothers said the government's junior college program "will take a lot of the pressures off the universities" as time goes by.

The education minister said he supports Dr. Strand's decision to call in police to arrest the sit-in demonstrators at SFU, but he hastily added he had no part in the decision.

"I thought the president of the university took the proper action in that case," he told reporters.

Asked if he had sugested it to Dr. Strand, Mr. Brothers quickly replied:

"Oh, I had nothing to do with any of this; I was up north at the time. My opinion was not sought."

Mr. Peterson also said he had not given any advice to Dr. Strand prior to the arrests.

Premier Bennett, after the cabinet meeting, testily refused to answer any questions about the SFU turmoil and possible

Hanoi Rejects Role for Saigon

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today its representatives would not talk to South Vietnamese government representatives at the Paris peace talks.

It also declared the Vietnam war could be ended by three-sided agreement of the United States, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Hanoi's official radio said the South Vietnamese government could send representatives to the Paris peace talks but declared that they would not be recognized and that North Vietnamese and NLF representatives would refuse to talk to them.

"In settling the Vietnam problem, we will talk only with the United States," Radio Hanoi said.

"The Saigon regime is only the puppet regime of the U.S. aggressors. It does not represent anyone. It has no right to speak on behalf of any one. We will not talk to it on any matter."

The broadcast added:

"On any other problems of interest to South Vietnam, the United States must talk to the National Liberation Front, the only authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people, and the National Liberation Front will talk only to the United States."

The broadcast accused the U.S. government of lying in saying that the South Vietnamese government had a negotiating role in the Paris talks.

Talks May Bog Down, U.S. Fears

PARIS (CP) — Four-party Vietnam peace talks with a Saigon delegation participating are expected to begin the week of Dec. 8, but U.S. diplomats said today the opening session probably will be bogged down by arguments about who will speak for whom.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu announced Wednesday he will end his month-long boycott of the talks "to show the goodwill of the Republic of Vietnam and test the good faith of Hanoi."

But he stressed that the Saigon group still would not recognize the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front as a separate negotiating entity. "We will regard and treat all the persons on the other side of the table as a single side, that of Hanoi," he said.

An NLF spokesman said his delegation will attend "the conference of the four on the basis of equality with the other parties." The NLF, supported by Hanoi, claims the Saigon regime is a U.S. "puppet," and therefore the Viet Cong are "authentic representatives of the population of South Vietnam."

The U.S. delegation, headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, wants to avoid a delay in opening the conference by not getting into a wrangle with the North Vietnamese on this issue.

'SETTLE IT LATER'

An American source said U.S. diplomats hope at this point for a minimal advance agreement with Hanoi only on a time and place for the first meeting. The Americans want the procedural battle to be hammered out at the conference itself, not before, the sources said.

Potential disputes involve the precise seating arrangement for delegates, the positioning of flags and name plates and even the size and shape of the negotiating table.

Officials said there were signs that Saigon might object to a square table, which would give the NLF precisely the same amount of space and appear to bestow on it equal status with the North Vietnamese, the United States and the South Vietnamese themselves.

Bennett Takes Ottawa Over Call of North

Times News Services

Premier Bennett said today he was "very pleased" to receive a telegram from the Yukon territorial council inviting him to Whitehorse for talks—but he won't be able to go.

The territorial council wants him to explain his plan for taking over all the Yukon and part of the Northwest Territories—and to listen to its plan for Yukon taking over almost half of B.C.

Grinning fixedly and moving as fast as he could through a knot of reporters to get to the cabinet room door, the premier said he was "unable to go because, as you know, I've got a meeting in Ottawa."

He was referring to the Dec. 16-18 constitutional talks at which he has indicated he will formally apply to have B.C.'s boundaries extended to the Arctic limits of Canada.

Mr. Bennett bristled momentarily when a reporter said it already appeared the federal government would try to head off his request.

"What the premier of B.C. brings up (at the conference) is the prerogative of the premier of B.C.," he snapped.

Mr. Bennett then resumed his smile and said the Pacific Great

Grandstand Yukon Bid Irks Chretien

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Development Minister Chretien said today Premier Bennett of British Columbia wants to take over only the best part of Canada's north.

Mr. Chretien told the Commons Indian affairs and northern development committee that Mr. Bennett in his takeover bid does not seem to be too concerned about the people who live there.

Wanting only the best part, Mr. Bennett seeks an extension of his borders to cover only the Yukon and Mackenzie districts of the Northwest Territories, Mr. Chretien said.

However, the development of the North must be in the interests of the native people there, he said.

Mr. Chretien was "annoyed" that Mr. Bennett was not interested in the Eskimo and Indian people of the North.

PARLIAMENT GETS HOLIDAY

OTTAWA (UPI)—In an unprecedented move, Parliament deferred meeting today to let members spend the day catching up with the work of many of the House of Commons committees.

Meanwhile, government offices were closed in the United States today for the American Thanksgiving holiday.

Heavy Viet Battle Mars Thanksgiving

SAIGON (AP) — While thousands of U.S. troops celebrated U.S. Thanksgiving, the heaviest fighting in 2½ months was reported along the Cambodian border today.

Two American helicopters were shot down and destroyed.

U.S. casualties in the five battles were put at 21 killed and 37 wounded. Ten South Vietnamese were killed and 20 wounded, spokesmen said.

North Vietnam claimed eight U.S. planes have been shot down over North Vietnam since President Johnson halted the bombing of the North Nov. 1.

The military newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan said reconnaissance flights were "very insolent challenges" which proved the United States was not serious about wanting peace in Vietnam.

'FLEW OVER HANOI'

The newspaper charged U.S. planes conducted 190 reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam in 14 days after Nov. 1. Some flights, it said, were over Hanoi and Haiphong.

Combat casualties climbed on all sides last week. The U.S. command said 160 Americans were killed last week and 1,432 were wounded. This compares with 127 killed and 1,031 wounded the week before.

The new tolls raised to 29,637 the number of Americans killed in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, while 187,065 Americans have been wounded and 1,215 are listed as missing, captured or interned.

Great PGE Train Holdup Was Tempest Over Teapot

MONTREAL (CP) — Arbitrator J. F. W. Weatherill has upheld a railway decision to discipline conductor N. Popp for delaying a train an hour and five minutes after discovering his caboose was supplied with a metal rather than an earthenware teapot.

In a judgment on the case heard in Montreal, the federal arbitrator says the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Co. "quite justifiably" assessed 10 demerit points against the record of Popp, an employee with 20 years seniority.

The teapot incident, which Mr. Weatherill called "ludicrous," occurred April 16, after Popp reported for duty at the railway's North Vancouver yard to handle a freight train, scheduled to leave at 10 p.m.

"On arrival at the caboose on Train No. 27, conductor Popp checked the supplies and made the discovery that there was no earthenware teapot in the caboose," the arbitrator says in his report.

"There was, to be sure, a teapot: but it was a metal teapot and conductor Popp was aware that the company was obliged to supply earthenware."

Under its collective agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway had undertaken to keep cabooses equipped with certain cooking and bedding supplies, including "one earthenware teapot."

"Conductor Popp discovered as well that there was no dish mop supplied, but he seems not to have made much of an issue of that; enough is enough," Mr. Weatherill says in his straight-faced summary.

The conductor reported the teapot difficulty at once but it was an hour and five minutes before railway officials eventually obtained a pot of the required earthenware type from "a private source" and the train was on its way, properly supplied.

Mr. Weatherill says in his judgment that he doesn't consider provision of the wrong type of teapot to be "such a radical change in circumstances" as to require delaying a train.

Australia Inferno Burns 150 Homes

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — With temperatures hovering around the 100-degree mark, bush fires blazed out of control on a 30-mile front today in the Blue Mountains 50 miles west of Sydney.

At least 150 homes were destroyed as blustery winds fed the bush fires west, north and south of Sydney and in the suburbs of the city itself.

In the Blue Mountains, an area of small towns for retired people and vacationers, the town of Springwood, population 2,000, apparently was the worst hit with at least 20 homes destroyed and dozens of others ablaze or menaced.

Police said they had reports of deaths and injuries but were unable to confirm them in the confused situation.

Nearer Sydney, families were evacuated fron several houses in the outer suburb of Hornsby.

Fires also extended north and south of Sydney with 12 houses reported destroyed in the Newcastle area and to the south fire for a while appeared to endanger the Australian nuclear reactor at Lucas Heights.

In Sydney, the temperature remained above 90 degrees until late into the day with a maximum of 94—22 above normal. However, there were no fears Sydney itself being engulfed.

'For Killing a What?'

MONTREAL (CP) — Romaul Delaroche, 40, pleaded not guilty in municipal court Wednesday to a charge of killing a pigeon with a broom handle.

Judge Maurice Johnson expressed surprise, saying: "He's charged with killing what?"

"A pigeon, your honor," he was told.

"That's what I heard but I couldn't believe my ears," the judge said.

The charge was laid under section 386-A1 of the Criminal Code. If convicted the accused would be liable to a sentence of six months in jail plus a fine of $500.

The accused was freed on parole pending trial.

Article 386-A of the criminal code states that everyone who wilfully kills, maims, wounds, poisons or injures dogs, birds or animals that are not cattle that are kept for a lawful purpose is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1968—PAGE 25

TUG OF WAR for first possession of Kiwanis Village Society trophy involves political heavyweights of capital region. Each man above represents a community. Each community will be fighting to have the greatest percentage of households respond to a fund blitz Monday, December 2. On that day 300 Kiwanis members and 1,500 helpers will knock on doors seeking to raise $30,000. (Phoned pledges, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.—386-2181). The money is needed to help build a $200,000 24-unit addition to Kiwanis Village which now provides low-rent cottages or rooms to 167 elderly citizens. Couples pay $41 monthly, widows or widowers $31 and those having bed-sitting rooms and board in the villa pay $95 a month. The new units will serve widowers. There is a long list of applicants. Bulk of the capital cost comes from bank loans (repaid by rents) and government grants. Competing for the plaque are from left, Mayor J. B. Cumming, North Saanich; Director John Williams, Langford; Mayor A. W. Freeman, Sidney; Mayor Ray Bryant, Esquimalt; Mayor Hugh Stephen, Victoria. Campaign chairman Ed Barakett is in centre. Left from him are Mayor Fred Hawes, Oak Bay; Mayor Gordon Lee, Central Saanich; Director Mac Tipton, Metchosin; Mayor Hugh Curtis, Saanich, and Director Hal Banks, Colwood. Each mayor and director of an unorganized area has indicated his area has plaque in the bag. They can't all be right.

Remember last year's mammoth walkathon? Today a reader checks in with a notion that would transfer the blisters from feet to seat. What she'd like to see is a horseback trek in aid of a worthy local cause.

Here, from Mrs. Mary Abbott of Otter Point Road, is the pitch.

"You told about the plight of the Carleys and Victoria Riding Academy," Mrs. Abbott writes. "They have indeed given splendid service to those who not only wanted to learn riding, but also to get to know and appreciate horses. Well, I have a suggestion for what it's worth.

"We see all kinds of walkathons. Why not a 'Ridealong'? It would be open to every kid who ever received a riding lesson from Don or Mrs. Carley, also to parents, friends — indeed, to everyone who owns or rents a horse."

The ridealong, as Mrs. Abott visualizes it, would commence at Sidney, and end with a clatter of hoofs in Centennial Square.

"The riders would have sponsors," she continues, "and I don't mind betting that a good purse would be raised in this pleasant way. Also, perhaps old-fashioned stirrup-cups could be arranged for every five miles or so."

A lot, I suppose, would depend on just what went into those cups. But anyway, there's the proposal, and any interested group is welcome to act on it.

Spokesmen for hardy Yukoners and Northwest Territory dwellers have not been backward in airing their views on Premier Bennett's move to annex their resource-rich real estate.

The gist of their remarks is that our provincial leader should put B.C. affairs in order before he looks north.

That strikes me as mighty good advice, although it's unlikely to deter Mr. B. from his grandiose plan.

What lies back of this bold attempt to expand the Social Credit sway? The same old itch for empire-building, I suspect, which has manifested itself in this remarkable premier at intervals throughout his political career.

It might be noted, too, that he realizes the virtues of national publicity, and is not averse to carving himself a generous portion of the same.

Or is what we have here simply a red herring trailed to divert public attention from strip-mining agreement entered into with a disregard for conservation so reckless as to shock a nation?

Whether British Columbia will ever become a two-ocean province, we can only guess. But never, I hope, will this take place under a government that fails to understand the difference between the development and the exploitation of its natural resources!

You ever hear of a dog that likes apples?

We're slaves to one, and in these days of plentiful windfalls, he is having himself a high old time.

It's a common sight to see him sprawled in any available sunshine, taking leisurely nips from a Yellow Delicious that we have passed by as too bruised or pheasant-picked for storing.

Not only that, but his black majesty keeps an eye on our three apple trees from the time the fruit begins to develop each season. Long before they're ripe, our Lancer is reaching up to pluck apples from the burdened lower boughs.

Perhaps there are other pooches with the same habit; I only know that every dog is a distinct personality, with his own bag of tricks.

We had a spaniel once — name of Lucky, and fondly remembered — who taught himself to climb a ladder.

The first time he performed this trick, I was checkng shingles on a roof.

Heard a gentle clicking of claws behind me, looked around, and there he crouched with tail stub wagging. Then when the job was done, he descended no less casually than he had climbed.

That's it for this day, and home now, wondering what I was supposed to remember. Loaf of bread? Can of corn? I'm sure I wrote it down somewhere....

Magazine Salesman Wins New Trial

Court Finds Defects In Charge to Jury

Conviction of an 18-year-old Victoria salesman on three charges of fraud in the selling of magazine subscriptions has been set aside by the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

The court today ordered a new trial for salesman Guy Jodoin, found guilty in Victoria country court last June of fraud in the selling of subscriptions for Maclean's Magazine and Chatelaine Magazine to Mrs. Christina Cameron, 84, of 817 McClure.

Three judges of the appeal court—Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe, Mr. Justice Angelo Branca and Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz—ordered the new trial because they found there were "defects" in Judge Montague Drake's charge to the jury which convicted Jodoin.

LENIENCY URGED

After the jury had added a strong recommendation for leniency, Judge Drake sentenced Jodoin to one year definite and one year indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit at Haney.

Jodoin's counsel, Dermod Owen-Flood, appealed the conviction to the Court of Appeal in Vancouver on the ground that certain paragraphs in the judge's charge were "defective."

Crown counsel G. L. Murray, QC, told the court he had made a careful study of the charge and agreed "there is at least one so substantial defect in the charge that a new trial ought to be granted."

Mr. Owen-Flood told the appeal court he would be content with an order directing a new trial and was not seeking a judgment of acquittal.

At the county court hearing last June, Judge Montague Drake said of Jodoin:

"I think this young man has been corrupted to some degree by a system of selling and advertising that is much to be deplored.

"At the same time, he put up with it. I agree that some leniency is called for, but society must be protected against fradulent salesmanship."

Ask The Times

Q. How many times has the Queen's Plate horse race been run since it started?—J.R.

A. The Queen's Plate race was created by Royal Assent by Queen Victoria in the summer of 1859. Since that time it has been run 50 times as the King's Plate and 56 times as the Queen's Plate. Forty-two of these races occurred during the reign of Queen Victoria. By tradition, the president of the Jockey Club sends a cable to the monarch naming the winning horse and owner. The owner then receives a message of congratulations and later a written draft on Her Majesty's Privy Purse in the amount of 50 guineas.

Best Award Is the Life We May Save

Things are so bad on our streets and highways that if we don't kill anyone between Dec. 1 and 7 we're going to get a prize.

The offer applies to Victoria and Saanich and all other Canadian centres of more than 40,000 population.

Our chances are good. In Victoria and district our traffic death pattern indicates one rub-out every 18 days.

The grim statistics were compiled by Greater Victoria and District Safety Council, sponsors of the local observance of Safe Driving Week.

The council says that if we all survive the week through special attention to good driving, Governor-General Roland Michener will present our award. (Consolation prize is a floral wreath from friends).

Prime Minister Trudeau has also urged full attention of Canada's 7,800,000 drivers.

He points out that 5,379 persons died in Canadian traffic accidents last year and 165,664 were injured, many of them crippled for life.

Those two totals incidentally, are equal to the population of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, Central Saanich, North Saanich, Sidney and the unorganized areas through to Sooke.

The Victoria region had 20 deaths last year and injured 1,496 people in traffic. This year, until August 31, 16 died and 972 were injured. (This would indicate a one-third increase this year.)

Lump all those folks together and it would take Memorial Arena to hold them.

Greater Victoria and District Safety Council was formed last March with car dealer Peter Pollen as president. It operates offices at 1039 Johnson Street and is organizing a schedule of year-round safety activities.

Pedestrian Safety Week will be observed Dec. 15 to 21 in time to remind scurring shoppers that a funeral puts a damper on seasonal festivities — and a cast is a poor decoration.

Ottawa Should Tie Pensions to Costs

Retired federal employees are requesting a pension increase to bring "the purchasing power of the pension dollar" into line with living costs.

The request is made in a brief from the Federal Superannuates National Association. The association's Victoria branch has 250 members.

Members include retired civil servants, their widows, armed forces personnel and RCMP officers on pension.

The brief says a joint Senate-Commons committee in 1967 unanimously recommended to Parliament an immediate increase in pensions. "No action was taken by the government then or since."

$2.7 BILLION IN FUND

The public service superannuation account at the end of 1967 totalled $2.7 billion and normal increase is $300 million a year, say the brief. Interest last year totalled $98 million.

The pensioners say total pension money paid last year was $62.8 million, or roughly two-thirds of interest payments on the capital.

From these figures, the brief says "many of our members are convinced that pensions could be increased without imposing increased taxation on the general public."

Five provinces had recognized their "responsibility" of keeping their own retired employees' pensions up—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia.

ESCALATOR CLAUSE

The brief says that between 1953 and 1967, the consumer price index rose 31.2 per cent "with no upward adjustment in pensions."

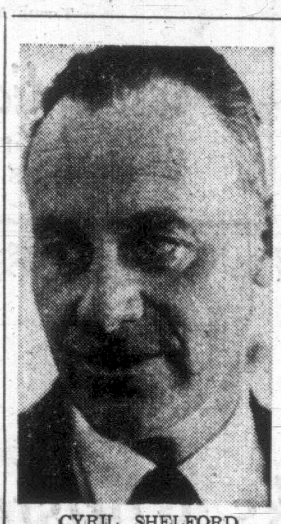

It asks the government to include an "escalator clause" in the Superannuation Act "to take care of adjustments in pensions if the cost of living continued to increase in future."

The last pension adjustment was by legislation passed in 1959 and it was to compensate employees who retired before 1953. "Mortality amongst the group has been heavy," the brief notes.

The Victoria branch loses an average 10 to 12 members a year, said branch secretary-treasurer R. B. Williamson.

"The majority of present federal retired personnel will not benefit from the Canada Pension Plan, nor have they benefitted from legislation providing old age security at a reduced age.

"Most of them did not receive their old age security until reaching age 70."

CYRIL SHELFORD

Fair Share Probe Called In Farming

The select standing committee in agriculture will be reconvened at the next session of the legislature to find out why farmers are not getting what is considered a fair share of the consumer dollar.

The last time the committee sat was in 1957.

Agricultural Minister Cyril Shelford told the B.C. Federation of Agriculture Wednesday the whole problem of food production costs and prices will be referred to the standing committee.

Briefs will be accepted from all interested groups — producers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers.

"I also hope the university's economic department will participate at the hearings," he said.

SHARE DECREASES

The farmers' share of the consumer dollar in the past 20 years had dropped from 23 to 12 per cent.

"This should shock every farm organization in this nation," Mr. Shelford added. "But how can we get a fair share of the consumer dollar."

Percentage mark-ups are charged after produce leaves the farm. The argument given for this is that costs have gone up so they have to charge more, he said. "But, haven't your costs gone up also?

Garbage Dump Fires Banned

'First Real Step' In Pollution Control

Greater Victoria municipalities this morning unanimously endorsed a January 1 ban on garbage burning imposed by the metro health board.

In a closed door session with representatives of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health municipal leaders agreed to support the New Year embargo which will see all garbage dump operators forced to pack and cover all garbage.

The ban was announced by metro health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitebread a month ago and created some criticism from private dump operators and some municipal council members.

They claimed that the ban was too arbitrary and the cost too high to absorb in one move.

WISE MOVE

But this morning Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis, who had earlier expressed concern on the cost, said he was now satisfied that the move was wise and the cost reasonable.

"We had wondered in Saanich if the ban could be eased or set back a little, expecially in view of the study now under way by municipal engineers who will be reporting shortly on the best methods of garbage disposal," he said.

"But at this morning's meeting any doubts that I had about the ban on burning were removed and I can now go back to my council and recommend approval."

Mayor Curtis said no cost figures had yet been worked out for the home-owner but added that he felt they would not be as high as at first feared.

Present at the meeting were Mayors Hugh Stephen, Fred Hawes, Gordon Lee and Curtis. Bill Gerry, municipal engineer for Esquimalt, represented Mayor Ray Bryant.

POSITIVE STEP

The move is regarded by many as Greater Victoria's first positive step towards pollution control. Metrol health officials stress that the burning ban is only a temporary measure to relieve land and air pollution.

Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life has been charged with a study of composting methods of garbage disposal to see if they could be adapted to the region.

Victoria engineer James Garnett has the responsibility of reporting on the latest Japanese methods of garbage disposal which see garbage pressed into sclid blocks which can later be disposed of at sea or used much the same as concrete blocks are used to build breakwaters or as land fill.

The burning ban comes hard on the heels of an application from the regional district board to extend the Macaulay Point deep-sea sewer outfall.

ANSWER SOUGHT

By making the request for permission to extend the outfall the district is, in effect, asking the provincial government to make a clear-cut decision on outfalls versus treatment plants.

That decision is not expected until the issue has been debated in the next session of the legislature. Municipal leaders have already stated that they will follow senior government policy without protest when it is announced.

IT'S NO GO FOR CHARLIE —THAT'S FINAL

After 15 years of devotion and hard work Charles Walls planned to break his connections with public life and the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

In recent years he has served as a director while also serving as a member of a royal commission on car insurance, on the Carter Royal Commission on taxation and as chairman of the federal Farm Loans Bank.

He told friends in the federation he was heading for pasture. But they told him they anticipate revision of U.S. trade policies which could affect B.C. farmers—and he was the man they wanted close at hand for negotiations.

The new directors said flatly that he couldn't quit and he was appointed director-at-large today at the BCFA convention here.

Central America Quake Recorded At Observatory

A strong earthquake in Central America was recorded at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain, early today.

An observatory spokesman said the centre of the earthquake was estimated about 2,500 miles southeast of Berkeley, California.

The tremor was recorded on the observatory's seismograph at about 2:40 a.m. Victoria time. The magnitude was estimated as 6.1 on the Richter scale — strong enough to cause damage in a populated area.

Seminar Here On 'Water' Long Planned

A major national conference on Canada's water resources will be held here next week by 13 cabinet ministers leading government delegations from all parts of the country.

Billed as a "water workshop seminar" it will run from Monday afternoon to Thursday in the Empress Hotel.

The meeting, planned for almost two years, is sponsored by the Council of Resource Ministers.

The Victoria workshop session was ordered during the council's trail-blazing national conference on pollution held in Montreal in 1966.

BACKGROUND PAPERS

Supported with background papers already prepared by various university and government groups, the participants will discuss such topics as:

Water and regional planning; guidelines for future river basin planning in Canada; water use valuation and pricing policies; economic development and water problems in Canada; the constitutional and institutional context for Canadian water resource development; and cost allocation and financing methods.

More Smokers All Puffed-Out And Joining a Growing Majority

By PETE LOUDON

The handwriting is on the wall — smokers are becoming a minority in Victoria and Canada.

We suspected this when at a recent Saturday night party only one person in a group of 12 smoked.

At another party it was one in six. (All six boozed, but that's another subject.)

Concerned with the implications — what Canada doesn't need is another put-upon minority — the Times made a spot survey at St. Joseph's Hospital.

This seemed a good place to find a cross section. If anything you might expect to find more smokers in a hospital than out of it.

But in a men's ward of 46 beds, only 15 patients smoked. In a women's ward it was 15 out of 32.

The B.C. government has no recent figures compiled here. But it was learned from a back issue of the Canadian Hospital magazine that in 1965-66, more than a million Canadians who once smoked daily, had stopped.

A survey by Canadian Facts Ltd. in the same period showed that of 5½ million smokers in the country, 2½ million, or 45 per cent had seriously tried to quit — and one million had made it.

The same survey showed that regionally, B.C. had the highest percentage — 53 per cent — who tried to stop and the highest percentage of people who managed to kick the weed — 49 per cent of males and 17 per cent of females.

Canadian Medical Journal reported that attempts to quit are most common among people aged under 40 but most successes are registered with men over 40.

Department of Health and Welfare of Canada says that in the first six months of 1968 there was a 6 per cent drop in per capita cigarette consumption.

A contributing factor may be these statistics released by the B.C. Department of Vital Statistics:

In 1966 in B.C. 445 persons died of lung cancer. In 1967 there were 537. The percentage exceed the population growth rate.

Time magazine recently hailed the new anti-cigarette commercials now appearing on TV . . .

"No thanks, I can live without it," says the man offered a fag in one of the terse messages seen here.

Time says the U.S. Public Health Service gave partial credit to such commercials for a drop in U.S. cigarette consumption of 1.4 billion (from 572.6 billion) in the '67-'68 fiscal year.

They say 21 million Americans quit smoking in the same period.

Now comes advice from Canadian Medical Association that at long last even doctors are surrendering to their own teaching.

A recent study shows only 35.4 per cent now smoke cigarettes regularly — and the proportion is on the decline. Yet doctors formerly were listed generally as "heavy smokers" in a society where 53 per cent of all men smoked.

You smokers, we smokers, know what all this can lead to — ashtrays soon will go the way of spitoons.

Non-smokers soon won't want their sisters to marry smokers. And the better hotels will be "full up" when smokers try to register.

It's a free country. But how long before smokers will find they can't qualify for the key to the executive washroom?

There's one way only to avoid another clash with another unprivileged minority. All smokers, if the trend continues, will have to get off their butts.
